WALKING THROUGH THE SHADOWS WITH THE JACKMANS

To this raw new promising world of valleys, plains and virgin forest came the Jackman families. It seems possible that the Jackman and Gregg families were neighbors in Ireland. Ruth Jackman married William Gregg in Ireland. Henry Jackman married Christiana Gregg in Ireland and with one child, came to the New World in 1789. Margaret Jackman married Robert Gregg and with their children migrated from Carrick on Shannon, Ireland in 1789. These records are from "Crumrine's History of Washington County, Pennsylvania". According to another author, three Jackman brothers, Henry, Richard and William came together. Crumrine says three Gregg brothers, Henry, William and John emigrated from the Emerald Isle. After a voyage of sixteen weeks, they all came to Washington County, Pennsylvania, and made a permanent settlement in Pike Run Township.

We find few records of Henry in Washington County. He is referred to as Henry, Sr., in county records. He first appears in tax records of Washington County in 1791. This was for one hundred acres.

In the first census of the United States, in 1790, Henry Jackman was listed as having one white male, 16 and upward, and three white females. In 1800 in the Washington County Census, he was listed as:

	under 10	males	45 & over	females
		10-16		10-16	26-45
Henry Jackman	2	2	1	1	1

There seems to be an abundance of duplication of the same Jackman names in Washington County. There is a William Jackman (b. 1742, d. 1830) and his wife, Elizabeth Conley, who came from Cavan County, Ireland in 1786. They had a son, William, b. 1777. There are Roberts. The first

Robert was born in 1739 in Ireland and came with his father, Robert, to America in 1745. The early Robert owned a grist mill on Pike Run, but this was later sold to the Greggs.

In the 1800 Washington County census, there are two Henry Jackmans, two Johns, two Roberts, and three Williams. However, according to dates, it will be safe to assume that we have the right Henry data.

Ohio beckons! Soon after the close of the Revolutionary War, Congress made plans for opening up the great unsettled regions between the Ohio River and the Great Lakes, known as the Northwest Territories. Pioneers began streaming into the new lands.

The first survey by the Federal Government of the Ohio region was made in 1786. This area is known as the "Seven Ranges." This land was greatly desired by the settlers as one advantage it offered was its accessibility to the Ohio River.

The only roads the pioneers found when they came to the new country were Indian Trails and Buffalo "Traces". Buffalo tramped along behind the leader in single file until the path became so deep as to be uncomfortable, the buffalo would then start another trail. Road builders struggling through forests were glad to find a solid buffalo trace.

The new pioneers headed westward to seek new virgin soil and virgin timber, jolting the travelers in carts and wagons, without springs, which were far from comfortable. The urge to move on struck Henry Jackman. It seems reasonable to assume he traveled over the Ohio River. Usually the pioneers traveled in the Spring, as it was less dangerous to travel when the water was high. There was very little traveling during the cold winter months.

Robert was born in 1759 in Ireland and came with his father, Robert, to America in 1765. The early Robert owned a grist mill on Pike Run, and this was later sold to the Greggs.

In the 1800 Washington County census, there are two Henry [illegible], two Johns, two Roberts, and three Williams. However, according to dates, it will be safe to assume that we have the right Henry here.

In Henry Jackman's will, a description of his "plantation" is given as follows--"plantation on Yellow Creek[2], Clinton township, Jefferson County." This will is to be included in its entirety in this book,--both the handwritten copy and a typed copy. It was found in the Jefferson County court records -- Will Book No. 2, Index 1821-1836 -- Henry Jackman.

From "Salem Township, Jefferson County, Pioneers" is found this notation, "Andrew Jackman, born 1797 in Washington Co. PA., son of Henry Jackman of Ireland who married Christiana Gregg and came to the United States and settled in Pennsylvania. He had 7 children. Andrew married Elizabeth Gaddis, daughter of John Gaddis of Richmond, and had: Henry, Asa, Milton, Haddassah, Annie, Margaret and Mary."

All of the early Jackman's in Washington County were Methodist Episcopal except William (born before 1755, who married Barbara Shively). This William was in the American Revolution, and went with his wife to live in Jefferson County, belonging to the Baptist Church. The Rev. Joseph Hall, a young Methodist Episcopal preacher, came to Ohio in 1800. He married and settled on the Northwest quarter of section 2 about a mile and a half south of the site of Richmond. He preached sometimes at the home of Mr. Moore, his father-in-law, and later at Stephen Ford's and Henry Jackman's, until a small log church was built on the land of the latter (Henry Jackman). A class was formed about 1808, which included James Moore, leader, and wife, Elizabeth, Jackman and wife Christiana, etc. A brick church 40' by 44' was built at Richmond in 1832, which stood with some alterations until 1861. This is on the east side of South Sugar Street.

In Henry Jackson's will, a description of his "plantation" is given as follows--"plantation on Yellow Creek, Ross township, Jefferson County." This will is to be followed in its entirety in this book -- both the handwritten copy and a typed copy. It was found in the Jefferson County Court Records -- Will Book No. 2, Index 1821-1836 -- Henry Jackson.

From "Salem Township, Jefferson County, Pioneers" is found this notation: "Andrew Jackson, born 1790 in Washington Co., Pa., son of Henry Jackson of England who married Christiana Gregg and came to the United States and settled in Pennsylvania. He had 7 children. Andrew married Elizabeth Bendle, daughter of John Fowlis of Richmond. Children: Thomas, Ada, Milton, Rachel, Annie, Margaret and Ruth."

All of the early Jackson's in Washington County were Methodist Episcopal except William (born before 1755, who married Barbara Hoopengarner). This William was in the American Revolution, and went with his uncle to live in Jefferson County, belonging to the Baptist Church. The Rev. Joseph Hall, a young Methodist Episcopal preacher, came to Ohio in 1803. He married and settled on the northeast quarter of section 2 about a mile and a half south of the site of Richmond. He preached sometimes at the home of Mr. Moore, his father-in-law, and later at Stephen Ford's and Henry Jackson's, until a small log church was built on the land of the latter (Henry Jackson). A class was formed about 1805, which included James Moore, leader, and wife, Elizabeth, Henry and wife Christiana, etc. A brick church 40' by 60' was built at Richmond in 1838, which stood with some alterations until 1881. This is on the east side of South Sugar Street.

The first land office for the sale of land was opened in Steubenville, Ohio in 1800. We find the following deeds recorded:

EDWARD MORTON (1739 - 1801)

PENNSYLVANIAN FARMER-PATRIOT-CHURCHMAN

Ralph E. Morton, in his book about the descendants of John-Thomas-Edward Morton [1], refers to an ancient manuscript, entitled "Early History of the Morton Family", prepared in England in 1618: " . . . this family take their sirname from Morton, an Hamlet in the Parish of Harworth, on the Edge of Nottighamshire, in the utmost bounds whereof . . . is an Hospital of their Foundation and a Chapel yet standing wherein the Mortons were used to be bury'd". Morton follows with this further explanation - "The word 'early' in the title is relative since the Village of Morton appears in the Doomsday Book, which was compiled in 1085-1086. The Village of Morton [2] is on the River Trent near a point where Yorkshire, Lincolnshire and Nottinghamshire meet and is being pretty well surrounded by the textile town of Gainsborough where the parish records are lodged. Morton Grange is located in the (northern) outskirts of the village. Certain buildings of the Grange, of brick construction of the type found in Normandy, are still standing, or at least were in 1930."

"For a period of centuries, Mortons fanned out from the village to various parts of England: London, Canterbury, Ely, Dorset, Herefordshire, Gloucester, etc. - and so, when some removed to Scotland, the name is often taken to be Scottish. From time to time, some migrated to the Scandinavian countries, from which the family of John Morton, Declaration of Independence signer, came to the colonies; to Holland, from which various members of the Massachusetts branch came; and numbers were 'planted' in Northern Ireland, particularly County Antrim, from which the New York branch came, and County Fermanagh[3], from which the Edward Morton branch came. The Genealogical Office in Dublin has not been able to furnish information about the place and time of Edward's departure, but through reference to the marriage records, etc., has established that Mortons lived in County Fermanagh (Norther Ireland), and in adjoining County Cavan (Eire), for several centuries. The Office advises that it is often difficult, if not impossible, to trace a family if the townland or parish or the particular county is not known".

Edward Morton and his wife, Jane (surname unknown), came to America from Ireland in 1765[4]. Edward appears to have been born in Enniskillen[5], County Fermanagh, about 1739[6]. Jane, no doubt, was born in that same County (date unknown). They were married in Ireland prior to their emigrating to America.

The family settled first in what was at that time Cumberland County, Pennsylvania. The first counties established in Pennsylvania placed Chester County with all the western parts within its jurisdictional boundaries. In 1729, Lancaster County was formed to hold the central sections of the state, plus the "outback" western areas - including some areas, such as the Washington and Greene Counties, which were under dispute with Virginia. In January 1750, Cumberland County was formed. It was to Cumberland County that Edward and Jane Morton arrived in 1765. Edward's first lands were in what is now Fulton County, of which McConnellsburg is the county seat. This land was in Cumberland County's jurisdiction until Bedford County was set up in March 1771, and it would move over to Fulton County, when that county was formed in 1850. While Edward Morton lived in the same spot, his county designations changed from Cumberland, then to Bedford, and finally to Fulton. By the time of the last-mentioned political designation, however, Edward had moved further west to Washington County and died [7].

Edward Morton's landholdings in Cumberland County are documented to include at least the following: A Warrantee of Land, Cumberland County, to Edward Morton - 50 acres, dated August 12, 1766 [8]; and another Warrantee of Land, Cumberland County, to Edward Morton - 20 acres, dated January 20, 1773 [9]. Edward Morton is included in "the complete list of taxable inhabitants of Bethel Township for the year 1774" [10].

Pennsylvanian frontiersmen had something that many others lacked. This was a unique American-developed implement most important to everyday life - the flintlock Pennsylvanian rifle [11]. Although a popular ballad after the War of 1812 sang about the "Kentucky rifle", the rifle had its beginning with the German gunsmiths of central and eastern Pennsylvania. These Germans brought with them from Europe a heavy, short-barreled, large bore gun. It was suited to the larger game back in Europe. Here, it was outsized for what was hunted. Besides, the large bore used too much powder and lead shot. The gunsmiths began to make changes in the old rifle, and by 1750, they had developed a true American rifle. With an excellent gun and constant practice, the Pennsylvanian settlers became known for their fine marksmanship. Their accuracy was almost unbelievable. Men could be shot at ranges of 300 to 400 yards. Such accuracy was due a lot to the man behind the barrel, as well as to the weapon. He learned, by trial and experience, just how much powder to introduce into the muzzle. He would shoot over snow and check the surface for unburned grains of powder. The idea was to use just enough powder to propel the bullet the necessary distance. Unburned powder meant waste and not enough powder would affect accuracy. The rifleman also used little refinements like greased cloth patches, keeping a little fine priming powder in the pan, and having all ready to fire as soon as the hammer was brought back to full-cock. Now, the principal weapon and "workhorse" of the Revolutionary War was the musket. It was a large calibered, smooth bore gun, that could be loaded much faster than the Pennsylvania rifle. Furthermore, the musket could be fitted with bayonet. The rifle's long range and accuracy was given the chance to prove itself with the outbreak of the Revolution. When the Continental Congress wanted to arm the colonies for common defense against the British, it was natural that they would include a place for the Pennsylvania rifle and its important associate - the Pennsylvania rifleman.

On June 14, 1775, Congress issued a call to raise special companies armed with rifles, rather than muskets. Originally, there were six rifle companies to be recruited in Pennsylvania. A week later, on June 22, the Pennsylvania contingent was increased to eight companies and formed into a battalion. Successful recruiting within the first three-week period enabled still another rifle company to be formed. Thus, Congress authorized on July 11 nine rifle companies for the Pennsylvania battalion. The first commander was William Thompson of Carlisle. He was commissioned colonel on June 25, 1775, and remained in command until promoted to brigadier general on March 1, 1776. The nine companies were recruited from specific areas of the state. Company A was from the part of Cumberland County which later became Franklin County. Company B recruited from Bedford County. Company C was raised from then York County, including what is now part of Adams County. Company D, commanded by Captain William Hendricks, was enlisted from Cumberland County. The other companies raised troops from Northumberland, Northampton, Berks and other counties [12].

Edward Morton, at age 36, became a private in Company D. They left Carlisle on the 15th of July and arrived in camp at Cambridge on the 8th of August. The records show the rank and file numbered eighty-five men. Company D was with Company B at Ploughed Hill on August 26-27. Soon thereafter, the Canadian expedition, under Benedict Arnold, was being formed. Company D was one of two Pennsylvania rifle units assigned. On September 11, the companies left Cambridge. A short time later, on September 23, the battalion's strength was reported as being 35 officers and 518 enlisted men present for duty, another 49 men were sick, and one was on detached service. Evidently, sickness increased as, on October 27, the duty complement had declined from 518 to 471 [13].

The march northward was most difficult. On November 3, while marching through Maine, the company's first lieutenant, John McClellan, died from pneumonia. A few weeks before, he had written to a friend, Captain Chambers, in Cambridge, that ". . . It is your indispensable duty to thank God for not permitting the devil to put it into General Washington's head to send you here" [14].

The two rifle companies marched with the expeditionary force toward Canada - first to Newburyport, Massachusetts. From there, the whole force of over a thousand men boarded transports to the Kennebec River and sailed upstream to a shipyard where bateaux had been built for their use. Once in the bateaux, progress was slower, as portages were frequent. Much of the time, the bateaux could be used only for carrying the supplies. The troops had to march on foot along the river bank. About the end of October, when reaching the Chaudiere River in Canada, it was found that commanders of the expedition's rearmost two battalions had abandoned the operation and returned to Cambridge, with five hundred troops and a large part of the supplies. Despite the severe shortage of supplies, increasingly cold weather and more difficult terrain, the diminished command pushed forward.

By November 4, when the first Canadian settlements were reached, men were starving. At the St. Lawrence River on the night of November 13, canoes were collected and the troops ferried across. Two days later, the force had reached the Plains of Abraham before Quebec. All along, as riflemen, the two Pennsylvania companies served as advance guard. After several days deployed outside the walls of Quebec, General Arnold found he had insufficient troops to mount an attack. He withdrew to Point Aux Trembles, about twenty miles away, and awaited General Montgomery's troops who had earlier captured Montreal. On December 2, the combined forces marched back to Quebec.

Artillery was brought up to exchange cannon fire. The riflemen sniped at sentries on the city's walls. The assault on Quebec was launched in a snowstorm on the night of December 31. It was a disaster! From Company D, Captain Hendricks and two enlisted men were killed. Second Lieutenant Francis Nichols and fifty-nine enlisted men were captured, virtually wiping out Company D. The other Pennsylvania company (under Captain Matthew Smith) was similarly decimated. General Montgomery was killed and General Arnold badly wounded.

Edward Morton is listed as being captured [15]. The fate of prisoners from this action is not traced individually in records. It has been related, however, that prisoners were threatened to be sent to prison in England, they were tempted with pardon if they would take an oath of allegiance to King George, and/or attempts were made to enlist them into British military units. It cannot be said for certain when Edward Morton was released, but it was probably within the time-frame for release of those soldiers definitely listed in some record. Second Lieutenant Francis Nichols was returned October 10, 1776 [16]. Private Robert Steel was exchanged on January 3, 1777 [17]. These dates would place the prisoners' average length of captivity in Canada at ten to twelve months.

Some of the released prisoners returned to active service units, joining new companies, but they do not appear to have stayed on active duty until the war was finally over in 1783. Men were in only until their enlistments were up, not for "the duration". When Edward Morton was returned to Pennsylvania from his Canadian captivity, he must have shunned further military duty. So long as a man was at least 18 years of age and not over 45 years of age, it was his duty to report for the muster of his county militia. Two references are made in the published Pennsylvania Archives where Edward Morton was placed on the delinquent list for not making the muster roll of his assigned companies. One instance was July 14, 1778, in Captain James Floid's Company, Third Battalion, Cumberland County Militia [18]. The second was on December 26, 1780, for Captain James McCurdy's Company, Third Battalion, Cumberland County Militia [19].

Edward Morton was, by this time, thinking of relocating further west. Ralph E. Morton states in his book that Edward moved to Washington County in 1783. He may have been there looking for land by 1783; however, his first purchase is recorded in 1785. He bought from Balser Shilling of the Redstone (Brownsville) Settlement, a tract of 302 3/5 acres - called "Shilling's Intent" [20]. Shilling probably applied for this land as a Virginia grant, since he sold to Shesh Bentley a nearby piece of land well before the December 1784 date when Virginia finally ceded to Pennsylvania on the boundary difference. The warrant was dated March 4, 1785, the survey was November 26, 1785, and the patent was issued to Edward Morton on December 11, 1787 (P-12-65). In his will of March 6, 1801 [21], Edward describes his land as being in "Summerset (Somerset) Township" and that it was a "plantation that I now live on lying on the waters of Pidgeon (Pigeon) Creek adjoining lands of James Braden, Charles Morrow, Thomas Morton and others". One of the 'others' would be Shesh Bentley [22], the founder of Bentleysville, and whose land lay across Pigeon Creek to the southeast of "Shilling's Intent".

Edward and Jane Morton lived in a log house [23]. Son Joseph was willed Edward's plantation in 1801. He and his wife, Mary, lived in the same log house [24]. Their son, Richard, and his wife, Harriet, built a new large brick home [25]. At Richard's death, the farm was sold outside the family. However, Dow and Eulala Morton Murray bought it back - she being the sixth generation Morton to live there [26].

Edward and Jane had six children [27]. Five children were born in Ireland. These were Mary, Martha, Rebecca, Moses (b. 1759) and Margaret (b. 1760). The sixth child, Joseph, was born in Cumberland County in 1766. All of the children survived Edward, since they are mentioned in his 1801 will. Edward's wife, Jane, presumably died before 1801 and was not mentioned in Edward's will.

Edward's will is registered in Washington County, Pennsylvania - Willbook #1, Page 416 (March 16, 1801). As mentioned above, his son, Joseph, received the home plantation. One ewe was willed to the bound girl of Joseph's, to be given to her upon completion of her apprenticeship. The oldest son, Moses, received 20£, to be paid to him two years after Edward's death. Grandson Edward Morton, son of Joseph, was given a "blackish young mare by the name of Cate". Edward noted that he had previously portioned off appropriate shares to son Moses and to the daughters - Mary, Margaret, Martha and Rebecca. It is not known where Edward and Jane Morton are buried [28]. Some of their contemporaries are known to be buried in the St. Thomas Episcopal Churchyard. Perhaps, they are there in two of the many unmarked graves.

One of the first Episcopal churches in Washington County was the "St. Thomas' Church", also known as "West's Church" since it was built upon land sold to the church by Edward West. This congregation existed in West Pike Run Township as early as 1777, but was in the building on the West Farm in 1791. The site was located near the present Rt. 481 that leads from Lover in Fallowfield Township near Interstate 70, toward Clover Hill.

The church building was of log construction, with weather-boards outside. Walls and ceilings were plastered inside. In the gallery, a stone measuring 17 inches by 20 inches had the following inscription:

> "SURELY THE LORD IS HERE. HOW DREADFUL IS THIS PLACE.
> THIS IS NO OTHER BUT THE HOUSE OF GOD AND GATE OF HEAVEN"

At the time of purchasing the land and building the church, Edward Morton was one of the twelve vestrymen and trustees of the church [29].

Attending church services on Sunday was no small feat in those days, since the distances parishoners had to travel were great and the conditions of the roads were bad, especially in rainy or wintry weather. Edward and Jane Morton, for example, lived only about five or six miles from the St. Thomas' Church[30]. Others lived up to twenty or more miles away. For example, church-goers might start a Sabbath at 8:30, leaving home early in the morning, attending services and participating late into the day in prayer meetings or church meetings. It would be near midnight by the time the family would return to their home [31].

As for St. Thomas' Church, the old structure disintegrated long ago. Many of the old-time residents were buried in the churchyard adjoining the church. This graveyard is now overgrown and deserted, with mostly unmarked graves.

The Exhibits that follow provide pertinent genealogical information about Edward and Jane Morton, their children and, more particularly, the descent via Mary Jane Morton, who was the first wife of Lemuel Cooper. This latter family line is traced into the family manuscript, "A Record of the Daniel B. Watkins Family - Descendants of Daniel B. Watkins (1832-1904) and Isabelle Cooper (1836-1908)", by W. Lowell Starkey (1981).

Members of the family have cooperated in supplying information which otherwise would not have been available. I wish to thank all of them for their help.

Blanche Lee

This history was compiled by Blanche Lee, Smock, Penna., assisted by Eulala Murray, Bentleyville, Penna.

The history of the 3 Morton Brothers - John, 1791; Joseph, 1796; Thomas, 1804 - who lived in West Virginia was compiled by Margaret Sharp, Steubenville, Ohio, assisted by Dorothy V. Morton, Wintersville, Ohio.

George T. Morton of Omaha donated $50 to help get this history.

Ralph E. Morton of Greenwich, Connecticutt had a genealogist do the research work in Dublin, Ireland.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE FOUR BROTHERS

Four brothers migrated from Inneskillen, Formanagh County, Ireland. Three of them came in 1765 to Cumberland County which later became part of Bedford County, and still later Fulton County down near the Maryland border.

The three brothers are:

John Morton and wife Ann
Thomas Morton and wife Jane
Edward Morton and wife Jane - and 5 children -
    Mary Morton
    Martha Morton
    Rebecca Morton
    Moses Morton - 1759 - married Mary Dowler - 10 Children
    Margaret Morton - 1760 - married John Jackson - 1745 - who had migrated from North Ireland - 5 children
    A sixth child of Edward and Jane - Joseph Morton - was born in Fulton County, Penna.

Mary Morton, a daughter of John and Ann, was born in Bedford County, Pennsylvania in 1770. Mary and Joseph, first cousins, were married in 1790 and had 8 children.

Three daughters of Edward may have married and settled in Bedford or Fulton County. All the others moved to Somerset Township, Washington County, Penna.

In 1783, Edward purchased a farm, "Shilling Intent" adjoining but across Pigeon Creek from the farm of Shesbezer Bentley, whose family later formed the town of Bentleyville in 1816. Joseph Morton, Son of Edward, purchased a lot in the New Town, while living in Washington County. The tax records show Edward paid tax on 1,200 acres of land and 2 stills.

According to the Pennsylvania Archives, third series, volume 22, taxable properites, Washington County, 1781 (date county was formed), Somerset Township, page 771: -

Edward Morton owned 300 Acres, 3 horses, 3 cattle, 12 sheep

In 1780, Edward Morton owned 400 Acres, 4 horses, 4 cows, 2 stills, no slaves, and paid $2.50 tax.

In 1785, Edward Morton owned 800 acres, 8 horses, 8 cows, 2 stills, no slaves, and paid $5.00 tax per year.

In 1790 (according to first Pennsylvania Cencus) land in East Finley, N.W. (May mean North West) 63 Peters Township, 73 Grape Hill, 400 acres were warranted on October 21, 1784 to John Morton; surveyed November 25, 1784; patented April 10, 1798 to Thomas Shields.

We have no record of John after he sold this farm. Moses and Mary Dowler Morton bought 300 acres on the road from Beallesville to Zollarsville. Following Moses' death in 1821, his son Bennett and family returned to the family homestead to care for his mother, Mary, where he built a large brick house, which is still standing and is owned by one Tabel (1963). Moses Morton is buried in the Beallesville Cemetery along with a large number of other members of the family.

We have been told Thomas Morton studied medicine and was a doctor in the Civil War.

THE HISTORY OF WILLIAM MORTON I

A genealogist of Dublin, Ireland, employed by Ralph E. Morton, found that William I was an elder brother of John Thomas and Edward who migrated with 8 children from Inneskillen, Formanagh County, Ireland, to Wortemburg, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania in 1787. Dr. Samuel Morton, a grandson, of Mitchell, Indiana, wrote the following history for the William Morton family:

He was an Orangeman*, a staunch liberty-loving protestant, living in a Roman Catholic community. He suffered persecution from which he fled to free

OTHER INFORMATION FOR 1964 and 1965

Among old homes mentioned should be made John and Jane Morton Smith lived on Main Street, Bentleyville, Pa. The property is now known as the Allman property.

Information about people on page 8. Moses Morton 1759 married Mary Dowler. Their son Joseph 1784 married Margaret Welsh(Mrs. Harters Great Grand Parents). Joseph died 1823. Margarets parents the Welshs was moving to Ohio. Margaret and her son John 1817 rode horseback to Knox Co. Ohio and was well pleased with the country they saw and came back for the 3 girls. John 1817 married Martha Chambers (Mrs. Harters Grand Parents). Their son Joseph 1853 married Rachel Burson (Mrs. Harters Parents). All the land was woods, her father Joseph Morton built the house and her Grandfather John Morton cleared the forest. They were early settlers at Mr. Vernon, Knox Co, Ohio.
Mrs. Lowel Harter has 3 sons. One a Judge in Columbus, Ohio, one a teacher of Agriculture in Ohio State College, and one a lawyer with Radio and Television division of Gen. Electric, Syracuse N. Y.

Information about people on page 12. Mrs. Burt says a Margaret Welsh married David Hickman both of Wash. Co. Pa. Their daughter Sarah Hickman married Moses Baxter Wash. Co. Pa. Her grandparents on her fathers side. Her grandmother Margaret Taylor was daughter of John and Margaret Shaffer Taylor both of Wash. Co. Hickmans lived in Monongahela Pa. in the early 1800's. They are Mrs. Burts grandparents on her fathers side.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas DeWitt and Mrs. Lloyd Morton spent their vacation 1964 in Mexico City, Mexico. Had just been home 2 weeks when Dr. DeWitt died of heart attack.

Many years ago 3 Morton Brothers built a mill to grind flour and feed at a place now called Bruceton Mills on Route 26, about 30 miles from Morgantown, W. Va. The paddle wheel were hewed out by hand and this mill is still in use today. Many Mortons are buried in Bruceton Mills Cemetery. Ira Morton of Smithton, Pa. and Roy Morton of Connellsville, Pa. belong to this branch of Mortons. We could not establish any connection with them or with many other Mortons in Washington Co. Pa.

Robert and Milda Sullivan of Baltimore Md. have done research work in Lancaster Co. Pa., Carlisle, Cumberland Co., Chambersburg, Fulton Co., to try to find Mary, Martha and Rebecca Morton as we do not know who they married and after 200 years it has been impossible to find them.

Sue Bousa and son Mark of Los Angelas, California spent 2 months in 1964 in England, France and Holland visiting her husbands relatives.

in 1965 will mark 200 years since this family of Mortons came to Pennsylvania. In this book there are over 2000 peoples names connecting back to this first family. There would of been over 3000 if we had got all of John and Margaret Jackmans family.

V. PETITIONS 1782

For a Fourteenth State

Southwestern Pennsylvania was claimed by both Pennsylvania and Virginia in the 1770s. The dispute was brought to a head by the establishment of courts by Pennsylvania in 1773 and by Virginia in 1775. To many of the inhabitants the formation of an entirely new western state was a possible solution to the problem. Accordingly a memorial was presented to Congress in July 1776 by the "inhabitants of the country west of the Allegheny Mountains". A complete copy is given by Boyd Crumrine in his History of Washington County, Pennsylvania (Philadelphia, 1882), page 187. No names of signatories are mentioned.

Crumrine also tells of a memorial sent to the Virginia House in the fall of 1776 opposing the formation of a new state. The Indian attacks on western Pennsylvania which began in 1777 likely pushed this matter into the background, although petitions may have continued to circulate.

In 1780 the subject was reopened when Congress discussed the possibility of setting up new states west of the mountains. In 1780, 1781 and 1782 signatures were collected, so that there were about 2000 names attached to the petition from the "inhabitants on the west side of Laurel Hill and Western Waters" which was presented to Congress on 27 Jan. 1783 (National Archives, PCC No. 48, folios 251-6, pp. 89-96).

A check of the 2000 names shows that they were principally from what are now Brooke, Ohio and Monongalia counties, West Virginia, and Washington, Greene and Fayette counties, Pennsylvania. The sheets on the original petition were cut. It is hard to tell if this was done before or after the names were written. Since they are all in the same hand, they are not original signatures. The spelling is often wrong. They may have been collected from a number of petitions or have been given orally by the individuals. There are known duplications. One name appears four times, fourteen appear three times, 142 appear twice. Some of these are not duplications; some represent two members of the same family. The names appear to be genuine. Many well-known persons are on the list.

The petition has never been published. It says in essence that the inhabitants have long labored under the most intolerable grievances from the unhappy dispute between Virginia and Pennsylvania with regard to the right of territory and jurisdiction. Both sides have claimed and exercised jurisdiction in courts of justice, militia laws and land affairs. The poor inhabitants after paying are uncertain as to their rights. They have contributed much to the infant settlement. They raised two regiments and several companies for continental service and have defended their own country from the savages, when the frontiers were defenseless and there was insufficient guard.

The petitioners point out that they protected Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia from the savages, and are now treated more like slaves than free men. The only effectual means appears to be to lay off a new state upon these western waters. This alone can unite the people. Congress has the power to do so. The people are a great distance from the seats of government, beyond an immense ridge of mountains. There is an Act of the Assembly of Pennsylvania which forbids the people to assemble or even mention a new state under penalty for treason. As free men and free citizens of America we have the right to petition your body.

Virginia to give up finally all jurisdiction civil and military to all that tract of territory lying on the west side of the Laurel Hill and to the north of Mason and Dixon's Line (and formerly claimed by Virginia) that your excellency would issue your proclamation dissolving all commissions both civil and military within the said territory that your petitioners may certainly know to what government we belong, or revive your courts of justice and militia laws by filling up the vacant commissions both civil and military with such persons as are firmly attached to your government and to grant your petitioners such immediate relief towards the defense of our frontiers in their present deplorable situation as to your excellency shall seem meet and your petitioners as in duty bound shall ever pray.

[No signatures]

FROM SUNDRY INHABITANTS OF YOHOGANIA AND MONONGALIA TO BE LAID BEFORE ASSEMBLY 1782

To his Excellency Harris [sic], Governor of the State of Virginia.

We the petitioners inhabitants of that part of territory north of Masons and Dixons Line, and west of the Laurel Hill seem to be considered by Pennsylvania to be within their jurisdiction, and their civil authority, both by their courts of justice and militia laws, has been actually to a considerable distance extended over us, that have settled under the faith of Virginia, and they pretend it is by your consent and what is north of the line is given up to them, which we could not believe, because we have been so long under your jurisdiction, and have taken the oath to the state, and has had your civil authority extended amongst us and you have not by proclamation or otherwise given us public notice that you have cast us off and given us up to Pennsylvania. This makes us think that we are bound by our oath not to pay allegiance to any other state until we are discharged in a regular way from our former allegiance, for these reasons we have not submitted to their authority until the line is settled and actually run according to their charter. So your petitioners do humbly request the favor that in case you have given this part of territory up to them, you would please let us know by proclamation or otherwise and on what terms, to let us know to whom we do belong that we may not stand against their law, or impower us otherwise to act as usual, and furthermore Pennsylvania has passed an act of £300 penalty on any of home farm in Jefferson township, this county, where he passed his youth in attending school and assisting with the general farm duties. He married Miss Sarah Jane Elliott, who bore him three children: John Elliott (born March 13, 1853), James (born November 25, 1855), and Robert (born February 26, 1858). The mother died September 25, 1858, and for his second wife Mr. Stewart was married to Miss Eliza Orr, of Irish descent, who died soon afterward, and June 17, 1864, he wedded, for his third wife, Miss Rebecca H., daughter of William Provines, who came from Ireland and settled in Jefferson township, this county. Robert Stewart is a popular and prosperous citizen. In political opinions he has always voted the Democratic ticket, being a counselor and adviser of that party, and in religious faith he gives a hearty support to the U. P. Church, of which his wife is a member.

BERNARD C. JACKMAN. This well-known gentleman is a representative of a pioneer family of Washington county. His grandparents, William and Elizabeth (Conley) Jackman, were born in County Cavan, Ireland, and emigrated in 1789. They settled on a large tract of land in East Pike Run township, Washington Co., Penn., where the following children were born and reared: Bernard, William, Mary, Eliza, Joshua, John, Margaret, Nancy, and four who died in infancy.

John Jackman, son of William and Elizabeth Jackman, was born on the farm in East Pike Run township, this county, and received a subscription-school education. In early life he was married to Phœbe Taylor, daughter of William and Phœbe (Kirkwood) Taylor. Her parents were of Scotch-Irish descent, and after coming to Pennsylvania bought 160 acres on the National pike, between Beallsville and Brownsville, Penn. Mr. Taylor then conducted a tavern for several years, and also built the first M. E. Church in that locality, which is yet known by his name. The children of this family were born as follows: Edward, Sophia, William, Isaac (who died in his one-hundredth year), Phebe, George, Joshua, Ann, John, and others who died in infancy. The parents both died on the old place, and were buried in the cemetery of the Taylor M. E. Church. To the union of John and Phebe (Taylor) Jackman eight children were born, namely: Elizabeth, wife of Wesley H. Taylor, a resident of Carroll county, Ohio; Bernard C., whose name opens this sketch; Mary A., Edwin, Caroline, and three who died in infancy. The father was a farmer, and for a number of years served as local preacher at the Taylor M. E. Church, with which his wife was also identified. He also erected the first log school-house in the neighborhood, serving for many years as school director, and doing all in his power to promote the educational and religious interests of the community. He was actively identified with the Whig party, and was one of the most influential men of his neighborhood. He died in 1861, followed by Mrs. Jackman in 1878.

Bernard C. Jackman was born August 26, 1824, in East Pike Run township, Washington Co., Penn. He attended the public schools, and in 1852 was united in marriage with Ruth Lilley, who was born in 1829, in East Pike Run township. She is a daughter of Ellis and Elizabeth (Phillips) Lilley, who were pioneer settlers of this county. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Lilley were Solomon, residing in Alliance, Ohio; Ruth, wife of Bernard C. Jackman; Elizabeth, a resident of Ohio; Thomas, deceased; Phebe, living in Ohio, and Alica, deceased. Both parents were members of the Quaker Church. The father died in 1872. Mr. and Mrs. Jackman reside on the old homestead, consisting of 132 acres of land, upon which good buildings and other improvements have been erected. He votes with the Republican party, and has been school director for several years. They are the parents of three children, namely: Phebe E. (deceased), Hattie M. (wife of John F. Colvin, a farmer of East Pike Run township), and Wilbur S., a teacher in the Cook County Normal School at Chicago.

As already stated, Mr. Jackman's grandparents were natives of Cavan, Ireland, with the exception of the grandmother, Phœbe (Hardman) Taylor, who was born in the Scottish Highlands, and came to Ireland with her parents (Moxruder Hardman and wife) to escape the Cromwellian atrocities. Mrs. Hardman, nee Miss Kirkwood, became owner of 1,000 acres of land near Dublin. Phœbe Hardman married William Taylor. He was born in 1754, and emigrated in 1789. The ages of the grandparents are as follows: William Jackman, eighty-eight years; Elizabeth Conley, his wife, eighty-five years; William Jackman, eighty-six years, and Phœbe Hardman, his wife, ninety-six years. Away back in 1831 William Jackman provided whisky for his harvesters. One of the men tasted it too freely, returned to his cabin and whipped his wife. On Mr. Jackman learning of this he emptied the whisky on the ground and introduced temperance in the harvest field, being the pioneer of the cause in this section of the State.

MATTHEW R. WELCH. In the foremost rank of the honored and prosperous citizens of Smith township is the name of this gentleman gladly welcomed. His father was Matthew Welch, who was born in County Down, Ireland.

Mr. Ralston passed his life on the old place, and followed milling. He was a soldier in the war of 1812, and voted with the Democratic party. He and his wife were members of the Presbyterian Church at Three Springs, of which he was an elder for many years. In 1846, while on a trip to Buffalo, N. Y., with a cargo of flour, he was taken sick with bilious fever, and returning home, died July 18, 1846, followed by his wife December 26, of the same year. They were buried in Three Springs cemetery, which now contains four generations of this name, who were at one time by far the most numerous family on King's creek.

Thomas H. Ralston was born July 19, 1826, in Hancock county, W. Va., on the ancestral acres. In early life he learned the cooper's trade, in which he became an expert. When his elder brother died, he took charge of his father's mill, in which business he continued many years. On April 26, 1859, he was married to Rebecca Graham, who was born January 17, 1833, in Hancock county, W. Va., a daughter of Thomas and Honor Graham. Their union has been blessed with the following children: Lucinda P. (Mrs. James Work, of Florence), William S. (a farmer of Hanover township), George G. (at home), Anna K. (Mrs. S. F. MRS. JEMIMA JACKMAN was born July 30, 1805, in East Pike Run township, Penn. She is the widow of Joshua Jackman, and daughter of Thomas and Sarah (Dixon) Bailey. Her parents were born in eastern Pennsylvania, and came, when children, with their parents to Washington county, where they were afterward married. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey were the parents of the following children: Ann, John, Mary, Martha, Thomas, Ruth, Hannah, Isaac, Elizabeth, Henry and Jemima. Of this family the latter is the only one living. The father was a farmer and stock dealer, and died at the age of eighty years, the mother having been laid to rest at the age of sixty years. Both were members of the Quaker Church. On April 11, 1835, Jemima Bailey was united in marriage with Joshua Jackman, son of William and Elizabeth (Conley) Jackman, who were natives of County Carlow, Ireland. Joshua Jackman was born January 29, 1795, on the home place in East Pike Run township. He always resided on the farm, and in politics voted the Republican ticket. He died September 27, 1867, and his widow is living in the old house, which has been her home since 1839. The farm embraces 100 acres of well-cultivated land, including a good storehouse, barn and all modern improvements. Mrs. Jackman is now in her eighty-seventh year and bids fair to see her fourscore years and ten, being yet as active as many a woman of but sixty years, and still doing the greater part of her housework. She is a member of the Taylor M. E. Church, with which her husband was also identified. They had two daughters, namely: Sarah E., born February 11, 1840, who died December 29, 1845; and Mary M., born August 10, 1841, died January 3, 1846.

MRS. MARIA SPEER, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed residents of Peters township, Washington county, is the widow of James Speer, a son of James Speer, whose father, Robert Speer, came from Adams county, Penn., at a very early date, and first located in Washington county, but soon after moved with his family to New Concord, Muskingum Co., Ohio, where he died.

James Speer, son of Robert, was born in Adams county, Penn., and when quite young, came east of the mountains with his father, and spent the greater part of his boyhood days near New Concord, Ohio. In those days but few white settlers had penetrated the western forests of Ohio, and the Indians still held possession of the land. The Redmen of that vicinity were for the most part friendly to the "Palefaces," and often paid visits to the Speer family, on which occasions the squaws would invariably leave their papooses outsides tightly strapped to a board. In the forest wilds, surrounded by Indians and savage beasts, James Speer grew to manhood, and was married to Miss place together with his brother John, who afterward died, when Thomas purchased the remainder of the farm. He was united in marriage with Miss Sarah Graham, and the children born to them were as follows: Robert, Thomas, John, Mary and Sarah. Mr. Stockton was a Whig in politics, and in religious belief was for many years a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Washington, in which he was an elder.

Robert Stockton, son of Thomas and Sarah (Graham) Stockton, passed his youth on the home farm, and was united in marriage with Rebecca, daughter of John and Sarah Wilson. To their union were born children as follows: Thomas V., John Wilson, Emma O'Ella (Mrs. C. C. Cozad) and Maggie (Mrs. A. R. Gayhort). Mr. Stockton was a leading member of the Presbyterian Church at Washington. In politics he was a Whig and Republican. He died in October, 1864, aged sixty-seven years.

Thomas V. Stockton, son of Robert and Rebecca (Wilson) Stockton, is unmarried, and has managed the home farm since the death of his father. He is an enterprising young citizen of Franklin township, and a member of the Republican party.

Dr. John Wilson Stockton graduated in the scientific department of Washington and Jefferson College in 1868; he graduated from the Eclectic Medical College, Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1877. He was married August 8, 1890, to Romayne Wade McKown, of Allegheny county. He is located at present at Washington, Penn., where he is engaged in the practice of his chosen profession.

Daniel Mowry, Sr., the father of these children, died in 1862; the mother, Jane Mowry, in 1874. In politics he was an Old-line Whig, and in religion a member of the Covenanter Church. Mr. Mowry was a life resident of Pittsburgh, Penn., where he was for a time clerk of the courts, and, afterward, tipstaff.

Daniel B. Mowry, the subject of this biographical memoir, though born in Pittsburgh, lived with his grandfather Wylie during most of his minority, following the vocation of farming. He was united in marriage with Mary A., daughter of Major William Wilson, and the children born to them were William W., a major in the Pennsylvania Militia, and a resident of Washington, this county; John died in infancy; Charles E., in Pittsburgh; Lottie (Mrs. Herbert Wilson, of Nebraska); Harry; Mary A. and Sarah, of Washington county. S. T. JACKMAN is of Teutonic ancestry, his grandparents, William and Barbara (Shively) Jackman, having been natives of the country of the Rhine. They emigrated from Germany before their marriage, which ceremony took place in a fort on the Monongahela river, in Westmoreland county, Penn. In 1788 William Jackman took out a patent for 368 acres of land called "Hobson's choice," in Washington county. He paid the Indians, for their right, $15, a gun, and a blanket. He made a permanent home on this tract, where seven children were born to him, all now deceased. The parents were members of the Baptist Church.

Simeon Jackman, son of William and Barbara (Shively) Jackman, was born, in 1795, in East Pike Run township, Washington Co., Penn., and there attended the subscription schools. In 1819 he was married to Mary Dunlevy, who was born in 1800, in East Pike Run township, and the young couple settled permanently on 100 acres of the original tract (above mentioned) in Allen township. He afterward bought 100 acres from his brother Cyrus, paying him $10 per acre. The following children were born to them: one deceased in infancy; Joseph Wilson, of Henry county, Ill.; Anthony D., a resident of El Dorado, Butler Co., Kans.; Melissa, wife of George Morton, a Presbyterian minister of Indiana county, Penn.; Elizabeth, wife of James Wilson, of McLean county, Ill.; Mary, married to John Steele, of Fayette county, Penn. Harriet, wife of George Hill, of McLean county, Ill.; William H., living in Wayne county, Ohio; S. T., whose name opens this sketch; Isaac K., living in Los Angeles, Cal., and Sarah D., wife of William Dunlevy, of Butler county, Kans. Of these children Mary, William H., S. T., and Isaac K. are yet living. The father was a Republican, and served for many years as justice of the peace; was also captain in the State Militia. He died in 1881, having been preceded by his wife in 1873. Both were members of the Presbyterian Church.

S. T. Jackman, the only living representative of his family in Washington county, was born October 23, 1835, in Allen township, Washington Co.,

Penn. He received his earlier education in the subscription schools of the neighborhood, and then took the sophomore year at Washington College. In 1862 he enlisted at Pittsburgh, Penn., in Company F, Eighteenth Pennsylvania Cavalry, for three years or during the war, and was afterward promoted to the rank of first lieutenant of Company E, in the same regiment. He served in the battles of Gettysburg, Wilderness, also in the Shenandoah Valley and the Seven Days' fight before Richmond. In 1865 he received an honorable discharge at Cumberland, Md., and returned to the home farm in Allen township, Washington county. On May 20, 1868, he was married to Florence J., daughter of Azariah and Sarah A. (Murphy) Crow, pioneers of Washington county, now living in Howell county, Mo.

Mr. Jackman yet owns ninety-five acres of the original patent. In politics he votes with the Republican party, and served as a member of the school board, assessor and road commissioner of Allen township. Since the Howe cemetery has been established Mr. Jackman has served as treasurer and trustee, and is also a trustee of the Ebenezer M. E. Church, of which he and his wife are members. Their children have been born as follows: Nora Elsie, wife of William Steele, a grocer of West Belle Vernon; Leslie T.; H. Roscoe; Ruby C.; Mary S.; A. Parker; J. Riley (deceased at the age of six years) and Morton Hanson (deceased when seventeen months old). In 1891 Mr. and Mrs. Jackman moved to their present home in West Belle Vernon.

ROBERT C. HOLMES, a successful and well-known farmer of Cross Creek township, is a son of James Holmes, whose father died in Ireland, the land of his birth.

James Holmes emigrated from his native country in 1837, and remained in New York two years after landing on American soil. He then lived four years in Westmoreland county, Penn., afterward renting a place in Cross Creek township, Washington Co., Penn., and purchasing the home farm just before the Civil war. His wife was formerly a Miss Margaret Thompson, to whom he was wedded in 1836. Children were born to their union as follows: Jane, Thomas, John, James, Robert C., William, Thompson B. and Joseph D., all of whom were born after the parents had settled in America. The father followed general farming and sheep raising, owning a good fertile farm of 144 acres. In politics he affiliated with the Democratic party, to whose interest he was ever keenly active, supporting its principles with enthusiastic ardor, and holding various offices of honor and trust in Cross Creek township, which he filled to the satisfaction of all. In religious faith he was an active member of the United Presbyterian Church at West Middletown, Penn., to which he gave a hearty and liberal support. He died in 1869. Of the children born to James and Margaret (Thompson) Holmes, William was married to Miss Emma Neely, a native of Donegal township, Washington Co., Penn., and the following children have blessed their union: Robert, Jane M., Grover C., Joseph, James and Mary, all of whom are living with their parents on the old home farm.

Robert C. Holmes, the fourth or fifth child of James and Margaret Holmes, was born in 1844. His boyhood and youth were passed in the arduous duties of farm life, and attending the district schools of the neighborhood. When his father died, Robert took entire charge of the business, which he is now managing with marked success, and caring for his aged mother, who lives with her son, awaiting the summons which will unite her again with those loved ones who have "passed over the river home."

Mrs. Margaret (Thompson) Holmes was born in Ireland in 1819. In 1840 her parents came to the United States and settled in Chartiers township, Washington county, following their children. Mrs. Holmes was the first of the Thompson family to emigrate, the other children followed her example, and the parents ultimately decided to settle in the New World. Of the eight children who came hither, five are living. The mother of Mrs. Holmes died in Cross Creek township in 1879, aged eighty-seven years.

THOMAS A. HINDMAN, a highly esteemed and prosperous citizen of Cross Creek village, Washington Co., Penn., is a son of William Hindman, and grandson of Samuel Hindman. The latter was born near Canonsburg, in Chartiers township, this county, and was reared to agricultural pursuits, which he followed through life. When a young man he left Washington county and made a permanent home in Brooke county, W. Va. He was united in marriage with Miss Catherine Davis, a native of eastern Ohio, and nine children were born to their union, namely: Polly, William, Rebecca, Eliza, Samuel, James, Margaret Ann (Mrs. Barber, of Knox county, Ohio), Harriet (Mrs. Murchland, of Colliers Station) and Evan D. (also living at Colliers Station).

William Hindman (the second child of Samuel and Catherine Hindman) was born in 1812, in Brooke county, W. Va., growing to manhood on the home farm. He received a common-school education, which was supplemented by the reading of good books. He was married to Elizabeth Mc-always found working for the man best fitted for the office. No one rejoiced more heartily than he did over the results of the elections of November 8, 1892.

WILLIAM W. JACKMAN, one of the oldest citizens of East Pike Run township, is a native of the same, having been born December 10, 1814. He is a son of William Jackman, whose father was Robert Jackman, a native of Ireland.

Robert Jackman came, when a young man, to America with three brothers, and located in Washington county. In March, 1784, he obtained from the Pennsylvania land office a warrant for the land now the sites of the towns of California and Coal Centre, on the waters of Pike run. These tracts were surveyed and enrolled in Patent Book No. 15, page 255. The tract on the east side of the creek was called "Allybar," and that on the west side, "Ararat." Robert married Sarah Whittiker, and afterward Ann Dixon. Of his nine children, two were born to the first wife and seven to the last wife. They are named as follows: Robert (born May 16, 1772), Henry (born August 7, 1774, married Sarah Sphar), Ruth (born May 7, 1779, married William Gregg), Sarah (born May 15, 1781, married Joseph Nealan), Samuel (born February 8, 1784), William (born January 4, 1786, married Nancy Steele), Dixon (born April 5, 1789, married Elizabeth Phillips), John (born January 5, 1792, married Miss Stockdale), James A. (born September 1, 1794). Many members of this family finally settled in Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. The father died in Washington county, and was buried in the cemetery at California.

William Jackman was married to a daughter of William Steele, and she bore him one son, William. For his second wife Mr. Jackman selected Ann Wilkins, a native of Washington county, and they had two children: Ann (wife of William Reeder) and William W. The father followed farming all his life until drowned in the Monongahela river.

William W. Jackman received a limited education in the subscription schools of the home neighborhood, then at the juvenile age of twelve years began life for himself. He worked at various occupations, and at the age of eighteen took a boatload of coal down the river to Maysville, Ky.; continued in that business for several years, also acting as pilot for boats to Louisville, Ky. In 1839 he was married to Ruth, daughter of William Morgan, one child having been born to their union, Louisa, wife of Alexander Carlisle. The mother died a short time after the birth of this daughter. For his second wife William W. Jackman married Eliza Jane, daughter of William Miller, a resident of Greene county. To this union nine children were born as follows: Leroy, Dora, Arabella, Lena (deceased wife of Charles Minehart), Albert, William E., Calvin, Santford and Louis S. Of these, Leroy, William E. and Louis S. are living. After laying out the town of California, and before the lots were sold, William W. Jackman joined the advance army of "Argonauts" from "the States" in "'49" for the Sacramento Valley, Cal., for which the Pennsylvania town was named. In 1849 Mr. Jackman, in company with Job Johnson, Abram Fry, George Hornback, Samuel Ashmade and John Woods, purchased 311 acres in East Pike Run township, laid out the town of California, and divided the upland tract among themselves, the share of Mr. Jackman being fifty acres. He has been a Whig and Abolitionist in politics, and is deeply interested in educational progress, having been a prime mover in the Southwestern State Normal School at California, to which he has contributed largely.

SAMUEL GEORGE is descended from an early pioneer family of Hibernian ancestry. Robert and Christiana George were natives of Ireland, where they were married, and soon afterward immigrated to America. In 1772 they settled on a farm in Mt. Pleasant township, this county, where he died many years ago. His widow survived him twenty years, making her home with her son John George, of Washington county, Penn.

David George was born on the home place in Mt. Pleasant township. In early life he was married to Nancy Scott, who bore him children as follows: Betsey (deceased), Christy (deceased), Margaret (wife of John Roney), Nancy (deceased in 1888, wife of William Connor), Robert and Mary (twins), the former living in Allegheny, Penn., and Samuel (of whom a sketch follows). Mr. and Mrs. George were members of the Reformed Presbyterian Church in Chartiers township for many years. He died February 7, 1856, and his wife in 1857.

Samuel George was born September 19, 1828, on the home farm in Mt. Pleasant township, receiving his education in the district schools of the neighborhood. On December 24, 1866, he was united in marriage with Christiana, a native of Mt. Pleasant township, daughter of John and Jane (Slater) George, who were of Irish descent, and natives of Allegheny county, Penn., moving to Mt. Pleasant township, Washington county, in an early day. Her father died in Beaver Falls some years ago; her mother is yet living in Beaver Falls.

CALIFORNIA BOROUGH.

THE pleasant and growing borough of California is located on the west bank of the Monongahela River, just above the mouth of the small stream known as Pike Run, which separates it from the old borough of Greenfield, and is distant five miles below Brownsville, fifty miles by rail and fifty-five miles by river from Pittsburgh, and twenty-three miles from Washington, the county-seat. Its site is one of great natural beauty, and not surpassed within the confines of the Monongahela Valley.

It contains about sixteen hundred inhabitants,[1] the State Normal School of the Tenth Normal School District, which district is composed of Somerset, Fayette, Greene, and Washington Counties, the church edifices of Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, and Christian denominations, various secret benevolent associations, an ample supply of physicians and merchants, and is the centre of vast coal interests, 13,654,700 bushels of coal having been shipped from it and its immediate vicinity during the year 1880. It is also an important shipping-point for wool, grain, fruits, and live-stock.

The site of the town is celebrated in the annals of Pennsylvania as having been the place where the Indians met in council in 1767 to express their grievances, which resulted in the mission of the Rev. Capt. Steele, of Carlisle, and others, who were sent out in the following spring to meet them, and to persuade white settlers to retire and not invade the lands yet belonging to the Indians. The Indian title, however, was extinguished by the treaty of Nov. 5, 1768, and the following year thousands of acres bordering upon the Monongahela were surveyed by Gen. James Hendricks and other surveyors, and many patents covering these lands were granted to individuals by warrants from the proprietary land-office.

Prior to 1784 a man named Samuel Young resided upon or near the town site, having some right or title to it. During the year last mentioned, however, Robert Jackman[2] (having purchased Young's interest) obtained a patent for a large tract of land, which covered the sites of the present boroughs of California and Greenfield, besides hundreds of acres lying back and around these towns. He had six sons, viz., James, William,[3] Dixon, John, Robert,[4] and Henry, besides two or three daughters, and at his death, which occurred Aug. 26, 1813, at the age of seventy-four years and four months, the land was divided among those sons, James and William inheriting the grounds now partly included within the corporate limits of the borough. Subsequently this land was sold at sheriff's sale to Seth Buffington, who soon after transferred the same to John Ringland.[5]

The Jackmans were famous mill men, and only seemed contented when engaged in building or operating grist- and saw-mills. Robert Jackman, the elder, built a very early grist-mill at Brownsville, and he built a dwelling-house on the site of his grandson's residence (William W. Jackman) nearly one hundred years ago. A majority of the family of this name, however, finally emigrated westward, settling in Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa.

John Ringland died about the year 1845, and in 1848 a company, composed of William W. Jackman, Job Johnson, Abraham Fry, George W. Hornbake, John Wood, and Samuel Ashmead, purchased of his heirs three hundred and four acres of land, upon which, May 1, 1849, they laid out a town, calling the same California, a term then very familiar to nearly every man, woman, and child in the land in connection with the then recently discovered gold region.

The plot was surveyed by Job Johnson, Esq., one of the proprietors, who was an attorney-at-law as well as a surveyor. It comprised nearly one hundred acres, or four hundred lots, fifty by one hundred and fifty feet each. Originally these lots were sold at from fifteen to seventy-five dollars. The streets, as seen to-day, cross at right angles, and are sixty feet wide, while the alleys are twenty feet in width.

Not a building stood upon the town site when first laid out, and when, during the summer of 1849, Thomas W. Moore completed the first dwelling,[6] and soon after had a son (Job Johnson Moore) born therein, the proprietors donated him a town lot.

[1] The borough contained 1566 inhabitants in 1880, 476 in 1860, and 659 in 1870, according to the United States census reports.

[2] Robert Jackman was a native of Ireland, and a descendant of a family which originated in Germany, thence migrated to Wales, and finally settled in Ireland.

[3] William, the father of the present William W. Jackman, lost his life by drowning in the Monongahela.

[4] Robert Jackman, the oldest son of Robert Jackman, Sr., was the proprietor of the town of Greenfield.

[5] Ringland was one of the original members of the Brownsville or Monongahela Bridge Company, which company was chartered March 6, 1830.

[6] This house is now—or was at least when we obtained the information—owned by Joseph Paxton.

West Virginia, near Morgantown. Henry Gregg, Jr., was another son of Henry Gregg, the early settler. Several of his children are at present residing in East and West Pike Run townships, two of them, William and John, being farmers. Thomas, third son of Henry Gregg, Sr., left three daughters, Nancy, Emily, and Almy, all of whom are single. Edward Gregg, a fourth son of Henry Gregg, left two daughters, both of whom are widows,—Mrs. Malinda West and Mrs. Mary J. Baker. John Gregg, one of the three early settlers, was married twice. His sons John and Henry, by the first wife, both died of consumption. He also had quite a large family of children by his second marriage, all of whom eventually went to the West.

William Gregg, one of the three who came from Ireland, married and had a family of four sons and one daughter, the latter being Mrs. Margaret Crow. The son Henry married Jane Dowler; John married Nancy Gregg, ~~Robert~~ married Ann Robinson, and Andrew married Dorcas Nichols. They all left families. An old-time advertisement is found which shows that Daniel Gregg, probably a member of one of the three original families, was engaged in the raising of fruit-trees. Under date of March 20, 1809, he advertised "that he has at his nursery in Washington County, adjoining the Monongahela River, three and one-half miles below Brownsville, a variety of the best and most approved kinds of fruit-trees, the grafts being selected from some of the best nurseries in Chester and Bucks Counties. . . . Among them are Romanite, Red Vanderveers, Green Vanderveers, Winesops, Pennock Apples, Newtown Pippins, Green Pippins, Hughes' Crab, Queen Apples, June Apples, Ashmore's Early Red Streak, and sundry other kinds of summer fruits."

The tract of one hundred and thirty-three acres of land in East Pike Run township owned at an early day by John Almond or Allman is situated on the waters of East Pike Run, and is now the property of John White, Esq. There are still many descendants and relatives of the Allman family living in this vicinity.

Jacob Springer, a pioneer of this township, took for his wife Miss Peggy Gregg, a native of Ireland, and a sister of the early residents, John, William, and Henry Gregg. They owned the farm now belonging to Mr. Snyder. Their children were seven,—three sons and four daughters. The daughter Peggy became the wife of John Neblick, Betsey married John Carson, Nancy was the wife of John Carroll, and Polly died unmarried. The son, John Springer, married Jane Newkirk, James married Polly Carroll, and William married Susan Johnson.

Like many others of the early settlers of the territory along the Monongahela River, Amos Ayles came from Chester County, Pa. Soon after coming here he was so unfortunate as to lose an arm. His family was quite large, and four of his sons, Stephen, Isaac, John, and another one, were engaged in boating and trading upon the river. Stephen married Mary Nixon, and they lived and died in Washington County. Isaac's wife was Mary Coleman, and their son still owns the homestead. James Ayles married Betsey Nixon. He formerly owned the mill near Greenfield now owned by the Greggs.

John and Seth Buffington were both brothers, who came into this section with the first settlers. Seth Buffington married Sarah Millison. In his day he was a prominent man, greatly esteemed by his neighbors. His family was three sons and one daughter,—John, Seth, Joseph, and Orphie Buffington. The daughter became the wife of Robert Lilley. The son John married Paulina Reynolds, and resides in Brownsville. Joseph married a daughter of John Thompson, and resides in East Bethlehem. Seth Buffington, Sr., became involved in financial difficulties and emigrated West, where he died soon after. The son Seth, Jr., also went West, where he followed his trade, blacksmithing.

James Dorsey emigrated from the vicinity of Baltimore, Md., and was one of those settlers who came very early into East Pike Run township. He took up a large body of land, brought it to a fruitful state, lived upon it until his death, and a portion of it is now occupied by his grandson and namesake, James Dorsey. James Dorsey, Sr., had ten children, three sons and seven daughters, two of whom died in infancy. The son Edward married Matilda Brashears; John remained single, and James, Jr., married Elizabeth Elder, of Maryland. The three sons are dead, but the widow of James Dorsey is still living and past eighty-two years of age. The sons of James, Jr., and Elizabeth Dorsey are James and George. James married Grace Devenning, of Ohio, and George married Martha Phillips, of Fayette County. These sons of James Dorsey, Jr., jointly own the old Dorsey homestead.

Samuel Bailey was a Quaker, and one of the founders of the Quaker Church in this vicinity. His property was a large tract of land adjoining the Robert Jackman lands. A daughter of Samuel Bailey became the wife of John Murphy, and his sons, Thomas and Isaac Bailey, reside on the home farm in this township.

Greenfield Borough.—As early as the year 1784, Robert Jackman came into possession of a body of land in this county to the amount of several hundred acres. This land was comprised in two tracts, located along the Monongahela River, on opposite sides of Pike Run, and at the mouth of the last-named stream. The tract "Ararat," containing two hundred and twenty-two acres, was granted to Nathan Lynn on order No. 1939, and surveyed Dec. 16, 1784. The other tract, directly across the stream Pike Run, had an area of three hundred and twenty-two acres, and was warranted by Adam Youngs, the survey of it being made Dec. 15, 1784, under the title of "Mill Place." At the dates mentioned all right and title to this land was made over to Robert Jackman, and it included the sites of California and Greenfield, the present Gregg mill property and homestead, and the estates of James and John McCrary as well. The Gregg mill was formerly known as the Jackman mill, but having passed through many hands, has come into the possession of A. J. Gregg. Mr. Jackman was a native of Ireland. He married a Miss Dixon, and they had quite a large family of children. The daughter Ruth became the wife of William Gregg, and lived near Greenfield, and a son, Dixon Jackman, married Ruth Phillips. The sons James and William were fond of horse-racing, and had a race-course fitted up near Greenfield. These two sons inherited from their father the greater part of the land which is now the site of the borough of California. Robert Jackman inherited the lands on which was laid out the village of Greenfield. He died leaving no children. There were two other sons of Robert Jackman, Sr., viz., John and Henry.

In 1814, Robert Jackman laid out the town of Greenfield on land inherited from his father. An article of agreement made June 11th in that year between the proprietor, Robert Jackman, and the purchasers of certain lots in the new town, specifying conditions on which they were sold, privileges of streets, alleys, timber, quarries of freestone and limestone, coal in the vein, etc., and reservations of growing crops, ferry and other rights, shows the names of purchasers, and the prices paid by them for lots,[1] as follows:

"Elizabeth How, No. 11, southwest side of Water Street, $71; Reasin Smith, No. 12, southwest side of Water Street, $52; Henry Smith, Nos. 1 and 2, northwest side of Spring Street, and No. 20, southwest side of Water Street, and one half of No. 3, northeast side of Third Street, $219; Jacob Resinger, Esq, Nos. 3 and 4, northwest side of Spring Street, and No. 6, northeast side of Water Street, and No. 3, northeast side of Third Street, $257; John Mitchell, No. 5, northwest side of Spring Street, $44.50; Isaac Powell, No. 6 Spring Street, $50; Lewis Merchant, Nos. 1, 2 and 5 Spring Street, $182; John Kerr, Nos. 3 and 4 Spring Street, $111; William Huggens, No. 8 Water Street, $34; John Hurry, No. 7 Water Street, $52; Robert Greggs, No. 6 Water Street, and one-half of No. 3 Federal Street, $54; Amos Ayles, Nos. 3 and 4 Water Street, $123; William Jackman, No. 1 Water Street, $44; William Steel, No. 4 Water Street, $67; Jacob Duvall, No. 13 Water Street, and one-half of No. 3 Federal Street. $86.50; James Springer, No. 14 Water Street, $65; John Peterman, No. 2 Green Street, and No. 9 Federal Street, $125; Joseph Robeson, No. 4 Short Street, judgment, $75; Mary Wilkins, No. 3 Water Street, $78; Samuel Smith, No. 17 Water Street, $[illegible]6; James Moffet, No. 18 Water Street, $70; William Cady, No. 19 Water Street, $52; Henry Peterman, No. 1 Green Street, and No. 3 Short Street, $117; Andrew Kerr, Nos. 7 and 8 Federal Street, $95; John Gregg, No. 6 Federal Street, $41; William Thatcher, No. 6 Spring Street, $66; John Springer, No. 7 Spring Street, $61; Henry Reisinger, No. 3 Short Street, and No. 1 Third Street, $118; Patrick Coil, No. 2 Third Street, $40; Jacob Bennet, No. 3 Federal Street, $48; Robert Relitie, No. 5 Water Street, $61; Ely Devue, No. 2 Federal Street, $50; Silvester Smith, No. 16 Water Street, $57.50; James Lilley, No. 2 Federal Street, $42; John Jackman, No. 2 Water Street, $12.50; total, $2015."

On July 18, 1814, before Greenfield had become a town, except on paper, a co-operative association was organized in the place, called the "Farmers' and Mechanics' Commercial Store," having a nominal capital stock of twenty thousand dollars, divided into shares of ten dollars each. The association was under the control and management of a president and nine directors, who were authorized to erect a storehouse, and to purchase keel-boats to convey their produce to Pittsburgh; the principal object for which the association was formed being to afford an easy and cheap means of transporting the agricultural products of members and others in the vicinity to a market where good prices could be realized and goods purchased on favorable terms, and delivered to consumers without the addition of intermediate commissions and profits. This association, however, like most others of its kind, failed to accomplish in any considerable degree the results for which, ostensibly, it was organized.

The first general store was started in the place by John Carr, who also built the first house. It was a log cabin, and was built at the south end of Water Street, near the saw-mill on the river. Mr. John Buffington remembers when this house stood entirely alone upon the site of Greenfield. Van Reeves was another of the pioneer merchants, and there was also a resident named Miller who manufactured beaver caps. Henry Smith was the first hotel-keeper, and he was succeeded by Bolen Taylor, Joseph Lutz, Hiram Holmes, Jacob Qualk, Mrs. Newkirk, and others. Henry Smith was also a school-teacher in the township. One of the earliest physicians was Dr. Mollison. Those who have followed him in the practice of medicine in Greenfield are Drs. Eagan, Scott, Isaac Jackson, H. S. Chalfant, and Jacob Shelper. The present resident physician is Dr. Robert Miller. Very early in the history of this place two distilleries were in operation here, and a considerable amount of coopering business was carried on.

The incorporation of Greenfield as a borough was effected by act of the Legislature, passed April 9, 1834. The first burgess elected was Andrew Gregg. No complete list of succeding borough officers can be given, for the reason that the records covering the period of a quarter of a century from the incorporation were destroyed by fire in 1875. The list of justices of the peace elected for Greenfield since the office became elective have been gleaned, and is given below, viz.:

List of Lawyers & Physicians paying occupation tax

GEORGE BEATTY, Auditor Carroll Co.

The original lists include acreage, part of the section (NW, SE, etc), and the amounts of tax paid. These items have been excluded from this compilation for purposes of brevity. Anyone wishing to know those facts must consult the original. Also, for the purpose of comparing various names, the land tax list and the personal property tax list have been placed side by side, although they are separate lists in the original volume. The user should be aware of the variations in spelling which occur.

Personal property taxed at this time included horses (H), cattle (C), and bank stock (Shown in $ amounts). An extra tax was levied on gristmills, sawmills, tanneries, breweries, & brick houses. It should be noted that many names appear on the PERSONAL list which do NOT appear on the LAND list.

The land is designated by Range, Township and Section (R-T-S) in the lists, and may be located approximately from the accompanying map. All of the land in Carroll County was originally sold by the U.S.Government through the Federal Land Office at Steubenville.

CHICAGO:
J. H. BEERS & CO.

Martin Keplinger was born in Germany in 1754, and was consequently about six years old when he arrived in Maryland, where he was reared to manhood. He was married to Rebecca Wilson, who was born near Fredericktown about the year 1772, and to them were born children as follows: Rebecca, Elizabeth, Rachel, Leah and Catharine, the subject of this sketch. Martin Keplinger resided in Maryland for a few years after his marriage, and then removed to Fayette County, Penn., near Uniontown, where he died in 1828; his wife died in Loudon Township, Carroll Co., Ohio, in 1852.

Catharine Keplinger grew to womanhood in Pennsylvania, and was there married to Joseph Wood, who was born June 22, 1802, in Fayette County, Penn., where he was educated at the common schools. In 1832 they came to Ohio, and he here purchased the farm now owned by our subject, which comprises 160 acres; soon afterward he bought another tract of 160 acres. They lived in a primitive log cabin for some time, and then put up a hewed-log house. This farm Mr. Wood spent the remainder of his useful life in clearing and improving. He died in 1870, having been always a stanch Democrat. To Mr. and Mrs. Wood were born the following named children: Ellis, Rachel, Matilda, Sarah, Henry and Louisa (all deceased), Rebecca and Martha J., who both reside at home, and Mrs. Eliza A. Gotshall, who lives in Harrison County, Ohio. Mrs. Wood has resided on the old homestead ever since the year 1832, a period of over fifty-eight years.

SAMUEL JACKMAN, another of the prosperous, native-born farmers of Lee Township, Carroll County, was born June 1, 1855, a son of Samuel and Margaret (Jackman) Jackman. The grandfather of our subject, by name Richard Jackman, was a native of Ireland, whence he emigrated to this country when a boy, coming to Island Creek, Jefferson Co., Ohio, where he entered land and carried on farming the remainder of his life. His children were named as follows: Margaret, Jane, Mary, Joseph, Samuel and Susan. He was a consistent and influential member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in politics an active Democrat. His son, Samuel, father of the subject of this sketch, first saw the light June 12, 1813, in Jefferson County, where he remained until twenty-two years of age. His education was such as farmers' sons received in his day, supplemented by a course of reading and the private study of political and religious subjects. He was married at the age of twenty-two years to Margaret, born June 12, 1813, daughter of Thomas Jackman, of Jefferson County, and she bore him the following named children: Joseph, Elizabeth and Thomas B. (both deceased), Margaret, Mary (deceased), Samuel and Emeline (latter deceased). The father died March 9, 1885, and sleeps his last sleep in the cemetery at Harlem Springs; the mother died October 5, 1890; from early life she was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Samuel settled on the farm in Carroll County, which had been entered by his father, and which is now in possession of his son, Samuel, our subject. He was a liberal supporter of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Green Hill, and in his political proclivities was an ardent advocate of the Democratic party. He held various offices of trust in his township, and filled the position of justice of the peace nine years.

Samuel Jackman, whose name heads this sketch, received a liberal education in his native township, where his life has been spent. He was here married, January 30, 1884, to Sarah E., daughter of John P. Miller, of Jefferson County, Ohio, and by her has the following named children: Carena May, Thomas B., Samuel and Nora E. After marriage our subject and wife settled on the home place, where they have since resided, and he is engaged in farming and stock-raising, also to some extent in the breeding of fast horses. They are prominent members of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Harlem Springs, and, politically, his suffrage has always been with the Democratic party.

Martin Keplinger was born in Germany in 1771, and was consequently about six years old when he arrived in Maryland, where he was reared to manhood. He was married to Rebecca Wilson, who was born near Fredericktown about the year 1778, and to them were born children as follows: Samuel, Rebecca, Elizabeth, Rachel, Leah and Catharine, the subject of this sketch. Martin Keplinger resided in Maryland for a few years after his marriage, and then removed to Fayette County, Penn., near Uniontown, where he died in 1829; his wife died in Loudon Township, Carroll Co., Ohio, in 1852.

Catharine Keplinger grew to womanhood in Pennsylvania, and was there married to Joseph Wood, who was born June 22, 1802, in Fayette County, Penn., where he was educated in the common schools. In 1827 they came to Ohio, and he then purchased the farm now owned by our subject, which comprises 160 acres; soon afterward he bought another tract of 100 acres. They lived in a primitive log cabin for some time, and then put up a hewed log house. This farm Mr. Wood spent the remainder of his useful life in clearing and improving. He died in 1876, having been always a stanch Democrat. To Mr. and Mrs. Wood were born the following named children: Ellis, Rachel, Matilda, Sarah, Henry and Lucius (all deceased), Rebecca and Martha J., who both reside at home, and Mrs. Eliza A. Campbell, who lives in Harrison County, Ohio. Mrs. Wood has resided on the old homestead ever since the year 1828, a period of over sixty-eight years.

SAMUEL JACKMAN, another of the prosperous native-born farmers of Lee Township, Carroll County, was born June 1, 1851, a son of Samuel and Margaret (Jackson) Jackman. The grandfather of our subject, by name Richard Jackman, was a native of Ireland, whence he emigrated to this country when a boy, coming to Island Creek, Jefferson Co., Ohio, where he entered land and carried on farming the remainder of his life. His children were named as follows: Margaret, Isaac, Mary, Joseph, Samuel and Susan. He was a consistent and influential member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in politics an active Democrat. Samuel Jackman, father of the subject of this sketch, first saw the light June 12, 1826, in Jefferson County, where he remained until twenty-one years of age. His education was such as farmers' sons received in his day, supplemented by a course of reading and the private study of political and religious subjects. He was married at the age of twenty-two years to Margaret, born June 13, 1828, daughter of Thomas Jackson, of Jefferson County, and she bore him the following named children: Joseph, Rebecca and Thomas J. (both deceased), Margaret, Mary (deceased), Samuel and Lucinda (latter deceased). The father died March 8, 1889, and sleeps his last sleep in the cemetery at Harlem Springs; the mother died October 6, 1891; from early life she was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Samuel settled on the farm in Carroll County, which had been entered by his father, and which is now in possession of his son, Samuel, our subject. He was a staunch supporter of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Green Hill, and in his political proclivities was an ardent advocate of the Democratic party. He held various offices of trust in his township, and filled the position of justice of the peace nine years.

Samuel Jackman, whose name heads this sketch, received a liberal education in his native township, where his life has been spent. He was there married, January 20, 1876, to Sarah E., daughter of John F. Miller, of Jefferson County, Ohio, and by her has had the following named children: Carrie May, Thomas E., Samuel and Nora B. After marriage our subject and wife settled on the home place, where they have since resided, and he is engaged in farming and stock-raising, also to some extent in the breeding of fine horses. They are prominent members of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Harlem Springs, and, politically, his suffrage has always been with the Democratic party.

IRWIN W. THOMPSON, one of the wealthy and well-known farmers of Brown Township, Carroll County, was born June 12, 1836, and is a son of Robert Thompson. His life long days have been passed on the farm he at present occupies. He early began his business career, and his success has been most satisfactory as well as creditable to himself. October 12, 1887, he married Miss Corda, daughter of Robert and Mary Ann (Hildreth) Barnes, former of Iowa, but at one time a resident of Waynesburg, Ohio, latter of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson began their married life in the house which had been erected by Mr. Thompson's father, and which is one of the landmarks in the beautiful valley in which it is located. Mr. Thompson has just completed a large stock and grain barn, which is a model in its way, and is considered to be one of the finest in that section of the country. Mr. Thompson has been a life-long member of the Presbyterian Church, and has ever taken an active interest in its advancement, and has been a liberal contributor to its support, of which church Mrs. Thompson is also a member. Mr. Thompson also takes a lively interest in all movements looking to the improvement of his locality, and to the enhancement of the comfort and happiness of his neighbors. His farm comprises 430 acres, and is very productive under his careful supervision and management.

ADAM CLARK JACKMAN, for fifty-six years a resident of Lee Township, Carroll Co., Ohio, where he was born December 24, 1834, is one of the most progressive and successful agriculturists in this part of the State. His grandfather, John Jackman, was a native of Ireland, and came to the United States at an early date. He was married to Margaret Morton, and they made their first settlement in West Virginia, where they remained till 1802, in which year they came to the newly created State, Ohio, locating in Jefferson County until 1806, when they entered land now known as the "Cogsil Farm." The names of their children are as follows: Jane, Edward, John, Robert and Adam. The father died in 1830; in politics he was a Whig. Adam Jackman, father of the subject of this biographical sketch, was born in West Virginia, where his early life was spent, and in 1802 came to Jefferson County, Ohio, with his parents. He here married Mary, daughter of Isaac Miller, a resident of Jefferson County, and to this union were born Margaret, now in Canton, Ohio; Robert, in Waynesburg, Ohio; Isaac M., in De Kalb County, Ind.; Susan, deceased; Adam C.; Mary A., in Amsterdam, Jefferson Co., Ohio, and John, in Lee Township, Carroll County. In 1816 Adam Jackman moved to Stark County, same State, where he remained six years, and then came to Lee Township, where he passed the remainder of his life, dying in 1863, his widow following him to "the better land" in 1878. They were members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which Society, at Harlem Springs, he was one of the founders, and he held various offices in the same; in politics he was a firm Democrat, and before moving to Stark County he was elected justice of the peace; while in that county he was chosen to a similar position, in which he served six years; on his return to Lee Township he was re-elected, serving twenty-one consecutive years, and during all this long incumbency he never had a decision reversed.

Adam Clark Jackman attended the common schools of his neighborhood during winters, performing his share in the duties of the farm in the summer months. On August 27, 1856, he was united in the bonds of matrimony with Rachel, daughter of John and Sarah Robins, of Lee Township, Carroll County, and they have been blessed with the following named children: Edwin Janes, deceased; John Robins; Sarah Ida; Mary Alice, and Sherden Baker. The family are leading members of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Chestnut Ridge. Mr. Jackman, in addition to plain farming, pays considerable attention to stock-raising, and devotes some of his time to the breeding of trotting horses. His farm is situated about three miles from Harlem Springs, and is under excellent cultivation. In politics Mr. Jackman is a Democrat, has served his party faithfully, and has filled the office of trustee several terms.

JAMES A. LAWRENCE, another of the prominent and progressive young farmers of Lee Township, Carroll County, was born in Carroll County, Ohio, April 7, 1855, a son of Richard and Ann (Park) Lawrence. He received his education at the common schools of the neighborhood, and at the college in Harlem Springs, which he attended several terms. At the age of twenty he commenced teaching, a profession he followed in connection with farming for eight years. On April 30, 1877, he was married to Miss Mina M. born October 10, 1858, daughter of Charles and Mary (Parks) Oliver, of Trumbull County, Ohio. Mr. Oliver is a native of Holland, and while a young man he commenced a seafaring life, a vocation he followed much after coming to America, chiefly on the Great Lakes, but is now retired on a farm, where he is peacefully spending his latter years. After coming to the United States he became united in marriage with Mary Parks, who bore him twelve children, named as follows: William C., Jennie, Maggie, Mary A., Frank F., Mina M., David D., Emma, Edwin, Edward, Ella and Nettie. The family are all members of the Disciples Church, and in politics Mr. Oliver is a Democrat of the old Jacksonian type.

After marriage Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence settled on the farm which he still occupies in Lee Township, and where he carries on with well-deserved success agriculture in all its branches, including the raising of stock. Two children have been born to them, Mary Blanche, born January 31, 1885, and Homer Kingsley, born January 23, 1887. Mr. Lawrence and family are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Harlem Springs, in which he has held various offices, such as class leader and steward, and of the Sunday-school of which he is superintendent. In 1883 he was elected lay delegate from Harlem Springs charge to the East Ohio Conference which met at Canton. He has always been an uncompromising Democrat, but has never failed to command the confidence and esteem of his political opponents; for three and one-half years he has acceptably filled the office of township clerk, and has also served as assessor, two terms. In 1889 he was elected appraiser of his township, running sixty-six ahead of his ticket, the vote for governor, at same election giving a Republican majority of twenty-four. Well known, his many excellent qualities have endeared him to a large circle of friends, and he takes a just pride in the financial success his honest efforts have secured him.

R. G. RAMSEY, a highly respected agriculturist and ex-school teacher, of Fox Township, Carroll County, was born in Washington County, Penn., November 18, 1817, a son of Mitchell and Ann (George) Ramsey, both of Scotch-Irish descent, and natives of Pennsylvania. The father was reared to agricultural pursuits on his father's farm, and all his life followed husbandry. He was married in Washington County, Penn., to Miss Anna George, who bore him seven children—four sons and three daughters, viz.: R. G., James, Thomas, Mary, William, Christina and Ann Eliza. The father died in 1857, and the mother in 1882. Mr. Ramsey was a leading farmer of Washington County, Penn., and took an active interest in all measures tending to the public good, being recognized as a most useful, able and progressive citizen.

The subject of this sketch attended, in his boyhood and early youth, the subscription schools of his neighborhood, proving himself a diligent student and apt scholar; and his fondness for books and desire to drink deep at the "Pierian Spring" were so great that he would spend his evenings at study, often far into the hearing in the right ear, the left being also affected. The regiment was finally sent to Little Rock, Ark., where he was mustered out, August 13, 1865, and on the 27th of the same month returned home, where he resumed the labors of peace. On August 20, 1868, he became united in marriage with Nancy A., daughter of the late William Jackman, of Lee Township, Carroll County, who when a child of two years was brought from Ireland to Ohio, by his father, Henry, who became one of the early settlers of Jefferson County. The family of Henry Jackman were named William, Henry, Andrew, Mary, Nancy and Christian. The early life of William Jackman was spent in Jefferson County, where he was married to Rebecca Shannon, who bore him seven children, as follows: Thomas, Andrew, John, William, Nancy, Mary J. and Eliza. For his second wife Mr. William Jackman wedded Jane Boyd, and to this union were born Nancy A., Violetta and Christiana. The family are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, as was also Mr. Jackman. In his political relations he was first an Old-time Whig, and then a stanch Republican from the time of the organization of that party. He departed this life in March, 1864.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. William Drake settled on the farm in Lee Township, where they now reside. The names of their children are as follows: John M. (deceased), Sarah J., Jessie E., William D., Thomas B., Howard I. and Clement C. All the family are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in which Mr. Drake has been class leader for many years, also trustee and treasurer. Until within the past few years he always supported the Democratic party, but transferred his vote and interest to the Prohibitionists. He has served in various offices of trust in his township, and in 1869 was nominated for sheriff of the county; in 1888 he was nominated by the Prohibition party for sheriff. Mr. Drake has been exclusively engaged in agricultural pursuits, and is recognized as one of the progressive and influential men of Carroll County.

JOHN H. MOORE, produce dealer and grain merchant, Leesville, Carroll County, is a native of the county, born April 24, 1835, in Orange Township. His great-grandfather, Elijah Moore, was a native of England, and when young came to this country with his parents who settled in Maryland, where they followed agricultural pursuits. His boyhood and youth were spent on the farm, and soon after attaining his majority he was married to Ede Harris, by whom he had the following named children: James, Horatio, Mary, Elizabeth and Adeline. In 1815 Elijah Moore came to Ohio and entered land on which a portion of the village of Leesville now stands. He here died at an advanced age, and was soon followed to the grave by his wife, both being interred in the cemetery at Leesville. They were members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which he was one of the organizers in this section, and in politics he was a Whig.

James Moore, grandfather of our subject, was born in Maryland in 1797, and was eighteen years old when he came to Ohio with his parents. He was married when quite a youth to Precious Ann, daughter of Leslie Roby, a native of Maryland (a sketch of whom will be found elsewhere in this work), and to this union were born seven children, viz.: Ellen J., Attoway, Caleb P., William H., Thomas J., Mary J. and George H. During his residence in Ohio Mr. Moore was engaged exclusively in farming and stock-raising, and in 1837 he passed from earth, followed by his faithful wife in 1877. They were consistent members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in politics he was a straight Whig.

Caleb P. Moore, father of John H., was born in Maryland, where he learned the building trade, which he followed through life. He came to Ohio about the same time as his father's family, and settled near the village of Leesville, where he was a well-known and progressive citizen, held in much esteem by all. On March 12, 1834, he was married at Leesville, Ohio, to Sarah A., daughter of John Gidley, and

ITS PRESENT TERRITORY—ITS GENERAL FEATURES—ORGANIZATION—POPULATION—SETTLEMENT — VILLAGES — THE FIRST SCHOOLHOUSE OF THE COUNTY—SOIL FOUND HERE.

Present Lee Township embraces parts of original surveyed township 12, range 4 and township 13, range 5. Eighteen sections off the east side of the former were left in Jefferson County at the formation of Carroll County. Three rows of sections off the west side of the township (13) contributed to the formation of the present civil township of Union. Two congressional townships contributed in part to the formation of four civil townships as they now exist. Township 12 was originally known as Jefferson Township. The remainder was known as Rock Township for a number of years after the organization of Carroll County.

In March, 1833, the county commissioners of Carroll County made the following entry in their journal: "Ordered that so much of the townships of Clinton and Springfield as is included in the county of Carroll, be and the same is hereby erected into a separate township to be known by the name of Jefferson." At their June session the same year, Rock Township was erected and contained thirty-two square miles. At the March, 1836, meeting the entry made was: "After reading and considering the petition for the erection and alteration of several townships in different parts of the county the following is moved": "A township named Centre was ordered to be erected from parts of Washington and Harrison townships, including Carrollton; also a township named Lee was ordered to be erected from parts of the townships of Rock and Jefferson; also a township named Loudon was ordered to be erected from the balance of the said Rock Township and Jefferson Township." The line was also changed between Perry and Union townships at that meeting of the county board.

SETTLEMENT

John Jackman settled on Elk Horn Creek in this township in 1802 and was followed by Peter Albaugh in 1805.

Elkhorn Creek derived its name from Reynolds, proprietor of a mill and a log tavern at the road-side near the creek, as he had for a sign the antlers of an elk, each measuring over six feet in length. On account of this circumstance the place was known as "Elk Horn Tavern" and later the township was likewise named. William Albaugh used to relate how the wolves used to be very numerous and that very early he received $12 bounty for killing six of these animals in Lee Township.

EARLY SETTLEMENT

First Actual Settlers—County Seat Located—Pioneer Burials—Going to Mill—Building the Canal—First White Man's Grave—Various Items of Interest—Style of Living—"Johny Appleseed"—Early State of Society—First Still-House—Early Temperance Days—The Jail—The Courthouse—Population Decreased—Early Railroad Lines.

In his speech before the "Centennial" in Carrollton, William McCoy, a native of the county, gave a greater part of the facts herein stated on the pioneer settlement of this county.

The first approach of a White face near to its border (this county) was in 1761-2 when the Revs. Frederick Post and John Heckewelder—Moravian Missionaries—had penetrated the "wilderness" as far as the Tuscarawas Valley and labored with the Indians at three stations—Shoenburn, Gnadenhutten and Salem, Tuscarawas County.

Tradition informs us that about 1800 one Jesse Palmer, a hunter effected his settlement in Washington Township on the stream now bearing his name, being so called on account of this pioneer being the first to invade the wilds of the country for the purpose of making first settlement, and he chose the banks of this pretty stream for his log cabin. One account fixed Palmer's settlement on a part of section 16, later owned by William Miller, while another version declares it to have been farther up the stream on land later owned by Robert Huston.

About the same date John Jackman settled on land on the Elkhorn in Lee Township, later known as the Oliver Cogsil farm. These two are generally believed to have been the original white settlers within the present Carroll County, but just which one settled first is, and ever will be, a disputed question, but there was but little difference in the dates of their coming to what was then a "green glad solitude."

Immediately following came Jacob Gotshall, 1801; Peter Albaugh, 1805; Daniel Shawver, 1807; then Lucas and Solomon Stine in 1808; Adam Simmons, 1809 and others within that decade in the southeastern part of the county. The Downings came in 1805; Richard Vaughn, Moses Porter, 1806; Isaac Craig, Amos Jenney, William Thompson, James Hewitt, 1808; John Reed, Sr., Isaac Miller, 1809, all in Sandy Valley, extending from Pekin to Magnolia. Benjamin Knight, Samuel Dunlap, 1807, on the Conotton, near Leesville and New Hagerstown; also Joseph McCausland, 1807, in Lee Township; Isaac Dwire, John Coakey and William Croxton in 1808, near Carrollton and others along the road leading from Canton to Steubenville; also by Robert George, who settled near Scroggsfield in 1808-09, so that by the close of the first decade of the nineteenth century, considerable settlement had been made along the principal avenue of travel from the Ohio River westward through this county.

Pennsylvania, and the settlements on both sides of the Ohio river from the mouth of the Muskingum to near Pittsburgh.

In 1810 a class of twelve was permanently formed, with Bernard Lucas as leader, and the meetings which had been carried on for ten years previously at different houses in the town, were still continued, but with renewed vigor. In 1811 Bezaleel Wells gave the church a lot on which to erect a suitable building. Many of the large gatherings previously had been held in the old log court house. In 1821 the church building was increased by the addition of a large cross building which gave the church the name of the "old ship." In 1830 the church suffered a loss of membership of some ninety members that withdrew and formed the Fifth Street Methodist Protestant church. In 1854 the "old ship" was dismantled and the present edifice was erected and called the Kramer church, in recognition of the munificent gift from Allen Kramer, of Pittsburgh. The Kramer church has been the scene of many large and successful revivals, and has always been at the front in active Christian work. The Hamline Methodist Episcopal church was formed from the Kramer in 1844. The Thompson chapel was formed from it in 1868, by an amicable division, sixty-three members leaving to establish the new church.

Methodist Episcopal Church of Richmond.—About the year 1800, a young Methodist preacher by the name of Joseph Hall came to Ohio and married Miss Dillah Moores, daughter of James Moores, of Salem township, and settled on the northwest quarter of section 2, township 10, range 3, where Mr. E. Burchfield now lives. He preached occasionally at the house of his father-in-law, James Moores, afterward at the house of Stephen Ford and Henry Jackman alternately, until a small log church was built on the land of Henry Jackman. The first class was formed about 1808, of which the following persons were members: James Moores and wife, Elizabeth; Henry Jackman and wife, Christina; Joseph Hall and wife, Dillah; Stephen Ford and wife, Ruth; George Hout and wife, Christina. Judge James Moores was the first class leader. During the year 1832, a church (brick, 40x44) was built at Richmond. This building, with some alterations, stood until 1861, when it was replaced by the present structure (45x66, brick) at a cost of $5,000. Location, east side of South Sugar street. There are at present 265 members.

Mt. Tabor Methodist Episcopal Church.—Rev. James B. Finley first preached in that locality, at the house of Adam Jackman, in the year 1814, and organized the first class. Members of class: Richard Coulter and wife, Adam Jackman, Mary Jackman, Margaret Jackman, Jane Patterson, Isabel Whittaker, George Alban, Garrett Albertson, ——— Strickland, William Nugent, Richard Jackman, Jane Jackman, Jane Armstrong, John Crawford, James Crawford, Martin Swickard, Margaret Swickard, Jacob Vail, and some others whose names are not remembered. Richard Coulter was the leader of the class.

Preaching was continued at the house of Adam Jackman for twelve years. The first church edifice—a brick building—was then erected.

The first meetings were held in the school-house, but in 1838, a good, comfortable brick building was erected, costing over $1,000. This house is still occupied by the congregation. There are at present about sixty members, with regular preaching once a month. As there is no baptistry in the church, the ordinance of baptism is generally attended to in McIntyre's creek, some two miles distant from the church. In 1867 a Sunday-school was organized, with James P. Hopkins as superintendent. This school is still in progress.

The Christian church in Steubenville traces its origin back to Alexander Campbell who, among his early labors, founded a congregation in Steubenville. The first authentic records of the society are dated 1841, when the small brick church on Dock street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, was built. This was occupied by them for thirty years, when the church purchased the Second Presbyterian church building on Fourth, north of Washington. This is the building now occupied by the Christian church. The early trials of this church were severe, but hard, energetic Christian work has given it permanency, and it now numbers a membership of over 225. Rev. A. E. Bosworth is the present pastor. Connected with the church is a baptistry back of the pulpit, where the ordinance of baptism can be administed in full view of the congregation.

At Brilliant there is a prosperous church of the Christian denomination, which erected a fine church building in 1889. Its membership is over 150. At Toronto a society is formed for the erection of a church of this denomination, but no final steps have yet been taken.

Christian Church at New Somerset.—This church was first organized September 19, 1840, by Elder John Jackman, with the following members: Joseph Marshall and wife, Matthias Swickard and wife, G. H. Puntious and wife, Daniel Householder and wife, John Billman and wife, Hannah Zeatherbery, Jennet McGee, Emily Coffman and Mary Householder. The first church officers were Joseph Marshall, G. H. Puntious and Matthias Swickard, elders, and Daniel Householder, deacon. In June, 1841, Peter Householder was elected deacon. The first regular preacher employed was Charles E. Van Vorhis, for $37.50 for one-fourth of his time. He was succeeded by the following ministers or elders: John Jackman, Mahlon Martin, Eli Regal, Cornelius Finney, Thomas Dyal, J. M. Thomas, J. D. White, Mason Terry, J. A. Wilson, Robert Atherton, D. O. Thomas, A. Skidman, M. P. Hayden and others, who held protracted meetings for the church. The first church was built in 1841, of brick, 28x40 feet. The present membership is 100. The present pastor is J. W. Kemp. Of the charter members but two are living, Matthias Swickard and Mary Householder.

At Unionport, in this county, there is a Disciple church with a fair membership.

Mount Moriah—Regular Baptist.—This is the oldest regular Baptist church in Jefferson county. It was first organized at Steubenville, May 17, 1812. Daniel Woodward was chosen clerk, and Rev. Samuel Yateman was called to be its minister, which call he cheer-

The first meetings were held in the school-house, but in 1838 a good, comfortable brick building was erected, costing over $1,200. The house is still occupied by the congregation. The Christian church in Steubenville traces its origin back to Alexander Campbell who, among his early labors, founded a congregation in Steubenville. The first authentic records of the society are dated 1847, when the small brick church on Clock street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, was built. This was occupied by them for thirty years, when the church purchased the Second Presbyterian church building on Fourth, north of Washington. This is the building now occupied by the Christian church. The early trials of this church were severe, but hard, energetic, Christian work has given it permanency, and it now numbers a membership of over 125. Rev. A. E. Dunsworth is the present pastor. Connected with the church is a baptistry back of the pulpit, where the ordinance of baptism can be administered in full view of the congregation.

At Brilliant there is a prosperous church of the Christian denomination, which erected a fine church building in 1885. Its membership is over 150. At Toronto a society is formed for the erection of a church of this denomination, but no final steps have yet been taken.

Pontious and wife, Daniel Householder and wife, John Hellman and wife, Hannah Zeatherbery, Jennet Mathes, Emily Coffman and Mary Householder. The first church officers were Joseph Marshall, G. H. Pontious and Matthias Swickard, elders, and Daniel Householder, deacon. In June, 1831, Peter Householder was elected deacon. The first regular preacher employed was Charles E. Van Voorhis, for $12.50 for one-fourth of his time. He was succeeded by the following ministers or elders: John Jackman, Mahlon Martin, Eli Regal, Cornelius Fenney, Thomas Dial, J. M. Thomas, I. D. Wakeman, Mason Terry, J. A. Walden, Robert Atherton, M. L. Thomas, A. Shaw, M. J. Hayden and others, who held protracted meetings for the church. The first church was built in 1835, of brick, 36x45 feet. The present membership is 100. The present pastor is J. W. Kemp. Of the charter members but two are living, Matthias Swickard and Mary Householder.

At Unionport, in this county, there is a Disciple church with a fair membership.

Mount Nebo—Regular Baptist.—This is the oldest regular Baptist church in Jefferson county. It was first organized at Steubenville, May 17, 1812. Daniel Woodward was chosen clerk, and Rev. Samuel Vaneman was called to be its minister, which call he accepyears. Our subject's father died when he was only three years of age. He received a good common school education through his own exertions. At the age of thirteen years he began life for himself. In 1872 he was married to Aggie R. DuBois, who died in 1876, and to this union was born one child, John A. In 1882 he married Catherine Warner. Their marriage has been blessed with four children: Jesse, Albertha, Carrie and Blanche. He and wife are members of the Presbyterian church. In 1882 he was elected trustee of Colerain township, and has served in all seven years, and acquitted himself with credit to himself and constituents. He began in life without anything but now owns seventy acres where he lives, and a two-thirds interest in 129 acres with his brother. He is one of the leading citizens of the township and is well respected.

David Hawthorne, one of the pioneers of Belmont county, was born in Jefferson county, Ohio, January 24, 1824, and came to Belmont county when he was twenty-six years of age. She was born February, 1759, and emigrated to America in 1786, and first settled in Washington, Penn., where they remained until 1810. They removed to Ohio, settling in Jefferson county, where he remained until his death. Our subject's father was raised in Pennsylvania, and came with his parents to Ohio in 1810, and his father gave him 100 acres of good land, but it was all in the woods at that time, which he cleared into a beautiful farm. He was married to Martha Boggs, January, 1814. Their children are: Hugh B., William, Eliza J., Samuel J., David, Hannah, Mary A., Martha, Sarah, Margaret and John B., of these children, six are now living: Hugh, William, David, Mary A., Margaret and John B. The mother was born in Belmont county, 1792. The father was a soldier in the war of 1812, and served through the war. Our subject was raised in Jefferson county, receiving a very limited education in the pioneer log school, and after reaching his majority he attended school and finally began teaching, and followed that about three years. In 1849 he was married to Margaret E., daughter of Archibald and Elizabeth (Lemon) Major. They have four children, three now living: Martha E., wife of George W. Chandler, of Chicago; Rebecca J., former wife of W. S. Barton, who is now dead; Archibald M. and Adda V. The mother was born in Belmont county on the old Major homestead farm. Archibald M. married Mary Oxley. He and wife are members of the United Presbyterian church, likewise all the family. He served as justice of the peace of his township fifteen years. He now owns 119 acres of good land which is well improved, and he has placed all the improvements upon the same. He is a worthy citizen and representative farmer of Belmont county, and is well respected by all who know him.

In 1865 he married Sarah A., daughter of Abner and Mary (Dillon) Stillwell. The father was born in Maryland, and came to Ohio in a very early day when St. Clairsville was yet in the forest. He first settled in St. Clairsville, and for several years followed teaming for a living. He began in life without anything, but by hard work and close economy, he accumulated considerable money, and at one time owned over 500 acres of land. He lived to be nearly ninety years of age, a respected and honored citizen. To the union of Mr. and Mrs. McMillan eight children were born: Sarah V., Mary L., Ira S., Isaac N., Albert E., Ina B., Edith O. and Ethel E., twins. The mother was born and raised in Belmont county. Jacob was a member of the Society of Friends and of the Masonic order. She is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. He was an exceptional son. He came to this county in 1838 and located on section 16, where he lived seven years, then going to his native place, but in 1859, again making his residence in Belmont county. He was married to Ann C. Ecton, of Maryland, and they had eight children: John W., who married Nellie Davis, of Richmond, Va., and is a government clerk at Washington; Mary E., wife of John Dunn, of Warren county, Iowa; Hampton C., of Warren county, Iowa; Margaret T., widow of Samuel Wright, of Iowa; Fannie, wife of Berry Hammontree, a railroad superintendent living at Des Moines, Iowa; Howard, living with his parents. James A., the subject of this sketch, was married to Martha Jane Stewart, who was born August 4, 1843, daughter of William and Sarah (Evans) Stewart. In 1862 he enlisted in Capt. Charlesworth's company of the Twenty-fifth Ohio regiment, and seved three years. He was in the battles of Bull Pasture, Cross Keys, Rapidan River, Second Bull Run, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, etc. At Bull Run he was taken prisoner, and was confined two months in Libby prison and five and a half months at Belle Isle. At the latter prison he was lost to the search of his parents, but a brother, John, who was in the confederate army, found him in an almost naked condition, and assisted him to the Union lines. He was discharged at Hilton Heads in 1865. He was one of the last 500 men exchanged during the rebellion. Returning home he was engaged in farming, an occupation in which he has prospered, and now has a comfortable home. He and wife are members of Christ's church, in which he is an elder. They have three children: Harry C.; Hattie S., wife of William McKelsey, and Frank H.

One of the prominent early settlers of Belmont county was Samuel Dunn, who was born February 15, 1805, in Maryland. After coming to Belmont county he took a contract on the construction of the National pike, and after the completion of his work contracted for the supply of material for the repair of the road, and was overseer of a gang of men until 1850. He then settled in Goshen township, and purchased a farm of 108 acres two miles south of Belmont, where he passed the remainder of his days, dying in 1857. He married Catherine Vail and they had seven children: Nancy, wife of John W. Fields, a large farmer of Logan county, Kas.; Mary, wife of Joseph Henderson, of West Virginia; Jemima, deceased; Samuel, deceased; Huldah, wife of Robert W. Bone; Taylor, deceased; and Stephen. Stephen Dunn is now one of the prominent citizens of Goshen township. He was born in Union township, November 4, 1838, and was reared as a for fifty cents per day, and cradled wheat at $1 per day. By good business principles he succeeded, and now has 281 acres of valuable land, well improved. He gives considerable attention to sheep raising as well as agriculture, and makes a specialty of the Southdown breed. By his wife, above named, who was born in Ireland in 1805, he has seven children: Hugh, John, Randall B., Mary J., William, Emma E. and Margaret. He and wife are members of the Presbyterian church.

William Estep, M. D., one of the oldest physicians in the practice in Belmont county, was born in Washington county, Penn., son of John and Sarah Estep. The father was a blacksmith and farmer, in straitened circumstances, and at an early age William was called on to assist his father in the smithy. He had, however, when eight years old, decided to be a physician when he had grown, and he would assume that character in his childish games, and when called on to help his father he would manage to work so poorly that finally in exasperation the father drove him from the forge with an injunction never to return. He at once entered Franklin college and attended three years, when a lack of funds compelled him to stop his studies. He then worked awhile until he had money enough to complete his course and in the same way managed to gain his medical education. In 1840 he settled at Loydsville, and began a practice which has ever since continued. In this protracted period he has always had the confidence and respect of the community. He is now one of the directors of Franklin college. In 1862 he enlisted in September as surgeon of the One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Ohio regiment, and served two years, when he was compelled by sickness, terminating in heart disease, to accept an honorable discharge at Annapolis in 1864. He was captured at Martinsburg, Va., and was a prisoner of war for seven weeks. He is one of the authors of the law for the board of pension examiners, and he was appointed a member of the board in June, 1888. The doctor is a member of the Masonic order and was a member of the I. O. O. F. In his practice he has instructed many pupils, who have all made a success of their profession. Dr. Estep is a lover of fine horses, and has done more to introduce thoroughbreds than any other man in Belmont county. He has now a very fine imported Cleveland bay stallion, and has kept other horses, among them Sir Charles, two Morgan horses, a Norman, a Clydesdale, Hiatoga, Harry Clay, Bayswater and Judge Spofford.

Amos Fawcett, an influential farmer of Richland township, Belmont county, Ohio, was born in 1826, on the farm which he now occupies. The first of his family in this country was Thomas Fawcett, a native of Ireland, who came to the province of Pennsylvania in 1750, and thence removed to Virginia. He was the first to be interred in the Mt. Pleasant cemetery of Frederick county, Va. His wife was Martha Clevinger. Their son, Thomas, married Rachel Vale, and had ten children: Joel, Rebecca, Simeon, Levi, Nathan, Amos, Martha, Edward, Thomas, and a Thomas who died in infancy. This family was reared on the farm which the grandfather, Thomas Fawcett, set-in 1798. He was a farmer by occupation, and was engaged in the toils of pioneer life in Jefferson county among the first. Previous to leaving Ireland he was married to Mary Simpson, by whom he had ten children, all of whom are now deceased. He died about 1835, and his wife passed away about 1841. One of the sons of the latter was John Ekey, Jr., who was born in Ireland, January 28, 1785, and came to this country with his parents. He was reared in Jefferson county, and there became a farmer and prosperous in his calling. January 21, 1806, he was married to Nancy Riddle, a native of Jefferson county, who bore to him nine children, two only of whom survive. One of these is Thomas Ekey, now one of the leading farmers of Jefferson county. The latter was married in 1858, to Sarah Jackman, daughter of Adam Jackman, deceased, formerly of Jefferson county, and by this union he is the father of five children, Joshua M., Hamilton, Albert B., Eliza J., and Ella A., the last two of whom are deceased. Mrs. Ekey is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which her husband is an earnest supporter. In politics he is democratic.

Another son of the pioneer, John Ekey, was Andrew Ekey, who was born in 1791, in Washington county, Penn. He came to Jefferson county with his parents, and there was educated and reared as a farmer, an occupation which he followed through life. On August 31, 1817, he was married to Nancy Howden, daughter of Andrew Howden, of Washington county, Penn., and to this union was born nine children, five of whom are living. His wife passed away February 5, 1890, and the father in 1873, at the age of ninety-one years. Rev. John H. Ekey, a son of the above, was born in Cross Creek township, August 19, 1832. He was reared in Jefferson county and began his education in the common schools, continuing the same in the colleges at Richmond and Allegheny. At the completion of his studies he entered the ministry, and in 1859 he was licensed to preach. After acting as a supply for several years, he was sent to Pennsylvania in 1863, but two years later he returned to Ohio, and was subsequently on the circuits of Westchester, Deersville, Moorefield, Unionport, Finley Chapel, Warrington, Kent, Thompson and Finley. Since 1883, he has retired from ministerial duties, and has been occupied with farming. He has been an ardent and effective worker in the cause of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which he has been a member for over forty years. In 1864 Mr. Ekey was married to Emily Ricketts, by whom he had one child which died in infancy. The mother died in 1871, and in 1876 he was married to Maria Shull, by whom he had five children: Mary A., Andrew W., John B., Emma M. and Mabel B.

Martin Adams, who was one of the oldest inhabitants of the neighborhood, was born November 18, 1778, and died February 26, 1864, aged eighty-five years, three months and eight days. He bought his farm from the government in 1805, and moved to it March 25, 1806, and never removed from it until his death. He was a man of some note in his day, having served as justice of the peace of Brush Creek township for a number of years, and was for a while postmaster of Cope's Mill postoffice. He donated the ground (being a part of his farm) on which the Chestnut Grove church and cemetery are located. He had a distillery and horse-power mill in early times, and by selling liquor and through miserly economy all his life, had accumulated a large fortune, which was scattered at his death among impatient and dissatisfied legatees. He was never married.

Among the other old settlers were Thomas Gillingham, agent for Nathan Harper, Joseph Potts & Co., salt boilers, who were a company of Quakers from Bucks county, Penn.; Henry Emmons, on the property since known as Collinswood; Matthew Russell (father of Robert, John, Arthur and Joseph Russell), at or near Hammondsville. Thomas Adams, who came about 1810, and settled on section 27. Jacob Ritter settled near Monroeville, in 1810. Joshua Downard came about the same time. There is but one village in the township. It was laid out by Abraham Croxton. It was named Monroeville in honor of James Monroe, president of the United States. It contains one store, one blacksmith shop, one shoemaker shop, two wagon makers, one tannery and a population of eighty.

Croxton.—This is the only postoffice in the township. It is in the village of Monroeville, and was called Croxton in honor of the proprietor of the village, Abraham Croxton. It was established in 1836.

Island Creek Township was erected in 1806 out of Steubenville township, being one of the original five townships into which Jefferson county was divided in 1803. It contains thirty-six sections of township 7, range 2; also four full sections and seven fractional sections of township 3, range 1, of the original "seven ranges" surveyed by the government in 1785–6. It received its name from Island creek, the principal stream which traverses the township from west to east and empties into the Ohio opposite Brown's Island. We cannot state absolutely who is entitled to be named as the first settler of Island Creek township, but we know that the following may be justly entitled "early settlers," viz.: Isaac Shane, James Shane, Andrew Ault, Daniel Viers, Nathan Palmer, William Jackman, Philip Cable, Richard Lee.

Allikana, described previously, lies partly in Island Creek township. Toronto also lies partly in this township. In it are two postoffices, Island Creek, of about 200 inhabitants, and Jeddo, of about ten inhabitants.

Saline Township is situated at the northeastern corner of the township. Among the early settlers were William McCullough at the mouth of Yellow creek about 1800. Previous to this William Vantellburg had located near the present site of Port Homer. Joshua Downer was the first to discover salt in this township in 1806. Samuel and Henry

He was a man of some note in his day, having served as justice of the peace of Brush Creek township for a number of years, and was for a while postmaster of Cooper's Mill postoffice. He donated the ground (being a part of his farm) on which the Chestnut Grove church and cemetery are located. He had a distillery and horse-power mill in early times, and by selling liquor and through miserly economy all his life, had accumulated a large fortune, which was scattered at his death among impatient and dissatisfied legatees. Joshua Downard came about the same time. There is but one village in the township. It was laid out by Abraham Croxton. It was named Monroeville in honor of James Monroe, president of the United States. It contains one store, one blacksmith shop, one shoemaker shop, two wagon makers, one tannery and a population of eighty.

Croxton.—This is the only postoffice in the township. It is in the village of Monroeville, and was called Croxton in honor of the proprietor of the village, Abraham Croxton. It was established in 1832.

Island Creek Township was erected in 1808 out of Steubenville township, being one of the original five townships into which Jefferson county was divided in 1803. It contains thirty-six sections of township 7, range 2; also four full sections and seven fractional sections of township 3, range 1, of the original "seven ranges" surveyed by the government in 1785-6. It receives its name from Island creek, the principal stream which traverses the township from west to east and empties into the Ohio opposite Brown's Island. Alikanna, described previously, lies partly in Island Creek township. Toronto also lies partly in this township. In it are two postoffices, Island Creek, of about 200 inhabitants, and Jeddo, of about ten inhabitants.

Knox Township is situated at the northeastern corner of the township. Among the early settlers were William McCullough at the mouth of Yellow creek about 1800. Previous to this William Vantilberg had located near the present site of Port Homer. Joshua Dunlevy was the first to discover salt in this township in 1800. Samuel and Henry the extensive landowners and farmers of the county, was born at Roxylvania, Iowa, February 22, 1859. His father, Lewis W. Jones, a native of Ohio, was born about 1829. He married Mary Binns, a native of Pennsylvania, and a member of the Society of Friends, who died July 20, 1879, at the age of forty-nine. Three children were born to them, Luella, who died in childhood; Anna E., wife of Mahlon P. Hill, of Jefferson county, and Edward B. The latter spent his youth in the Mt. Pleasant schools, and graduated there in 1876, after which he entered the Eastman business college at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He was engaged one year in the First National bank of Mt. Pleasant and then returned to the farm, where he has since been engaged. He has a farm of 300 acres, and makes a specialty of breeding thoroughbred cattle, having a herd of twenty, partly of the St. Lambert family of Jersey cattle. Mr. Jones is a very progressive, intelligent agriculturist and has good grounds for claiming to be the pioneer in Jefferson county in the construction of the "silo" for the preservation of green feed in its succulent condition. Many persons have visited him for information and instruction in regard to this valuable contrivance. He is one of the foremost citizens in public affairs, is one of the commissioners of the Adena, Mt. Pleasant and Martin's Ferry turnpike, is a member of the Society of Friends, a Good Templar, and in politics republican. Mr. Jones was married June 14, 1883, to Lizzie Robb Chambers, daughter of Robert Chambers, of this county. They have two children, Mildred M., and Helen B.

William S. Kithcart, a leading farmer and stock-raiser of Mt. Pleasant, was born there March 12, 1844, the son of Cunningham and Jane (Dunlap) Kithcart. The father, a native of Pennsylvania, after coming to this state was engaged successively as a blacksmith, tanner and butcher, and then became a farmer, at which he was occupied until his death, June 4, 1876, at the age of seventy-six years. He was a member of the Presbyterian church. His wife, a native of Ohio, and a member of the same church, died September, 1883, aged seventy-seven years. Nine children were born to these parents, of whom eight lived to maturity. Their names are: Elizabeth A., wife of Daniel Parkinson; Joseph A., who married Martha A. Yost; Kate D., died in February, 1865; Sarah K., married John L. Barkhurst; Martha E., married J. E. Henderson; William S., James T., who married Mary A. Cole; and Mary E., wife of David F. Elliott, of Smithfield. William S. Kithcart worked on the farm with the other brothers until about 1880, when he moved to the residence he now occupies near the town, which is beautifully located. In politics Mr. Kithcart is a democrat, and the religious affiliation of himself and wife is with the Presbyterian church. He was married November 21, 1867, to Martha J. Reynard, daughter of Robert and Jane (Vale) Reynard, of this county, and four children have been born to them: Emma J., Lizzie M., Maggie F. and Robert R. Mrs. Jane Reynard, the mother of Mrs. Kithcart, died July 8, 1855, aged thirty-six years. She was the mother of the following children: Marmaduke, deceased; Martha J.; Ruth A., deceased; William E., of Martin's Ferry; lan) Host, born August, 1837, were her parents. Their children are: Jennie (Ely), William, Mary A. (Carter), Samuel, Homer, Bell, Marion, Maggie, Minnie and Eva. Mrs. Carter's paternal grandparents were. Samuel, born December 18, 1800, died November 4, 1889, and Janie Host. Four children came of this marriage: Henry, James, John, and Louisa (Becket). The maternal grandparents were: John and Janie (King) McMillan. They had ten children, six of them are dead; those living are Robert, Margaret (Gamble), Matilda and Ruth A. Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Carter are the parents of two children, Ruth A. and Cora A. Both Mr. Carter and wife are acceptable communicants of the Methodist Episcopal church, in which Mr. Carter has held several offices, being at present a steward of the same. He is a staunch republican, and a member of the I. O. O. F.

William M. Cope, a progressive farmer and leading citizen of Smithfield, Jefferson Co., Ohio, first saw the light of day October 22, 1829, near his present home. His father, Joseph H. Cope, was born near Brownsville, Fayette Co., Penn., in March, 1801, and moved to Smithfield, Ohio, in 1825, having previously married Rebecca Milhous, of Belmont county, Ohio, by whom he had seven children, viz.: Lindley, William M., Willits, Samuel, Benjamin W., Martha M. and Sarah, all of whom except Lindley, are still living. Mr. Joseph Cope became a leader in the community in which he lived, a man of decided talent, possessing a positive, firm nature, yet withal, a man of broad and liberal mind. He was one of the earliest advocates of abolition, and many a fugitive slave found a safe hiding place in his barns and coal banks. He was president of the Mount Pleasant branch of the State bank of Ohio, for nearly twenty years, and in 1864, originated and organized the First National bank of Smithfield, Ohio, serving as president of the board of directors until his death, which occurred in March, 1879. His father, Samuel Cope, was born in Chester county, Penn., and was one of the early pioneers west of the Alleghanies, having crossed the mountains when those with whom he traveled had to cut their way through the forest and build a road on which to transport their belongings. At one time, all the scythes and sickles used west of the Allegheny mountains came from his forge. He married Sarah Willits about 1799. They had seven children, all of whom are now dead, they were: Joseph, Rachel (Cope), Samuel, Dawsey, Lydia (Gilbert), Mrs. Jesse Vale, and Eliza. William M. Cope's grandparents on the mother's side, were William and Martha Milhous, both natives of Chester county, Penn. On coming to Ohio, they settled near Colerain, Belmont county. They had eight children: Vickers, William, Martha (now dead), Rebecca M. (Cope), Hannah M. (Hough), Thomas, Joshua V. and Mrs. Jane M. Watters. The principal of this biography received a fair common school education, and when eighteen years of age entered the academy at Mount Pleasant, which was then under the direction of Professor Jenkins. Here he remained for about two years. After leaving school, he taught, and worked on a farm for five years, at which time he became interested in Simeon^6 Aldrich Sen. date of birth and death, and wife's first name 'Nelly', are taken from or figured from tombstone inscription in Eddy Cemetery east of Hamilton, Ind.

The name 'Gaines' is from a Gaines Family Genealogy in a History Of Guilford, Vermont, which includes a Nelly Gaines born 1782. There are numerous marriages between the Gaines, Tubbs and Aldrich families. There is much similarity of the names given children born in Guilford, to that Aurelia and Richard Jackman gave their children; and, even to a Richard Jackman Tubbs named in Guilford. Sources of information to prove or disprove the name of Penelope Granger as the wife of Simeon Aldrich Sen., as shown in the George Aldrich Genealogy, are not immediately available.

The 1880 Atlas of DeKalb Co., Ind. has the reference, 'The earliest settler in the township (Troy) was Isaac T. Aldrich, who later became a resident of Franklin. In the year following (ca. 1837), Roger Aldrich, brother to Isaac, became a settler, and subsequently, Simeon Aldrich moved in'.

It would appear that the Roger referred to, as brother to Isaac, would be Roger^7 son of Roger^6. If so, this would make Isaac T. a son of Roger^6; and not a son of Simeon^5, as shown above.

Mrs. Orris Wise, Corunna, Ind. has prepared a genealogy of Aldrich Family in DeKalb Co. showing descent Simeon Sr., Isaac T., Jason D., William Edger and others, from information received from descendents now living there. All these pages here prepared, show Isaac T. as a son of Simeon Sr. and not a son of Roger. A copy of this material is being sent her, that she may make corrections or additions to the lines shown.

Water—Like the rest of Eastern Ohio it is well watered, both limestone and freestone springs abounding.

Timber—The prevailing variety of timber is white oak, but sugar maple, beech, walnut, locust, and elm are also common.

EARLY SETTLEMENT.

It cannot be definitely ascertained who was the first settler of Knox township. James Alexander came in 1796. Isaac White came in 1798, and James McCoy in 1799, but others doubtless preceded them. Baltzer Culp settled at New Sumerset in 1800. Michael Myers, Sr., settled on the west bank of the Ohio, below the mouth of Croxton's run in 1800, and John Johnson settled on Jeremy's run in 1801. Michael Myers established a ferry opposite Gambles run and built a large stone house on the west bank of the Ohio, where he kept hotel for at least forty years.

ELECTIONS.

The following document in reference to early elections in Knox township has been preserved, viz: "In conformity to an act of the General Assembly of the territory of the United States, north west of the river Ohio," entitled, "An act to establish and regulate township meetings," passed the eighteenth day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and two.

On Monday, the third day of April 1802, the electors of Knox township met according to law at the house of Henry Pittenger, and proceeded to make choice of a chairman, when James Pritchard, Esq., was duly chosen. The meeting then proceeded to the election of township officers, when the following persons were duly elected, to-wit:

Township Clerk—John Sloane.

Overseers of the Poor—Thomas Robertson, Jacob Nessley.

Trustees or Managers—William Campbell, Isaac White, Jonathan West.

Fence Viewers—Peter Pugh, Henry Cooper and Alex. Campbell.

Appraisers of Houses—John Johnston and J. P. McMillen.

Lister of Taxable Property—Isaac West.

Supervisors of Roads—John Robertson, Calvin Moorehead and Richard Jackman.

Constable—Joseph Reed.

At an election held "on Monday, the fourth day of April, 1803," the number of voters was sixty-four, and the following persons were elected to fill the respective offices in the township:

Township Clerk—John Sloane.

Trustees—William Stoakes, Thomas Bay and Henry Pittenger.

Overseers of Poor—Lodowick Hardenbrook and John Fry

Knoxville, although one of the oldest towns in this part of the county, is not one of the largest; its situation—removed from any large stream and without a railroad—has not been favorable to its growth. Present number of inhabitants, about one hundred and fifty. The main street of Knoxville is sixty feet wide, the others fifty feet. The lots are 60x120 feet.

McCOY'S STATION

Was originally named Shanghei, and was laid out by Lewis K. McCoy in 1857. Lots 50x100 feet and streets sixty feet wide. William F. Simeral, surveyor. L. K. McCoy's dwelling house and James Young's store house stood near the present site of the depot at the time the town was laid out, but Samuel Henry built the first house on the town plat after it was surveyed; it is now occupied by Levi Henry. The town at present consists of depot of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad; one church, Presbyterian; Terra Cotta works, Stone and Taggert, proprietors; one postoffice, Letitia Atkinson, postmistress; one saw mill, James Stone, proprietor; one planing mill, James Stone, proprietor; one dry goods store, James Stone, proprietor, one saw mill, William Stewart, proprietor; one shoe store, M. O. Peters, proprietor; one blacksmith shop, William Leatherow, proprietor; one wagon shop, H. Wilkinson, proprietor; one butcher shop, G. W. This village is situated on the west bank of the Ohio river at the mouth of Jeremy's run, in Knox township, Jefferson county, Ohio.

NEWBURG—SLOAN'S STATION.

Michael Myers, Sr., having been employed as scout by the Government he received in recognition of his services a title to the fractional section 25, township 4, range 1, on the west bank of the Ohio river. One hundred acres of this land he sold to George Myers, his brother, which in time was transferred to John Depuy, and in the year 1818, Depuy laid out a town called Newburg; lots 60x120, streets fifty feet. The first hotel in the place was kept by Michael Myers, Jr., a son of the famous "Over Mike Myers," the scout. The first store was kept by Joseph Kline, and the first blacksmith was James Toland. Newburg, although a noted steamboat landing, and even famous in some respects, never attained any considerable size until the construction of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad, and the establishment of a station at that point called "Sloan's Station." The town at present contains the following institutions, viz: one postoffice, A. C. Peters, postmaster; four churches, Methodist Protestant, Methodist Episcopal, United Presbyterian and Presbyterian; four physicians, T. O.

Fence Viewers—Joseph Reed, William Campbell and William Sloane.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES.

WILLIAM MOORE.—In presenting a history of the Moore family, we first give a traditional account of Benjamin, which is as follows: He was a baker's boy in one of the English seaport towns; was stolen and brought to Philadelphia and there sold for the passage money until he was of age. He was then presented an axe an mattock with which to begin his career in life on his own responsibility. He finally located in New Jersey, about four miles from where Mt. Holly has since been founded. This was over two hundred years ago. The land on which he settled was taken by what was then known as the tomahawk right. Here he begun clearing and improving his new habitation. That old farm still remains in the possession of his descendants. Next in descent was his son, Joseph Moore, born on the old homestead in New Jersey. John Moore, a son of Joseph Moore, follows next in order, and was born on the above named farm in New Jersey, in the year 1755, and located in Washington county, Pa., with his family in 1775. Cyrus Moore, a son of John and Bathsheba B. Moore, was born in New Jersey, November 1, 1783. He was reared a farmer, and married Sarah Horner, of Harford county, Maryland, in 1803. She was born March 5, 1779. They became the parents of the following children, viz: Mary, deceased, her husband's name was Blythe; Susan, deceased, she was married to a Blazer;

He was the justice of the peace for twenty-one years. The old family were Friends or "Quakers."

KENNETH MCLENNAN, son of Kenneth and Jane McLennan, was born in Columbiana county, Ohio, January 2, 1822. His education was obtained at the common schools and by his own exertions at home. In 1834, his father died, and he was cast loose upon the world to make his fortune as best he could among strangers. On the 23d of November, 1847, he chose for his wife Miss Angeline Cosper, of Wayne county, Ohio. By this union he is the father of twelve children, viz: Homer C., (deceased), Georgiana, Marietta, William N., Margaret J., Ida A., Martha E., Lizzie J., Lewis W., Nellie M. and Elihu J. His wife departed this life August 20, 1868. For a second wife he married Mary J. Peterman, of Holmes county, Ohio, November 13, 1873. They are the parents of two children—Bertha A. and Florence M. After Mr. McLennan's first marriage he located in Brush Creek township, where he yet resides on the upper waters of Brush creek. Here he owns a farm of 423 acres of land, and in all has 643 acres, most of which is in the township in which he resides. Mr. McLennan has been called upon frequently by his fellow citizens to hold the different offices of trust in his township, all of which he has cheerfully performed to the best of his knowledge and to the general satisfaction of all concerned. In 1851, he was elected justice of the peace, which office he has held worthily for twenty-four years. His father was born in Scotland in 1771. While in the old country he followed droving. He married Jane McLaughlin in 1800. They were the parents of eight children, viz: Daniel, Eliza, (deceased); Margaret, (deceased); Jane, Ann, William, Kenneth and Ellen. They emigrated to America in 1817, and located in Columbiana county, Ohio, where they remained till 1823, when they removed to Jefferson county, Ohio, and settled about one-half mile south of where our subject now resides, and in 1828, located on the tract now owned by him. As above stated, Kenneth McLennan, Sr., died in 1834, and his wife survived him until the year 1872, when on the night of the 24th of December her house, which stood but a short distance from Kenneth's residence, caught fire and was not discovered till nearly consumed and she perished in the flames. So ended the life of one of the oldest people of Brush creek, a hale, strong old lady of ninety-two years.

JOSEPH JACKMAN, son of Richard and Jane Jackman, was born in Island Creek township, Jefferson county, Ohio, December 10, 1814. His father was a farmer and miller, at which his son passed his early life, latterly, however, farming has been his chief occupation. When fifteen years of age our subject's parents removed to Ross township, where he grew to manhood. On the 14th day of October, 1847, he was married to Nancy Patterson, of Island Creek township. They are the parents of the following named children: John W., Richard H. and George. Mr. Jackman resided in Ross township until 1871, when he re-

William; Bathsheba, deceased, married a Boring; John, deceased; Dr. Joseph, of Athens county, Ohio; Sarah, married a Willis; Cyrus, deceased; Elizabeth's husband's name was Elliott; and Dr. Mordecai Moore. In 1816, Cyrus Moore and family arrived in what was then Columbiana county, Ohio, now the northwest section of Branch creek 17, Jefferson county, Ohio, and located on 160 acres of land situated in said section. He had entered this land the year previous to his arrival and employed a man to erect a cabin on this tract; save this there were no improvements. On this farm he passed his remaining days. He deperted this life in the year 1861, and his wife died in 1859. Our subject, William Moore, a native of Washington county, Pennsylvania, was born July 6, 1809; was reared a farmer and educated at schools common to those days. Married Eliza Lawrence, of Fayette, county, Pa., April 10, 1834. She was born February 22, 1810. They have but one child, viz: George L. Moore. In 1834, Mr. Moore came to his present location. He owns 574 acres of land, most of which is in Carroll county, Ohio. Mr. Moore and wife were members of the Disciples' Church, of which he has been an elder for forty years. George L. Moore, the only child of William and Eliza Moore, was born in Brush Creek township, Jefferson county, Ohio, March 28, 1835. He was reared a farmer and educated at Hiram College, and at Hopedale and Mt. Union schools. Married Ann Lister, of Washington county, Pa., November 19, 1856. She was born August 20, 1837. They are the parents of seven children, viz: Emma, who married Lewis Moore, William J., Frank C., Margaret A., John R., Eliza B. and Mary E. George L. and his parents reside in the same house. His business is farming and stock dealing. Cyrus Moore was a soldier in the war of 1812.

moved to his present location in Brush Creek township, where he owns a farm of 318 acres, formerly occupied by the Russell family. In October, 1840, he became a member of the M. E. Church, and his walk in life fitly exemplifies its teachings. His father, a native of Ireland, was born in the year 1777. In 1789, his parents emigrated to America and settled in Washington county, Pa., where they resided till 1798, when they removed to Island Creek township, Jefferson county, Ohio. They were among the first settlers of this part of the county. In January, 1803, he married Jane Jackman, a native of Virginia, by whom he became the parent of six children, viz: Samuel, Joseph, Margaret, Susan and Jane. Richard Jackman died in the year 1853, and his wife some ten years later. His eldest brother, Thomas Jackman, was a soldier of 1812.

John C. McIntosh, son of William and Elizabeth McIntosh, was born in Nairnshire, Scotland, in 1813. When seventeen years old he emigrated to America with Laughlin Dallas. After his arrival in this country he remained for four years in Allegheny, Pa., and from thence came to Jefferson county, O., where he purchased a farm of 120 acres, three and a half miles south of Hammondsville, in Brush Creek township. He married Jane McLennan, daughter of Kenneth and Jane McLennan, March 1, 1842. She was born in Scotland in the year 1812. They became the parents of the following children: Elizabeth, William, Kenneth, Jane (deceased); John, Alexander, Lydia (deceased); Mary J., Hugh F., James H., and Robert S. After they were first married they resided for six years where Hugh McIntosh now resides, and from thence removed to where his widow now resides, on the east half of section 33, Brush Creek township.

THE MT. TABOR STORY, CHURCH AND CEMETERY INVENTORY

Island Creek Township, Jefferson County, Ohio

Contributed by Hammond Crawford, 12703 Sheldon Road, Mantua, Ohio.

James and Sarah Crawford, early settlers of Island Creek Township, Jefferson County, Ohio, gave on the 17th day of April, 1828, the highest point of their farm, which they settled in 1796, to the Trustees of the Mt. Tabor Church for a cemetery. This land, one of the highest points in Island Creek Township, looks out over the hills of Ohio and West Virginia. On the same day they gave to the Mt. Tabor M.E. Church Trustees and their successors in office, Martin Swickard, Adam Jackman, Garret Albertson, George Hout and James Crawford,Jr., a tract of land across the road from the cemetery, for a church site, "which now use and occupy the meeting house erected on said premises." These two tracts of land were "on the road from Joseph Burson's to John Myers' mill on Island Creek" and were in Sections 29 and 30, Township 7, Range 2. The two tracts of land are contained in one survey, dated Nov. 14, 1827 and recorded on page 9, Jefferson County records. The deed from James and Sarah Crawford to the Trustees of the Mt. Tabor Church covers both of these tracts in the same paper and was signed by James Crawford and Sarah Crawford (with her mark) and was witnessed by John Myers and Abel Crawford in the presence of John Myers, Justice of the Peace; and was "Recorded May 14th, 1831, in the office for Recording Deeds in said County, in Book M, pages 523 and 524 * * * A. Sutherland, Recorder."

Nearly 90 years later, on Aug.4, 1917, the Mt. Tabor Cemetery Association was incorporated under the laws of the State of Ohio. All those years the Mt. Tabor Cemetery had been maintained by the membership of the Mt. Tabor congregation. Many of these members realized that their time on earth was reaching toward an ultimate goal and felt the need of looking forward to perpetual maintenance fund for the cemetery. Hence the Mt. Tabor Cemetery Association was incorporated and the following thirty members and three families, all of whom were descended from the pioneer families buried at Mt. Tabor, contributed about this time a total of $1,023.00:
Abel J. Crawford, Albert B. Ekey, Mrs Edward(Virginia)Taylor Crawford, Browning Welday, Rev. W.D. Slease, J.W. Crawford, Mrs Nelson Patterson, Charles H. Leasure, James Reed, Mrs Lucas McClelland, John T. Crawford, George H. Patterson, Mrs Laura McKinley, Frank McClelland, Henry Saltsman, Marcus McClelland, J.A. Swickard, Mrs. Nannie L. Van Tilberg, Mrs James Hewitt Crawford, Miss Lib A. Crawford, Edward Crawford, "Long Jim" Crawford, Rev. Thomas T. Crawford, Mrs Clyde H. Slease, Dr. Gregg, Mrs Cora Newbold, Fred S. Crawford, Mrs Mary E. Patterson, Miss Minnie Rogers and A.J. Watts.

Charles H. Leasure contributed for the J.R. Frazier family. James Reed for the Stephenson family and Mrs Lucas McClelland for the Burnette family.

The Mt. Tabor Story, Church and Cemetery Inventory

The Mt. Tabor Church was organized by Rev. J.B. Finley, in 1814,at the house of Adam Jackman. The first members were: Richard Coulter and wife, Adam Jackman, Mary Jackman, Margaret Jackman, Isabel Whittaker, Jane Rattison, George Alban, Garret Albertson, William Nugent, Richard Jackman, Jane Jackman, John Armstrong, James Crawford, Sarah Jones Crawford, Martin Swickard, Margaret Swickard and Jacob Vail.

The Trustees elected in 1917 were : Albert B. Ekey, Fred S. Crawford, J.T. Long, J.W. Crawford and Charles H. Leasure.
Those elected in 1951 were: Mrs Albert B. Ekey, Fred S. Crawford, John T. Crawford, Harry James Crawford, Crawford McMaster, Crawford Nixon, Hammond Crawford (President), Henry J. Crawford, Gwunne Mc. Nixon (Treasurer), Abel James Crawford, James Irvine, Clyde H. Slease, W. Blaine Crawford, Mrs Henry K.(Elizabeth) Shaw (Secretary), and Mary Louise Kemmel. In 1954 William J. Hale was elected to replace the late Harry James Crawford of Shaker Heights, Ohio, who died April 25, 1954. These Trustees with the exception of William J. Hale (a descendant of John & Jane Hales who lie buried at Mt. Tabor), are descended from James and Sarah (Jones) Crawford, Pathfinders in Jefferson County, Ohio.

The congregation of Mt. Tabor Church grew smaller through the years; as has been the case of so many rural congregations with the old families dying out or moving away. Finally the Mt. Tabor congregation, because of the inability to secure a minister, joined with the Richmond M.E. Church. The old church building was sold by the district offices of the M.E. Church and was moved away.

Most of the forests which greeted the Pathfinders of Island Creek Township are now gone. But the soil of Mt. Tabor Cemetery is still virgin soil and in it lie the ancestors of many of the great citizens of our United States today.

You will note from the inventory of the Mt. Tabor graves, that the known families having lots are: Crawford, Taylor, Slease, Hott, House, Phillips, Roberts, Simpson, Gregg, Saltsman, McClelland, McGrew, Montgomery, Ekey, Mitcheltree, Akey, Wyant, McLain, Groves, Hales, Jackman, Arnold, Patterson, Swickard, Miller, Burnette, Blue, Plummer, Stephenson, Watt, Shanton, Booth, Wallace, Armstrong and Arthur.

The Trustees would like to find out who are the living descendants of those buried at Mt. Tabor and to ascertain if there are others buried at Mt. Tabor whose graves are not known. They would like to identify the many unmarked graves at Mt. Tabor.

The Board of Trustees voted in 1953 to close Mt. Tabor Cemetery for burials-with the exception that any descendants of families buried at Mt. Tabor can be buried on his or her family lot, without charge for the grave, provided that there is room on said lot. The Trustees voted to sell lots in the old church yard and if used, will be maintained perpetually, if fund is established.

CIRCLE GREEN CEMETERY
Jefferson County, Springfield Township, Ohio

This cemetery is on Co. Rd 60 just south of intersection with Co.Rd 53, and north of East Springfield. I talked with Earl Rutledge, age 81 years, while copying the inscriptions. He is 81 years old and still looks after the cemetery. He has cared for it for the past 40 years and was wondering what would become of it after he was gone. Five generations of Rutledges are buried here. The church was organized in 1809 by Rev. Wm.Knox and was known as Rutledge M.E. Church. The first log church was used for 20 years. Fire destroyed the second church and in 1877 a third church was built. Thomas Rutledge and Robert Young each gave half an acre for the church and burial ground and it was deeded to John Kirk, W. Taylor and Wm. Rutledge, trustees. The Rutledge brothers came here in 1806. They were Thomas, Samuel and Daniel. Daniel was killed by a falling tree in Harleem. The charter members were: James RUTLEDGE, wife and children: John, William, James, Edward, Simeon and Jane; John KIRK and wife; W.TAYLOR and wife; Wm. SCARLOTT, wife and children: William, George, Richard, Mary and Ann; Alex. JOHNSTON, wife and daughters: Hettie and Rachel; Francis JOHNSTON and wife; James and Henry FORSTER and wives. Cemetery copied August 1964. Assisted by Richard Hetrick II, my grandson.

Hayesville--Vermillion Cemetery
NE 1/4 sect 22; E side SR 60 S edge of Village. The old part was given by John Cox, the founder of the village; several additions have been made. The town was laid out in 1830 and the cemetery was given about the same time. No record of burials is kept except a partial list of those who purchased lots in the newer additions. This is kept by the township clerk. Funds for its care come from township tax, and the sale of lots. The cemetery is kept well mowed. The following inscriptions begin with the north side which is the oldest part.

The year before Mr. Thomas and his family arrived at their new home, Peter Thomas, now a resident of Montgomery township, made a trip from near Cadiz, Ohio, through the forest, unarmed, accompanied only by a faithful watch dog, to the cabin of his uncle, Jacob Beam, on the Rocky fork, where the block-house had been built in 1812, and where his uncle had subsequently built a mill with one run of buhrs. He stayed all night at Stibbs' mill, below Wooster, and the next night at what was afterwards known as John Raver's cabin, southeast of the present site of Rowsburgh, the only house he found between Wooster and Beam's block-house. From the cabin on the Muddy fork, he followed horse trails, by the way of Jerome's place, until he reached the cabin of his uncle, which took one day. He is unable to point out the precise route, but remembers that he traveled hard all day, with his faithful dog at his side, and neither feared Indians nor wild animals. His brother, George, was at Beams' when the Ruffner-Zimmer-Copus murders took place, and helped bury the dead. In 1814 he was returning from Cadiz with his family, by the way of Odell's lake, when he took sick and died, and was buried there—his wife and children subsequently reaching the residence of Mr. Beam with their goods.

In the fall of 1814, John Coulter and Ebenezer Rice contracted with the State commissioners to cut a road on the old survey, from Trickle's cabin, at the east end of the present site of Ashland, to what is now Windsor, in Richland county—ten miles—for ninety dollars. The Trickle cabin was then deserted; Mrs. Trickle having sold it to Mr. Markley, who had not yet taken possession. When the road was cut, it became the duty of Melzer Coulter and Alexander Rice, then boys, to supply the laborers with food. On pack-horses, they passed down the old Portage road to near the Jerome block-house, and then took the Beall trail to near the present residence of James Newman, and then followed a path through the forest to the present site of Ashland. On one of those trips, while passing down the old Portage road, Alexander Rice found an axe setting beside a log, with the letters "U. S." stamped upon it, which had probably been left there by the pioneers of General Crooks. He took the axe home, and used it for a number of years; finally having it made into a wedge, which he yet has in his possession, as a memento of the days sixty years agone.

The territory along the branches of Mohican remained undisturbed during the fall of 1814, and emigrants in large numbers visited the country, to select sites for their new homes. A glance at the financial condition of this region, therefore, may be interesting.

The only currency in circulation among the pioneers of this region in 1814 was gold and silver, and that in very limited quantities. The supplies furnished the army of the northwest, kept a small amount of specie in circulation. But when the sums paid the soldiers for their services had been invested in small tracts of land, money became very scarce. "Necessity" is said to be the "mother of invention," and Pennsylvanians, Virginians, and Yankees, alike, were driven to "invention." Falling back to the common remedy for all evils—the constitution of the State—the pioneers held, that in consequence of the scarcity of money, they had the right to have charters granted for the establishment of a bank or banks by the legislature. Insisting upon such right, articles of association were drawn for the establishment of a bank at Mt. Vernon, with a capital of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, in shares of fifty dollars each. In December, 1814, articles of association were submitted to a meeting held in Mt. Vernon, and it was resolved that an institution, to be called the "Owl Creek Bank of Mt. Vernon," be established; and certain commissioners were appointed, to open stock books. Petitions for a charter were presented to the legislature, which was refused; and then the stockholders "went it alone," and planting themselves upon their assumed constitutional rights, they formed themselves into a company and es-

RICHLAND TOWNSHIP.

Position.—Geography.—Description.—First Land Entries.—Early Settlers.—First Frame Dwelling, First School-House, Mill, Church, Minister, etc.—Richland Center, or Alvarado.—Living Pioneers.—Population.—Property and Taxation.—Agricultural Statistics.—Politics.—Vote for President since 1840.—Biographical.

The township of Richland is the smallest but one in Steuben County, and occupies the southeastern corner. It is bounded as follows: On the north by York Township; on the east by Williams County, Ohio; on the south by De Kalb County; and on the west by Otsego Township. It is six miles north and south, and a little over two and a half miles east and west, therefore containing a trifle under sixteen sections of land, or nearly 10,000 acres. It has no lakes within its borders. The Canada Southern Railroad was surveyed and graded through the southern part of the township, but will probably never be built.

The first entry of land in this township was made by John Douglas Oct. 11, 1835, who entered the west half of the northwest quarter of section 20. The 31st of the same month John Kerr entered the southwest quarter of the same section, and Nov. 11, 1835, Robert Jackman entered land in section 30.

The first settler was Robert Jackman, who with his family came early in 1836, and built a log-cabin on the southwest quarter of section 30, this being the first house erected in Richland Township. H. E. Gordon came in 1836 and entered the east half of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 30. Besides these, the following came previous to 1840: Samuel Jackman, Samuel W. Scoville, Betsey Jones, D. K. Jones, James Beecher, John Douglas, P. Hoag, A. Doolittle, William Letcher, Henry Letcher, George Letcher, James Kelly, James Beebe, Samuel Leonard, Asa Aldrich, Edward Johnson, Asa T. Beebe and Francis Stevens.

He was married Feb. 14, 1838, to Mary Jackman, a native of Richland County, Ohio, born Sept. 16, 1818, daughter of Robert and Phebe (Vail) Jackman. After a residence of eighteen years in DeKalb County they moved to the homestead of her father in Steuben County to care for her mother, and after the death of Mrs. Jackman returned to DeKalb County and lived fourteen years; then moved to Otsego Township, Steuben County, where Mr. Aldrich died Sept. 27, 1881. His farm contains 115 acres, and he also owns forty acres on section 35. He was married Aug. 28, 1859, to Rosamond A. Walkins, a native of the State of New York, born Jan. 13, 1839, a daughter of one of Richland Township's early settlers. To them were born three children, but one of whom is living—Adelia. After his marriage he settled on the farm he now owns on section 24, Otsego Township, where he has 120 acres of choice land, all well improved, with a fine residence and good farm buildings. He has always taken an interest in the public affairs of the county, and has assisted both by his means and time in furthering all enterprises of benefit to the community. He was married in New York to Eliza Swift, and to them were born five children—George, Susan, Edna, Halbert and Rowena. Susan died in New York. The fourth year of his residence in Steuben County his wife and four children died. June 9, 1840, he married Elizabeth Johnson, a native of Otsego, N. Y., born Nov. 9, 1819. Since August, 1864, the mother has lived with her daughter in Fulton County, Ohio. Their family consisted of three children—Sarah died at the age of six years; Elizabeth is the wife of H. S. Persing, of Fulton County, Ohio, and Solomon. Our subject was reared in Steuben County, remaining at home till his marriage, Nov. 6, 1859, to Nancy Aldrich, who was born in De Kalb County, this State, Sept. 17, 1841, daughter of David and Mary (Jackman) Aldrich. After his marriage he settled on a farm he had previously bought in Richland Township, where he lived till April 1, 1872, when he bought his present residence on section 13, Otsego Township. He owns eighty acres of good land, well improved, with a pleasant residence and comfortable farm buildings, and thirty acres of good timber in Richland Township. In 1836 his father visited Steuben County, Ind., and bought land on section 28, Steuben Township, and in September, 1837, moved his family to it. The following year they returned to New York, but in 1840 came West again and settled on their land where both parents died, the father Aug. 21, 1846. Lucius E. remained on the homestead till twenty-three years of age. He was married Jan. 23, 1851, to Mattie Aldrich, who was born in Vermont in 1830, a daughter of Isaac T. and Lavina Aldrich. Her parents came to Indiana in 1837 and settled in De Kalb County, where they both died. For nine months after his marriage Mr. Crain lived in De Kalb County, and then returned to Steuben County, and in 1853 settled on the farm where he now lives, on section 21, Otsego Township, where he has a pleasant home. He is one of the representative citizens of the township. In politics he is a Democrat. In early life he was a member of the United Brethren church but is now connected with no religious society. His wife is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. They have had a family of four children; three are living—Charles T., Mary and Edward. Their eldest child, Jane, died at the age of eleven years. Charles T. was married Nov. 28, 1878, to Martha Langley, a native of Harrisville, Ohio, and has two children—Cora Bell and Anna M. Mr. Crain's grandfather, Elisha Crain, was a soldier in the war of the Revolution and was at the battle of Bunker Hill. He died in Chautauqua County, N. Y., in 1848, in the ninety-sixth year of his age.

David H. Davis is a prominent farmer and business man of Otsego Township. He was born in England, Feb. 6, 1820, and in 1840 married Elizabeth Lodge, also a native of England, born in 1820. In February, 1853, they came to the United States, locating in New York City, and after living about eighteen months in Pittsburg, Pa., moved to Portage County, Ohio, where they lived twelve years. In 1867 they moved to Steuben County, Ind., and Mr. Davis has since been prominently identified with the business interests of the county and one of the most active citizens. He settled on section 16, buying a large farm, and now owns 340 acres, mostly improved. His residence and farm buildings are built with a view to durability and utility, characteristic of the self and his family beyond want, and by his upright, square dealing life he has earned the good-will and confidence of all who know him. He is a member of Angola Lodge, No. 236, F. & A. M., and to the teachings of the ancient and honorable Masonic order he "squares" his life.

Robert Jackman, the first settler of Richland Township, Steuben Co., Ind., was born in Ireland in 1785. When he was about five years of age his parents came to the United States and settled in Jefferson County, Ohio, where they spent the rest of their lives, and where he was reared and married in 1808 to Phebe Vail, a native of New Jersey. Not long after their marriage they moved to Richland County, Ohio, and March 7, 1836, came to Steuben County and bought for himself and sons 640 acres of land in the southwestern part of the township, making his residence on section 30. He was an energetic, enterprising man and made a fine farm of his land. He was perfectly honorable and won many friends. Coming as he did when the county was inhabited by Indians, he by his upright dealing with them won their confidence and had many friends among them. He died in 1851 while on a visit to his old home in Richland County, aged sixty-six years. His wife survived him many years and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Aldrich aged eighty-two years. They had a family of twelve children, nine of whom grew to maturity; all but one married and had families. The sons are all dead. Four of the five daughters are living—all widows—Mrs. Lydia Hill, of Montgomery County, Ohio; Mrs. Margaret Johnson, of Richland Township; Mrs. Mary A. Aldrich, of Otsego Township, and Mrs. Jane Sanders.

Andrew Jackson was born in Stark County, Ohio, Dec. 3, 1829, a son of John and Orpha (Watson) Jackson. His father died about 1831 and his mother twenty-seven years later. His mother married a man by the name of Asa Church, and moved from Stark County to Crawford County, and then to Wood County, thence to Williams County, Ohio, where she died. She was the mother of four boys by her last husband. When he was two years of age he was taken into the family of Peter Boyer, and remained with them till about fourteen years of age. Peter Boyer moved to De Kalb County, Ind., in the year 1836, and settled in Franklin Township, where he and his wife died. Andrew Jackson endured all the hardships that were incident to the earlier settlers of our now beautiful county. He did not wear shoes until after he was ten RICHARD JACKMAN was a pioneer of Steuben Co. Indiana, locating there in 1835, on section 25 of Otsego Tp. Here he procured 160 acres of Government land and commenced to carve a home out of the wilderness. His deed to land being signed by President Van Buren. He and his father making the first trip on horse back. Indians roamed the woods at that time and were here for two or three years before they moved farther west. Game was plentiful in those days, such as deer, bear and wild turkeys, squirrels and fur bearing animals. About all one needed to procure meat was a gun. But other supplies were different, to go to Ft. Wayne on a shopping trip in those days was no small task, and a trip to Mill, which required from 3 days to a week, over a trail blazed through the woods. Sometimes mud was axle deep to add to the discomforts of the trip. He took apple seeds in his pocket from Ohio with him, from which he planted a nursery on his farm, from which nearly all the orchards in the community were started. He also had the first cider mill in the neighborhood. A great many of their supplies were homemade, for instance, in the spring, of the year when the sap was rising, in maple trees he would go to the woods and tap the trees, collect the sap in troughs, dug out of a section of a tree, then carried to a boiling place and boiled down in large kettles. to a syrup and then taken to the house and made into sugar, which made an article fit for a king. Making applebutter in the fall was a job much enjoyed by the youngsters. Someone in the neighborhood usually had a copper kettle, holding a barrel or so, that was brought into use for naking the applebutter. The Cider was put into this large kettle and boilded down to the right point and then apples were put into thicken it and boiled and stired until it was pronounced done. Then was removed from the fire and put into jars for future use. The women spun the wool or flax and wove the cloth to make the clothes for the family, silk being unheard of. The home was not complete in those days without a spinningwheel and loom. Nature had provided so much that ~~this~~ their needs were few and they made use of independence. It takes men of iron nerve to pioneer under such conditions, but Richard Jackman was such a man, of marked ability and sterling qualities. Besides assisting his children to acquire homes, he owned at his death 245 acres of good land, the old home being well improved.

Their wants were few and their needs were less
And few ever really knew distress
But should it come as sometimes would
They always found the neighbors good.

Nature here in the wilderness,
Had bounties we do not possess,
And the hand of man ~~as had~~ has bout destroyed
The God given things our fathers enjoyed
And twill be written history,
We've helped carve our destiny.

Our needs are about the same I'd say
As they were back in that early day
But our wants by far exceed
The things we~~r~~ mortals really need.

JACKMAN

has since lived here. He was married in 1856 to Margaret A. Taylor, a native of Stark County, Ohio, born in 1833, daughter of John Taylor, who settled in De Kalb County in 1848, and in 1865 moved to Cedar County, Iowa, and subsequently moved to Carroll County where he died. Mr. and Mrs. Jackman have had six children; but two are living—Margaret Ella and Charles F. A daughter, Sarah F., died in July, 1879, aged twenty-two years. The others died in early childhood. Mr. Jackman has a pleasant home on section 1, Smithfield Township, which he purchased in 1878. He is one of the most successful and influential farmers in the township, and is a public-spirited, liberal citizen, doing all in his power toward the promotion of enterprises of public benefit. His eldest sister, Mrs. Sarah Boyer, is the widow of Joseph Boyer, who died in 1881. She has five children—Edward H. and Oliver, in Kansas; Cyrus C., in Franklin Township; Alma Celestia, wife of William Boyles, of Wilmington Township; Electa L., wife of Walter Thompson, of Steuben County.

Wesley Jackman was born in Carroll County, Ohio, in 1827, a son of Edward Jackman. In 1837 Edward Jackman came to De Kalb County, accompanied by his brother Robert, and entered 440 acres of land on sections 17 and 18, Franklin Township, and 160 acres on section 12, Smithfield Township. He then returned to Ohio, and in 1840 moved with his wife and nine children, and settled on the east half of his land on section 18, Franklin Township, where he lived till his death in 1848. His wife died Jan. 1, 1855. One son, John, was married in Ohio, but followed the family to Indiana in the fall of 1840. Five of the ten children are living—Sarah, widow of Joseph Boyer; Cyrus resides on the homestead in Franklin Township; Wesley and Edward M. in Smithfield; and Adam C. in Grand Rapids, Mich. Wesley Jackman settled on the land entered by his father in Smithfield Township in April, 1853, and now has one of the finest farms in the county. He was married to Sarah M. Baxter, daughter of Moses Baxter, of this township. They have had eight children; but seven are living—Edith L., a teacher in the normal school at Mitchell, Ind.; Mary E., a teacher; Florence V., teaching in the State Normal School of Alabama; Charles S. and Harry E. (twins); Minnie A. and Addie. Florida V., a twin sister of Florence, died March 4, 1881, at the age of twenty-two years. She was at that

Question

How can I view and print the maps on Ancestry.com?

Answer

To view the maps in the Ancestry.com Map Center please click here. You can also acce Center by clicking on the Search Records tab and then selecting the Ancestry Map Cen the Reference & Finding Aids heading on the Browse Records column on the right.

The steps for printing our maps will differ depending upon the viewer you are using. The for viewing the Images Online (such as the maps in our Map Center) are by either usinc plug-in viewer or the default HTML viewer which does not require any additional softwa Printing using the MrSID viewer is easy. Simply right click your mouse on the image and Print Image option from the menu that appears. Once the print option is selected, a prin Simply choose the options you require and click OK.

Within the Print screen there should also be a Properties option for your printer. Within t

When using the HTML viewer there are three simple options for printing:

1. Use the zoom feature to get the image in the desired size. Once the image is large e Ctrl and P together on your keyboard. This will print the image as it appears on the scre using a Macintosh you will need to click the Apple and P.
2. You can also print the image using the print options from your internet browser. Simp and then Print. This will print out the entire web page, including the image.
3. You can also right click the image and select Save Picture As to save the image as a jpeg. This can then be opened in a separate graphics program and printed from there.

PLEASE NOTE: If you are experiencing errors printing from the Images Online you will update the drivers for your printer. This can typically be done for free by going to the we printer manufacturer. If you are using an HP printer, for example, you download the new

Dear Caroline,
I am trying e-mail again and hope there are no viruses. I scan my computer for viruses almost on a daily basis now.
Thank you for your thoughts about our family. My husband passed away in Dec 9 after spending three entire months in the hospital. He suffered a lot but they did keep him comfortable with morphine. They knew his case was terminal and did not think "addiction". Nevertheless, he did suffer until the very end. I used to drive the 25 miles to see him every day, but for the last three weeks I rented a motel unit and stayed right in the town close to the hospital. I would stay at the hospital most of the day, feeding him whatever little food he could manage. The last week he was only getting intervenous as he could not swallow, but I would wet a cloth in cold water and he loved sucking on that. In a way it was a blessing to see him go as now I know there is no more suffering for him. The children were good. One or another would come and take me out for supper almost every day. I could eat at the hospital, but the food does get tiring after a while.
Now I am settling alone in my house and beginning to take up my interests again. I have one of my sons living next door and two others within twenty miles.
Have you thought any more about hunting for the Rensches overseas? Did you ever find the ship on which they came over on? I am tempted to try and explore that area if I can get a clue or two. Old John Rensch must have come to the States about 1836-39. If you get clues on this aspect, let me know, please.
I hope all your family are doing well, as well as you and your husband.
Love, cousin Marie

Subject: Bits & Pieces

Hi,

My email is working right again, I think. Our provider made some major changes recently and we had a lot of trouble getting mail in or out, even after calling them, their system was still down periodically while they completed the change-over. Anyway, here's the first installment of our news. Enjoy.

Hard to believe it's been two months since we were on the East Coast. Thanks to Rick and Jamaine, we were able to go. Rick just got a new job in Nov. and he and Jamaine couldn't use their time-share, so they offered it to us. (He moved to a different law firm as Network Administrator, and he likes it better.)

We flew to Orlando and saw nothing of Disney even though we stayed within a couple miles of those attractions. Instead, we drove to Key West for a couple days, and now we can say we have been to the Northwestern-most and Southernmost Points of the continental states. We had a wonderful time, and the camera monster (Bob got me a digital camera for Christmas – thus creating the monster) worked her magic getting some good shots. We also had a wonderful time with my sister and her husband; haven't seen each other in 20+ years. We all went to St. Augustine for a day and spent another day touring Cape Canaveral (Kennedy Space Center), topped with viewing an "unscheduled" Atlas launch that evening – believe it! We didn't know it would occur until the day before, and it just happened to be on one of the days we could be with them. Talk about Luck! We did miss seeing the Everglades and the Key Deer, but we ran out of time.

From Orlando, we Amtrakked to DC and stayed in Alexandria with Jewel at her new apartment for a couple days. We played tourists in Old Town Alexandria, the DC Zoo, and Arlington Cemetery. We glimpsed the Pentagon at one of the metro stations and no snapshots allowed. Jewel's condo apartment (she's sharing it with another young woman so they both can afford it) is really nice. It's on the 3rd floor with more window space than her previous apartment and a good view, an L-shaped living-dining room, 2 baths, and a deck. Her commute to work is usually about the same time.

Next we Amtrakked to Newark and spent a couple days with Rick and Jamaine. Jamaine and we went to NY, got reduced-price tickets, met Rick after work, went to dinner, and saw Phantom of the Opera on Broadway. Really good, and I don't usually like opera. None of us had seen it before.

You asked about their house. It's an older (1926?) 2-story with basement and attic in a quiet neighborhood about 20 minutes from Newark. An enclosed porch extends across the front of the house. A wide, squared archway separates the living and dining rooms on the main floor, and the kitchen looks out on the back yard and driveway at the side of the house. A typical stairway along one end of the living room leads upstairs to 3 bedrooms (one is very small) and a bath. The basement and attic are unfinished.

They decided to get rid of the wallpaper downstairs, up the stairway, and in the upstairs hallway, take up the carpet and refinish the hardwood floors, and replace the linoleum in the kitchen with tile – all this before they moved in. So in October we helped them strip the wallpaper, patch and sand the walls (lots of poorly patched places were hidden by the paper), and painted. We also helped Rick replace the bathroom sink upstairs and install a ceiling vent fan. Then on the day we left, we woke up to an old valve spraying water over the bathroom – and the walls Bob just fixed – and leaking through the bathroom floor into the kitchen and into the basement. We rushed around getting things under control and new parts to get the sink installed before we left. Since then, they hired ceiling work and floors refinished or replaced, and they finished most of the painting (warm tones of beige and taupe with dark trim). Rick cut and put up molding around the ceiling of their dining room. That pretty much took care of their planned finances for getting the house and making some changes. They agreed it was lots more work than they anticipated

How are Lisa and Scott doing with their new house? It sounds like a wonderful spot. The house we have now was too much for the elderly lady we bought it from to keep up, so we can understand and have full empathy.

I'm glad Fritz and Beth found a new place for Lucky, at least temporarily. You have such great kids!

Love,
Jan

I appreciate the sponsorship and the encouragement. I've got a lot of training to do, but fortunately, I enjoy riding, so it's kind of like having a job at the candy factory as a taster.

Meijer - yarn ?
Benadryl ?

The ride today wasn't very enjoyable, though. We had a lot of wind (15-20), and it was a bit chilly at the start. We cut it a little short (38 instead of the planned 52), but I still feel I got a good workout. The forecast doesn't look good for tomorrow, but I'll still try to get some miles in on the local trail.

I hope the weather will improve by next weekend....

Again, thanks for the support and encouragement!

John,

On this list I do suggest to use the text Euro in stead of the symbol €, because it will be readable whatever the configuration of the reader's keyboard has.

When I push on the keys AltGr+E then I obtain the symbol €
But I do have a keyboard with the AZERTY layout, adapted for use in the Belgium + French/Dutch context

If you push AltGr+5 you will probably obtain the same result. (or AltGr+4 in the UK I think).

Alt +0128 produces always the symbol €, IF available on the keyboard. An for Unicode this is U+20AC.

For more info, see: http://www.microsoft.com/typography/faq/faq12.htm, but also http://www.terrapin.co.uk/euromain.html (for the info, utilities are probably outdated).

When I use Alt+5, as now, it will be displayed as ? (question mark), Alt+4 as ?, AltGr+E as € (Euro symbol) and Alt+0128 as € (Euro symbol) on my PC.

I think that the two question marks will not be displayed in the two first cases for those in outside Europe.

Rev. Samuel Stone son of John Stone, a freeholder of that place, was born in Hertford Co Herts (usually at that time sounded Hartford); bapt. July 30, 1602 in the church of All Saints; entered at Emmanuel College, Cambridge 1620; A.B. 1623; Asu. 1627. Recent discoveries show that a Samuel Stone probably this one was curate at Stisted, Co. Essex, near Chelmsford from June 13, 1627 to Sept 13, 1630. He came to New England with Colton, Hooker and other men of note in the "Griffin", arriving at Boston Sept 4, 1633; chosen Teacher of the Church at Cambridge Oct 11, 1633; freeman Mass. May 14, 1634; removed to Hartford 1636, where he was an original proprietor, and in 1639 his home lot was on the north bank of the Little River, between those of Rev. Thomas Hooker and Elder William Goodwin. He served as chaplain to the troops under Capt. Mason in the Pequot War 1637. His wife died 1640, before Nov 2 or 3, when Mr. Hooker mentions her death in a letter to Rev. T. Shepard, saying that she "smonked out her days in the darkness of melancholy". After Mr. Hooker's decease he was the sole pastor of the First Church until his death; inv. £563-1.

JOHN STONE

John Stone s of Samuel. John Stone (s of Rev. Samuel and his first wife) graduated H.C. 1653; he had no commencement part when his class took their second degree, having perhaps previously gone to England where he received the degree of Mch? from the University of Cambridge. After the Restoration a "Mr. John Stone" was silenced at Hellingly in Sussex. "Was this the graduate?" His name was starred on the College catalogue before 1700. Rev. Ezekiel Rogers in his will Apl 17, 1660 mentions his "loving nephew" Mr. Sam'l Stone of Conn. and his son John.

SAMUEL STONE

Samuel Stone s of Rev. Samuel & Elizabeth (Allen) was at Harvard for a time about 1659, but left before graduation. He was colleague with Rev. Gershom Bulkeley at Wethersfield 1666-9, and again 1676; he also preached at Simsbury and Middletown, and perhaps other places, but "fell into intemperate habits, was excommunicated from the Church and wasted his whole estate". He never married; died Oct 8, 1683; "he was among his companions first at one and then at another taverne, and thence went in the evening to a friends' house (that of Henry Howard who m Sarah Stone) when his discourse was very bitter and offensive to some present, but going thence, the night being very dark, was found the next morning dead in the little River that runs through the town, having missed the bridge. He fell down upon the Rocks, and thence rowled or some way

ANCESTRY AND DESCENDANTS OF REV. JOHN WILSON OF BOSTON, MASS.

The name Wilson being of patronymic origin, it is evident that numerous distinct family lines bearing the name were founded in England at various times and places by individuals in no degree related; and as hereditary family names did not become in vogue until about the reign of Edward I. (except among the nobility and landed families), it is not likely that any Wilson family was permanently established, bearing the name continuously, until toward the close of the reign of the above sovereign (circa A.D. 1300).

The name is found in nearly all the counties of England. It is quite rare, however, in the counties south of the Thames and Severn, but is very common in northern England, particularly in the counties of Cumberland, Westmoreland, and York. (Guppy's "Homes of Family Names," pp. 15, 65, 572; Lower's "English Surnames" (1842 edition), pp. 17–19, 97.) Many different coats of arms have been used by various Wilson families; but a wolf in some form is generally to be found in the arms of the Wilsons of England. (Burke's "General Armory," pp. 1119–1121.)

Among the Wilson families of northern England there was one established at a remote period at Penrith, co. Cumberland. The parish registers of Penrith, which begin in 1556, show over 120 entries of the name between that date and the year 1600; so it seems evident that the family had been located there continuously for several generations previous to the beginning of the registers. (Watson's Penrith Registers, pp. 106, 107, 125.)

1. William[1] Wilson of Penrith, co. Cumberland, born probably within a decade of 1490, is the earliest ancestor yet known to whom an unbroken line can be traced in the family herein treated. He was father of

2. William[2] Wilson, gent., born about 1515, who removed from Penrith and settled at Welbourn, co. Lincoln. He acquired considerable estate, and on March 24, 1586, had confirmation of the following coat of arms, and grant of a crest, by William Flower, Norroy king of arms: Arms, per pale argent and azure three lion's gambs erased fessways in pale counterchanged; crest, a lion's head argent guttée de sang. He died at Windsor Castle, co. Berks (where his son William was prebendary), Aug. 27, 1587, and was buried in the chapel of St. George, Windsor Castle, where a monument was erected to his memory. (Burke's "General Armory," p. 1120; Ashmole's "History and Antiquities of Berkshire," p. 309; Register, ante, vol. xxxviii, pp. 306–7, and vol. lii, p. 144; and Harleian MS. 1507, fol. 20.) The name of his wife has not been learned.

Children:

3. i. William,^{3} b. about 1542.

ii. Alexander, b. about 1545; a merchant tailor of London; m. (licensed Nov. 3, 1573) Catherine, dau. of John and Elizabeth (Grindall) Woodhall, and sister of Isabel Woodhall, who m. his brother, Rev. William^{3} Wilson; she d. about Dec., 1583, leaving three children. (Register, ante, vol. xxxviii, p. 302, and vol. xlii, p. 174; Harleian Soc., vol. xxv, p. 57.)

iii. Mary, b. about 1550; m. Rev. Guy Briscowe (son of Edward Briscowe of Crostanaby, co. Cumberland), a graduate of Queen's College, Oxford, B.A. 1569, M.A. 1572, rector of Halstow, co. Kent, 1577–1583, rector of Sundridge, co. Kent, from 1583 until his death in 1594. His wife and eight children survived him, of whom a son, William, b. about 1590, emigrated to New England in 1639, and settled in Boston, leaving, with other issue, a son Benjamin. (Alumni Oxoniensis, vol. i, p. 183; Register, ante, vol. xlii, p. 174; Pope's "Pioneers of Mass.," p. 70; and will of Rev. John^{4} Wilson of Boston, Register, ante, vol. xvii, p. 343.)

3. Rev. William^{3} Wilson, D.D., born about 1542, graduated at Merton College, Oxford, B.A. 1564, M.A. 1570, B.D. 1576, D.D. 1607; rector of Islip, Oxfordshire, 1578; rector of Cliffe, co. Kent, 1579; rector of Caxton, co. Kent, 1593; prebendary of St. Paul's, London, 1595–1615, and of Rochester Cathedral, 1591–1614. About 1580 he became chaplain to Edmund Grindall, Archbishop of Canterbury, and in 1583 became canon of Windsor, holding this position for thirty-two years, until his death May 15, 1615, aged 73, and was buried in the chapel of St. George, Windsor Castle, where a monumental brass to his memory states that he was "beloved of all in his Life, and much lamented in his Death." (Alumni Oxoniensis, vol. iv, p. 1657; Ashmole's "History and Antiquities of Berkshire," p. 305; Register, ante, vol. xxxviii, pp. 306–308, and vol. lii, p. 144.) He married first, about 1575, Isabel, daughter of John Woodhall, Esq., of Walden, co. Essex, by Elizabeth his wife, sister of Rev. Edmund Grindall, the celebrated Puritan Archbishop of Canterbury, described by Lord Bacon as "the gravest and greatest prelate of the land." (Register, ante, vol. xxxviii, pp. 301–308.) He married second, Anne, sister of Rev. Erasmus Webb, canon of Windsor, who died in 1612, without issue. (Register, ante, vol. lii, pp. 143–4.)

Children by first wife:

i. Mary,^{4} b. probably about 1575; d. July 26, 1613; m. Rev. Thomas Sheaffe, D.D., who was bapt. at Cranbrooke, co. Kent, Oct. 10, 1562, son of Thomas and Mary (Harmon) Sheaffe, educated at King's College, Cambridge, B.A. 1585, M.A. 1588, D.D. 1595, vicar of Welford, Berkshire, 1597, and canon of Windsor from 1614 until his death, at Wickhambrook, Dec. 12, 1639. They had eight children, and several of their descendants settled in New England. (Register, ante, vol. lv, pp. 210–220; Alumni Oxoniensis, vol. iv, p. 1342.)

ii. A son, name unknown, died young.

iii. Elizabeth, m. about 1601, John Somer, Jr., gent., of St. Margaret's, Cliffe, co. Kent. She d. about 1606, having had three children, Thomas, Mary, and Elizabeth; and he m. second, Aug. 10, 1607, Elizabeth, bapt. Aug. 27, 1587, dau. of Anthony and Jane (Lambert) Deering, by whom he had several children. The Visitation of Kent in 1619 erroneously assigns all the children of John Somer to his first wife, (Harleian Soc., vol. xlii, p. 55; also Howard's annotated edition of the Visitation of Kent in 1619, p. 120, line 15, and p. 132.)

iv. Isabel, m. about 1608, Thomas Gibbs of Windsor, gent., second son of John and Mary (Elham) Gibbs of Elmeston, co. Kent. They had five children. (Visitation of Kent, 1619, Harleian Soc., vol. xlii, p. 182; Register, ante, vol. xlii, pp. 175–177, and vol. lii, p. 144.)

v. Edmund, M.D., b. about 1583; matriculated at Merton College, Oxford, Mar. 3, 1597–8, aged 15, but left there and entered King's College, Cambridge, the same year, where he obtained the degree of M.D.; incorporated at Oxford in 1614; Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, Dec. 22, 1615; installed canon of Windsor, Dec. 18, 1616, but not becoming an ordained priest, was deprived of the office a year later; practiced his profession a few years at Windsor, but about 1621 removed to London, where he continued in practice, and acquired a large estate, until his death in Sept., 1633, in the parish of St. Mary le Bow. He took a strong interest in the Puritan colonization of New England, and gave to the Mass. Bay Company £1000, which was used for the purchase of military supplies. He died unmarried, and in his will gave bequests to a large number of relatives and friends. (Register, ante, vol. xlii, pp. 175–177; Munk's "Roll of the Royal College of Physicians of London," pp. 157–8; Alumni Oxoniensis, vol. iv, p. 1654.)

vi. A daughter, name unknown; d. young.

vii. William, b. in 1587; d. unmarried, in 1610, in his 23d year, and was buried in St. George's Chapel, Windsor. (Register, ante, vol. xxxviii, p. 307; Ashmole's "History and Antiquities of Berkshire," p. 306.)

4. REV. JOHN⁴ WILSON (Rev. William,³ D.D., William,² gent., William¹) was born at Windsor, co. Berks, England, about Dec., 1588. After four years' preparation at Eton school, he was admitted to King's College, Cambridge, in 1602. While at the University he became deeply interested in the theological discussions of the day, and under the influence of Rev. Richard Rogers of Wethersfield, and of the celebrated Rev. William Ames, D.D., he soon became converted to the principles of the Puritans. His nonconformity resulted in his being obliged to leave the University for a time, and he entered one of the Inns of Court to study for the legal profession; but his disposition for the ministry continuing, by the father's influence he was returned to the University, where, at Christ College, he obtained the degree of B.A. in 1606, and M.A. in 1609.

After preaching for a short time at Newport, Mortlake, Henley, and other places, he lived for some years as chaplain in several honorable families. Then, for three years, he preached at Bumstead, Stoke, Clare, and ~~Candish~~ Cavendish, all in co. Suffolk, until about 1620, when he succeeded the ~~the~~ Rev. William Jenkins at Sudbury, co. Suffolk, where he officiated some ten years with great acceptance to his parishioners. Being here persecuted and frequently suspended, for his non-conformity, he encouraged and supported the colonization of the Massachusetts Bay, and joined the first emigration, coming to New England in the Spring of 1630, in the Arbella, with Gov. Winthrop, leaving his wife and children in England. Soon after the arrival of the company, the First Church of Boston was organized, on July 30, 1630, John Wilson being installed as teacher. After laboring for nearly a year, and filling an important part in establishing the colony on a permanently prosperous basis, he went back to England in Apr., 1631, returning to Boston in May, 1632, with his wife, son John, and daughter Elizabeth. A few months after his return, he was installed as pastor of the church, on Nov. 23, 1632, being succeeded as teacher by the celebrated Rev. John Cotton.

In the autumn of 1634, Mr. Wilson made another voyage to England, to settle the estate of his brother Edmund, but returned to Boston in Oct., 1635, and continued as pastor for thirty-five years, until his death, Aug. 7, 1667, being associated, after Mr. Cotton's death in 1652, with Rev. John Norton as teacher. During his ministry, he frequently made visits to the Indian settlements with Rev. John Eliot, the "Apostle," and labored as a missionary to the savages.

Many contemporary writers and records bear witness to the high esteem and veneration in which Rev. John Wilson was held. While not endowed with as brilliant talents as the Rev. John Cotton, he was, nevertheless, a devout, learned, zealous, and able man, and his sympathetic nature, kindness of heart, and generosity to the needy, greatly endeared him to his parishoners. Of his character, Cotton Mather says: "If the picture of this good and therein great man were to be exactly given, great zeal with great love would be the two principal strokes that joined with orthodoxy should make up his portraiture." His zeal in the "orthodoxy" of his religious views, however, was carried to intolerance and bigotry, as was commonly the case in that period of strenuous religious opinions. His portrait in oil is in the possession of the Massachusetts Historical Society.

Among his published works were: "Some Helps to Faith" (London, 1625); "Famous Deliverances of the English Nation," a poem (London, 1626); a Latin poem to the memory of Rev. John Harvard; and a tract, "The Day Breaking if not the Sun Rising, of the Gospel with the Indians in New England" (1647).

Mr. Wilson's house and garden in Boston were situated on the north-west corner of the present State and Devonshire streets. Portions of this property he disposed of during his lifetime, and the remainder he deeded to his son John and daughter Mary Danforth, on May 31, 1667. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. v, fol. 233.) They sold it to Hezekiah Usher, on July 2, 1668, for £433.7.0. (Ibid, vol. x, fol. 98.) On Apr. 1, 1634, Mr. Wilson was granted two hundred acres at "Mystic" by the General Court (Mass. Colony Records, vol. i, p. 114), and this farm, covering what is now the Wellington district of Medford, he sold to Thomas Blanchard, on Feb. 12, 1650–1. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. i, fol. 223.) On Dec. 8, 1634, he was given a grant of land at Braintree, by the town of Boston, on condition that he would relinquish to the town the grant at "Mystic" by the General Court; but as he was obliged to go to considerable expense to secure a clear title, it was voted, on Dec. 4, 1635, that he be allowed the Braintree grant in addition to the Mystic grant. (Boston Town Records, Record Commissioners' Report, vol. ii, pp. 2, 6.) This Braintree grant, comprising some 750 acres, was over half a mile wide, and located on both sides of the present line of the Old Colony Rail Road, and extended from the vicinity of Squantum street in Wollaston southward to beyond Adams street in Quincy. This farm (which was rented to Alexander Marsh, Thomas Faxon, and others, for many years), Mr. Wilson gave by deed, on May 31, 1667, to his son John and daughter Mary Danforth. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. v, fol. 233.) They divided the property in 1687, Rev. John⁵ Wilson, Jr., taking the southern portion, and his sister the northern part. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. xxvi, fol. 8.) The southern portion was occupied by Dr. John⁶ Wilson (son of Rev. John⁵ of Medfield, and grandson of Rev. John⁴ of Boston) from 1692 until his death in 1728, and a small part of it continued in the possession of his lineal male descendants until the death of his grandson Dr. John⁸ Wilson of Sherborn in 1756. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. cvi, fol. 187.)

In 1637, Rev. John⁴ Wilson went as chaplain in the expedition against the Pequot Indians, and for this service received a grant of one thousand acres from the General Court, on June 6, 1639. (Mass. Colony Records, vol. 1, p. 263.) After several changes, this grant was finally located, on Oct. 16, 1660, on both sides of the Souhegan River, in the present towns of Amherst and Merrimack, N. H. (Mass. Colony Records, vol. iv, p. 442); and on Dec. 3, 1660, was sold by Mr. Wilson to Simon Lynde of Boston (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. iii, fol. 449).

His will, dated May 31, 1667, names wife Elizabeth deceased; grandson John^6 Wilson, Jr., under age, and grand-daughter Bridget^6 wife of Nicholas Prideaux, merchant, of Barbadoes, children of his deceased son Dr. Edmund^5 Wilson of London; son Rev. John^5 of Medfield; daughter Mary wife of Rev. Samuel Danforth of Roxbury; Sarah, Elizabeth, John, and Susanna, children of son John; John, Mary, Elizabeth, and Samuel, children of daughter Mary Danforth; cousin (i. e. nephew) Edward Rawson; brother (in-law) John Mansfield; cousin Mrs. Sarah Higginson; cousin Benjamin Briscoe; and cousin William Smith. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. vi, fol. 1; and REGISTER, ante, vol. xxvii, p. 343.) The total inventory was £1719. 14. 6, the Braintree farm being valued at £1300.

He married, about 1617, Elizabeth, daughter of John Mansfield, Esq., Master of the Minories and Queen's Surveyor, temp. Elizabeth, by Elizabeth his wife, and sister of Anne Mansfield wife of Capt. Robert Keayne, the founder of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston. She died in Boston in 1658, and he died Aug. 7, 1667, aged 68, and both lie buried in one tomb in King's Chapel Burial Ground.

On Sept. 24, 1650, he was ordained assistant to Rev. John Eliot of Roxbury, and continued in that office until his death, Nov. 19, 1674. He was graduated in the first class at Harvard College, in 1642, was admitted to his father's church in Boston on Mar. 3, 1644, and was admitted freeman May 26, 1647. After preaching several years, he became assistant to Rev. Richard Mather, at Dorchester, in 1649, and after two years' service here, removed to Medfield soon after the settlement of that place, and in Dec., 1651, was installed as the first minister of the new town, where he was ordained pastor on Oct. 12, 1652, in which service he continued for forty years, until his death, besides performing the duties of physician and schoolmaster. His homestead in Medfield was situated on the site of the present Town Hall. By a contemporary he is referred to as "gracious and godly, a faithful and useful man, well esteemed." He died Aug. 23, 1691, aged nearly 70, having on the previous Sunday "preached both forenoon and afternoon, fervently and powerfully."

In his will, made three days before his decease, he mentions his wife Sarah; son John (to whom he bequeathed his share of the Braintree farm); daughter Sarah, wife of Josiah Torrey, formerly wife of Paul Batt; daughter Susanna, wife of Grindall Rawson; and grandchild Thomas Weld son of his daughter Elizabeth, deceased, formerly wife of Thomas Weld. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. viii, fol. 58; and "History of Medfield," p. 522.)

He married, about 1648, Sarah,^{2} daughter of Rev. Thomas^1 and Susanna Hooker of Hartford, Conn. Mr. Hooker, a powerful and distinguished Puritan preacher, was born at Marfield, co. He graduated at Harvard College in 1678, studied divinity with Rev. Samuel Torrey of Weymouth, and on Oct. 4, 1680, began preaching at Mendon, where he was ordained Apr. 7, 1684, and continued in service for nearly thirty-five years, until his death, Feb. 6, 1714–15. He also preached to the Indians in their native tongue, and published several translations into the Indian language of current religious tracts. His intellectual abilities, faithfulness, piety and zeal, were highly commended by his friend and classmate Rev. Cotton Mather. They had eleven children.

6. Dr. John^{6} Wilson (Rev. John,^{5} Rev. John,^{4} Rev. William,^{3} D.D., William,^{2} gent., William^{1}), born in Medfield, June 18, 1660, for some unknown reason left Harvard College soon after his admission, but received an excellent education from his father in divinity, medicine, and law. Soon after becoming of age, he was employed as a schoolmaster for several terms by his native town, and he was also engaged at times to assist his father in the ministry. In 1682 he went to New Haven, Conn., where he preached for over a year, and in a letter from Col. John Dixwell to Rev. Increase Mather he is spoken of as "a verie hopefull yonge man of good abillities." (4 Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. 8, p. 165); but he returned to Medfield in the autumn of 1684, and resumed school teaching there; and after his father's death, an attempt was made to settle him permanently as the latter's successor, but not being popular or successful there as a preacher, the project was voted down by the town. Thereupon he relinquished the ministry, and removed to Braintree in 1692, settling on the southern half of the farm which was granted to his grandfather and willed to him by his father. Here he resided, cultivating the farm, practicing medicine and performing legal services, until his death in 1728. By reason of his education, large estate, and distinguished ministerial family connections, he occupied a leading social position, and was popular and prominent in town affairs from 1695 to 1710, often serving on committees and as moderator at town meetings, and was Representative to the General Court in 1698. In 1696 he received a commission as captain of one of the local military companies, and on June 7, 1700, was appointed a Justice of the Peace, offices of distinction at that time.

Dr. Wilson died intestate, and on Dec. 26, 1728, his estate was divided equally among his grandchildren John^{8} and Margaret^{8} Wilson (children of his eldest son, Rev. John^{7} Wilson, Jr., deceased), and his children, Roger and Edmund Wilson, Sarah Marsh, Elizabeth Low, Alice Belcher, and Mary Baxter. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. xxvii, fol. 5.)

He married, July 4, 1683, his cousin Sarah,^{2} baptized in Milford, Conn., in 1662, died in Braintree, Aug. 20, 1725, daughter of Rev. Roger^{1} and Mary (Hooker) Newton. Mr. Newton came to New England when a youth, and was educated for the ministry by Rev. Thomas Hooker, whose daughter he later married; was minister at Farmington, Conn., 1652–1657; went back to England but returned in 1660; and was settled over the church at Milford, Conn., where he died June 7, 1683, and his wife Mary died Feb. 4, 1676.

Children:

i. Sarah,^{7} b. in New Haven, Apr. 1, 1684; m. Aug. 28, 1701, John,^{2} b. Feb. 17, 1678–9, son of Lieut. Alexander^{1} and Mary (Belcher) Marsh of Braintree. They had eleven children.

7. ii. John, b. in Medfield, May 31, 1686.

iii. Elizabeth, b. in Medfield, Oct. 31, 1689; m. about 1722, Samuel^{4} Low (Samuel,^{3}, Anthony,^{2} John^{1}), b. Mar. 29, 1701, d. 1749, of Barrington and Warren, R. I. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. lii, fol. 177.) She died leaving a dau. Anne, who m. Dec. 10, 1743, Joseph Bosworth, Jr., of Rehoboth, and two sons, John Wilson and Hooker. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. cvii, fol. 35.) Samuel^{4} Low m. (2) (int. rec. Jan. 31, 1735–6), Isabel Greene, by whom he had a son Samuel.^{5} (This corrects the account of this family in Austin's," Gen. Dict. of R. I.," p. 339.)

8. iv. Roger, b. in Medfield, Aug. 20, 1691.

v. Edmund, b. in Braintree, July 27, 1695; probably passed his life in Braintree, where but meagre mention is to be found of him; d. unmarried, in the military service, in 1747, his brother-in-law Moses Belcher being administrator of his estate. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. xli, fol. 34.)

vi. Alice, b. in Braintree, June 9, 1698; m. Jan. 3, 1726–7, as his second wife, Moses,^{3} b. in 1674, son of Moses^{2} and Mary (Nash) Belcher of Braintree. (Register, ante, vol. lx, p. 134.) She died, without issue, in May, 1754, leaving a will, dated May 8, 1754, in which are named: cousin (i. e. nephew) John Wilson of Sherborn; husband Moses Belcher; brother Roger Wilson; step-daughter Anne Crosby; sister Mary, wife of Gregory Baxter; Alice, dau. of John Marsh; brother Roger's three children, viz., John, Mary, and Hannah; children of cousin (i. e. niece) Ann "Bozard" (Bosworth) deceased; Jerusha, dau. of Alexander Marsh; Moses, son of Moses Marsh; Wilson, son of Wilson Marsh; and Jemima, dau. of Samuel Marsh. This will was offered for probate May 24, 1754, and is on file, but was disallowed June 11, 1754; and on Sept. 10, 1755, her estate was divided amongst her brothers and sisters or their representatives. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. l, fol. 518.) From this it is evident that her husband died soon after her.

vii. Mary, b. in Braintree, Aug. 16, 1702; d. Aug. 11, 1789; m. Oct. 17, 1728, Gregory, b. Feb. 14, 1706, son of Capt. John and Huldah (Hayward) Baxter of Braintree. He graduated at Harvard College in 1725, but pursued no profession, residing on a farm in Braintree, where he d. Jan. 9, 1763. They had several children, of whom three survived.

7. Rev. John^{7} Wilson (Dr. John,^{6} Rev. John,^{5} Rev. John,^{4} Rev. William,^{3} D.D., William,^{2} gent., William^{1}) was born at Medfield, May 31, 1686, and taken to Braintree in childhood by his parents. He graduated at Harvard College in 1705, and the high social position held by his family is shown by the fact that his name was placed at the head of the class. He then studied divinity, and about 1710 was settled over a small Congregational Church newly organized in a village situated in the southwestern part of Swansea, which in 1717 became the town of Barrington, R. I. After three years' service here, he was suddenly cut off by death, in 1713, at the early age of 27.

Of his attainments and character no account has been discovered. He married, at Mendon, May 25, 1711, Margaret Hall, perhaps a sister of Hon. Hugh Hall of Boston (who was son of Hon. Hugh Hall of Barbadoes, by Lydia, daughter of Capt. Benjamin and Lydia (Scottow) Gibbs of Boston). She married second, Oct. 25, 1719, Rev. Samuel, born in Enfield, Conn., Mar. 26, 1690, son of Samuel and Hannah (Morgan) Terry, a graduate of Harvard College in 1710, minister at Barrington, R. I., 1718–1726, who preached at Uxbridge, Mass., in 1728, and was schoolmaster at Mendon in 1733.

Children:

9. i. JOHN,^{8} b. Apr. 28, 1712.

ii. MARGARET, b. about 1714; m. in 1730, Obed Hussey of Nantucket. On Dec. 29, 1735, Obed Hussey of Nantucket and Margaret his wife acknowledged the receipt of £307.6.0 from Mr. John Wilson of Mendon, gent., for her interest in their father's share of their grandfather's estate in Braintree. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. xxxii, fol. 440.)

8. ROGER^{7} WILSON (Dr. John,^{6} Rev. John,^{5} Rev. John,^{4} Rev. William,^{3} D.D., William,^{2} gent., William^{1}), born in Medfield, Aug. 20, 1691, was taken to Braintree in infancy by his parents. He was the first member of the family in six generations who did not acquire a liberal education and take a profession, becoming an ordinary yeoman, and never attaining even local prominence or distinction. In fact, it may be inferred from what few mentions are found of him that he was much inferior to his ancestors in character, attainments, and position in the community. In Mar., 1717, he was sued by his father-in-law, Capt. John Mills, for £18.10.0 expended by the latter to support Roger's wife and children, who had been deserted and neglected for over a year. His wife complained, "if my father had not supplied me, I and my children must have suffered, if not perished." (Suffolk Co. Court Files, No. 11591.) He resided in a house belonging to his wife's family, and gradually sold off his interest in the paternal farm; and on July 29, 1754, he sold to his son John and son-in-law Ebenezer Field his share in the estate of his sister Alice Belcher, which is the last mention found of him, and no probate record of any estate appears. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. lxxxvii, fol. 112.)

He married, about 1714, Hannah,^{4} born Feb. 2, 1688–9, daughter of Capt. John^{3} and Hannah Mills of Braintree. Capt. Mills was an enterprising, wealthy, and influential man, and for many years took a leading part in the affairs of the town of Braintree, which he represented in the General Court in 1709, '10, '12, '16, '18, '21.

On Apr. 11, 1759, William Wilson of Braintree, aged 32, enlisted in Col. Benj. Lincoln's regt. for the expedition against Canada, having served in the campaign of 1755. (Mass. Archives, Muster Rolls, vol. xcvii, p. 126.) William Wilson of Braintree served as corporal in Capt. John Martin's company from Feb. 26 to Dec. 5, 1760 in the Crown Point expedition, and 150 miles travel home allowed on pay account. (Mass. Archives, Muster Rolls, vol. xcviii, p. 294.) This is the last record found of him, and it is supposed that he removed from Braintree, and that his descendants are extinct. It is likely that he was the William Wilson whose marriage intention with Elizabeth "Speer" was recorded in Boston, Oct. 1, 1747. She was probably the Elizabeth Spear, b. in Braintree, Jan. 4, 1728, dau. of Nathaniel and Thankful (Woodward) Spear. Children: 1. Elizabeth,^{9} bapt. Sept. 18, 1748. 2. Susanna, bapt. Apr. 10, 1757. No further trace of these children has been found.

9. DR. JOHN^{8} WILSON (Rev. John,^{7} Dr. John,^{6} Rev. John,^{5} Rev. John,^{4} Rev. William,^{3} D.D., William,^{2} gent., William^{1}) was born Apr. 28, 1712, in that part of Swansea which later was Barrington, R. I., and graduated from Harvard College in 1733, the high social position of the family placing his name seventh in a class of thirty-eight graduates. On May 22, 1735, he sold to Moses Belcher his interest in the Braintree farm of his grandfather Dr. John^{6} Wilson. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. li, fol. 6.) He then studied medicine, and about 1737 settled in Sherborn, Mass., where he resided and practiced his profession about twenty years, until his decease June 13, 1756. On May 8, 1765, Benjamin Learned and Elizabeth his wife, Mary Wilson, Jr., Alice Wilson, and Sarah Wilson, all of Sherborn, conveyed to Edmund Billings land in Braintree of their late father, Dr. John Wilson late of Sherborn. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. cvi, fol. 187.)

He married at Mendon, June 28, 1738, Mary ———, who died in Dublin, N. H., June 12, 1774.

Children:

i. MARY,^{9} b. perhaps in 1738; living, unmarried, in 1765; no further record.

ii. ELIZABETH, b. July 25, 1740; d. Mar. 12, 1771; m. Apr. 11, 1765, Dea. Benjamin, b. Jan. 23, 1741–2, son of Capt. Edward and Abigail (Morse) Learned of Sherborn. In 1767 they settled in Dublin, N. H., where he d. Sept. 5, 1818. They had three children.

iii. ALICE, b. Aug. 4, 1742; d. Nov. 7, 1805; m. Feb. 2, 1766, Capt. Samuel, b. Aug. 24, 1740, son of Capt. Joseph and Deborah (Fairbank) Twitchell of Sherborn. Soon after their marriage, they settled in Dublin, N. H., where Capt. Twitchell became a leading man in the town, and d. Apr. 16, 1820. They had ten children.

iv. SARAH, b. Feb. 8, 1744–5; living, unmarried, in 1765; no further record.

v. JOHN, b. Nov. 14, 1747; a lad of great promise; d. in 1756, aged 9 years, terminating a line of seven generations distinguished in professional life for nearly 200 years.

vi. HANNAH, b. June 2, 1753; d. 1757.

10. John^{8} Wilson (Roger,^{7} Dr. John,^{6} Rev. John,^{5} Rev. John,^{4} Rev. William,^{3} D.D., William,^{2} gent., William^{1}), born Feb. 15, 1723–4, in that part of Braintree which later became Quincy, passed his life in his native town, where he carried on the occupation of tailor. His house was probably situated on Adams St., near Common St. He does not appear to have been a member of the church, no mention of him appears in the town proceedings, and he evidently occupied a humble and obscure position in the community. During the Revolution, he performed a week's service from Mar. 4 to 11, 1776, in Capt. John Hall's company, on an expedition to R. I. (Mass. Archives, Muster and Pay Rolls, vol. ii, p. 82.) On July 29, 1754, he and his brother-in-law Ebenezer Field, Jr., were deeded by his father the latter's interest in the real estate of Alice (Wilson) Belcher, and on Nov. 6, 1755, John Wilson, tailor, and Thankful his wife, and Ebenezer Field and Hannah his wife, conveyed the same to Ebenezer Pope. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vols. lxxxvii, fol. 112, and cvii, fol. 34.) He died in Quincy (formerly Braintree), Sept. 25, 1807.

He was probably the John Wilson who married, in Boston, Dec. 30, 1744, Thankful Cowell, and by her he probably had no issue. He married second, in Braintree, Dec. 1, 1774, Alice Peaks.

Children by second wife:

i. Hannah,^{9} b. perhaps in 1776. On Nov. 3, 1807, John Wilson of the Co. of Suffolk, and Henry Wilson and Hannah Wilson of the Co. of Norfolk, for $150 conveyed to Thos. Nightengale, cordwainer, of Quincy, a certain house standing and being in Quincy between two roads, formerly the property of Mr. John Wilson late deceased, being in the crock of the roads leading to the "six hundred acres" so called. (Norfolk Co. Deeds, vol. xxxi, fol. 192.) No further record found.

11. ii. John, b. Feb. 19, 1778.

12. iii. Henry, b. in 1781.

11. Capt. John^{9} Wilson (John,^{8} Roger,^{7} Dr. John,^{6} Rev. John,^{5} Rev. John,^{4} Rev. William,^{3} D.D., William,^{2} gent., William^{1}), was born Feb. 19, 1778, in that part of Braintree established in 1792 as Quincy. Soon after becoming of age, he removed to Boston and took up the occupation of pilot, in which he became noted and continued for nearly sixty years. From 1801 to 1854 he resided in the North End of Boston, most of the time on Fleet Street, where he purchased a house of Josiah Barnard, on Sept. 18, 1823 (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. cclxxxvi. fol. 115). From 1854 to 1860 his residence was in East Boston; and then, having acquired a competency, he retired from business and returned to his native town of Quincy, where he died, Jan. 26, 1865, aged 86 yrs., 11 mos., 7 dys. (Records of Quincy); and he was interred in a tomb he had acquired in Copp's Hill Cemetery, Boston. He was a man of commanding presence, great vitality, indomitable will, and stern and independent character. His portrait is in the office of the Boston Pilots' Association, on Lewis Wharf.

His will names wife Lydia S. P.; daughter Celia Augusta, wife of William Henry Hoyt; late daughter Sally Ann, formerly wife of John Hickman of Wellfleet; late son James P. Wilson, and Susan M. his wife; daughter Lucy L., wife of George P. Percival; daughter Matilda, wife of Parker Emerson; sons Joseph H. P., and John F. C. (Norfolk Co. Probate.)

He married first, in Boston, June 21, 1801, Sally, born about 1775, probably daughter of Jacob Parsons, and widow of Martin Fowler, who died May 19, 1821, aged 46, and was buried in Copp's Hill cemetery; married second, in Boston, Dec. 25, 1821, Anne Louisa Smith of Topsham, Me., who died about 1845, and was buried in Copp's Hill cemetery; and married third, Lydia S., born in Norwich, Vt., daughter of Eburn and Zerviah Speare, and widow of Thomas Percival of Montpelier, Vt. She removed to Natick, Mass., about 1868, died at Tarrytown, N. Y., in 1877, and was buried at Natick.

The Descendants of

Rev. Thomas Hooker

Hartford, Connecticut

1586-1908

eral majorities that ruled in general matters. The power of the majority to be despotic and oppressive was reduced to a minimum.

"Hooker was a man of sublime courage. In those days it often took more real valor to dare to speak the truth than to bare one's breast to the sword of the enemy. Cotton Mather quotes the saying of one who had admired the bravery with which Hooker had stood up against persecution and bigotry in England:

" 'I observed the heroic spirit and courage with which this great man fulfilled his ministry. He was a person who while doing his master's work would put a king in his pocket.'

"In organizing the government of Connecticut on the basis of a strict democracy—a simple government of the people—without acknowledging the right of king or government across the water to interfere with the will of the people here, he was in fact 'putting a king in his pocket.' * * * *

"I have called Thomas Hooker the first American Democrat. Thomas Jefferson is entitled to be called the second, and the author of the Emancipation Proclamation comes third—in point of time only.

"I would by no means detract one iota from the glory of Jefferson. As a proud Connecticut man and a descendant of the great Thomas Hooker, I bring my loving tribute and gladly lay it at the feet of his no less great successor, Thomas Jefferson. The Declaration of Independence has the advantage of having come down to us intact in the language of its author. All that we have of the sermon of Thomas Hooker has been gleaned from the imperfect record of his loyal follower who heard it. All honor to the Declaration of Independence and its great author, but equal honors I demand for the man who, more than a century and a quarter before, had preached the same doctrines from his pulpit in Hartford and engrafted them in the Constitution of the State he founded."

It being my full will that what trust I haue committed to my wife, either in matter of estate, or such manuscripts as shall bee judged fitt to bee printed, in case shee liue not to order the same herselfe, bee wholly trasmitted and passed ouer from her to them, for the ends before specified. THE HOOKER GENEALOGY

FIRST GENERATION

1 Rev. Thomas Hooker, son of Thomas Hooker, born in England, about 1586, he entered Emanuel College, Cambridge in 1604. He received the degree of B. A. in 1608, the degree of M. A. in 1611, and entering upon a divinity course, he was elected a Fellow of the College. He left the College before completing the first course and receiving the degree of B. D. There are many reasons for supposing that he went from the college direct to Chelmsford and remained there until being silenced, arrested and placed under bonds to appear before the Ecclesiastical Court; he fled to Holland. Came to New England on ship "Griffin" 1633.

The name of his first wife is unknown and nothing of the parentage of his second wife, whose name was Susanna ———.

His second wife survived him, and though nothing is positively known about her, there are many reasons for believing that in later years she became the wife of Elder William Goodwin and died at Farmington, Conn. He died at Hartford, Conn., July 7, 1647, age 61. (See Introduction.)

CHILDREN, HOOKER.

5 Sarah, b. Little Baddow, England, 1628; d. Little Baddow, 1629.
*6 Sarah, No. 2, b. Little Baddow, England, 1629-30.
*7 Samuel, b. 1633.

SECOND GENERATION

2 Joanna Hooker (Thomas), daughter of Rev. Thomas Hooker, of Hartford, Conn.; m. (early in 1640), Rev. Thomas Shepard, of Newtowne, Mass. (his second wife). He was a son of William Shepard, of Tonaster, Eng., b. Nov. 5, 1605. He succeeded Mr. Hooker as preacher at Newtowne, when Mr. Hooker and his church removed to Hartford.

Mr. Shepard came to New England with his first wife, Margaret Fowteville and one son on the ship Defence arriving at Boston Oct. 3, 1635. He settled at Newtowne and became the third minister of that town. He succeeded Mr. Hooker and he and his church purchased from Mr. Hooker and his church all the property which they left behind when they removed to Hartford.

His first wife died Feb. 1, 1636, leaving one son. He married Joanna Hooker, and after her death at Newtowne, April 28, 1646, he married Sept. 8, 1647, Margaret Borodale, and had one son. She survived him and after his death married Rev. Jonathan Mitchell. He died at Newtowne, Mass. (Cambridge), Aug. 25, 1649.

CHILDREN, SHEPARD.

By 2nd wife:

9 John, b. and d. at Newtowne, Mass., 1644.
10 John, 2d, b. at Newtowne, Mass., April 2, 1646; supposed to have lived at Lynn, Mass.

3 Mary Hooker (Thomas), daughter of Rev. Thomas Hooker of Hartford, Conn., married in 1644, Rev. Roger Newton, who was a student of Theology with her father, son of Samuel Newton. He was the first minister at Farmington, Conn., where he was installed on the day that the church was formed, Oct., 1652, he having preached there some time before. He remained there five years when he was dismissed and prepared to return to England. It has always been supposed that he did go to England and after remaining some time he returned to New England and settled in Milford, Conn. Later researches however, have led the searchers to believe that after he had prepared to go the ship left without him, and that he remained in New England until he was called to Milford. He was installed at Milford, Conn., Aug. 22, 1660, and remained over the church until his death.

He died at Milford, Conn., June 7, 1683. She died at Milford Conn., Feb. 4, 1675.

CHILDREN, NEWTON.

*11 Samuel, b. Hartford, Conn., Oct. 20, 1646.

17 Mary, b. Milford, Conn., m. Edward Jackson, Newton, Mass.
18 Alice, b. Milford, Conn., Sept. 18, 1664; m. Daniel Buckingham (2nd wife), 1689.

4 John Hooker (Thomas), son of Rev. Thomas Hooker and Susannah Hooker, of Hartford, Colony of Conn. He was the first son of Rev. Thomas Hooker, and undoubtedly the first son of the second marriage. He was probably born in or about 1626 but no record of his birth has ever been found. Most probably he was born at Chelmsford, Essex, England, where his father was at that time lecturer, and where he probably married his second wife Susannah. John Hooker came with his father to New England, but there is little known of his early life in the New England Colony. He was instructed and fitted for college by his father, very probably assisted by Rev. Mr. Stone, and he returned to England to finish his education by a collegiate course when his father died and it is from his father's will, made but a few hours before his death, that the most that is known of the son John is learned. The will expressly intimates that John was not at that time of age, yet it also intimates that the question of marrying had been presented to his father, which would seem to suggest that he could not have been much under age. The will makes his receipt of a part of the estate contingent upon his pursuing his studies to completion and entering the ministry, which is strongly suggestive that a proposition that he should relinquish his studies and his proposed entry into the minstry had been presented to his father. The will while making no objection to his seeking a wife in England, expressly forbids him to "Marry and Tarry" there, which also suggests that this plan of life had been presented to his father, and from these suggestive items of the will, we can weave a very plausible and a very probable story, yet there is no positive evidence than this will to prove it.

It would seem most probable that Rev. Thomas Hooker should desire his son to pursue his studies at Emanuel College Cambridge, the especial home of Puritanism, where he himself had been educated, but there is no evidence in the will, nor elsewhere so far as known, to indicate this preference, and in due time John Hooker became a student at Oxford, a strong Established Church precinct, and emphatically opposed to the liberalism of Cambridge.

John Hooker completed his studies and entered the ministry, taking orders in the Established Church of England, thus obeying the letter but not the spirit of his father's will, and in like manner he avoided the injunction of his father forbidding him to marry and tarry in England, by not marrying, though he tarried there.

John Hooker became a curate at Mazeworth, Bucks, and tradition says that he became very dissipated, yet his genial good fellowship won for him a place in the hearts of the people and probably shielded him from any disciplinary action on the part of those above him.

When at last the aged vicar died there seems to have been a reluctance on the part of the patron of the Church to promote Mr. Hooker to the Vicarship. After some delay the Bishop collated John Hooker to the Vicarship, and here he remained until his death, apparently maintaining his reputation as a jovial, rollicking, sporting Parson. He died in 1684 and the record of his death, though very simple, seems to suggest a weird story of the end. He was found dead in his bed, and buried by his friends privately at midnight, and this private midnight burial seems to suggest a suicidal ending, and a secret burial to avoid the severe inflictions which the penal laws of England at that time prescribed for the bodies of suicides.

With the death of Mr. Hooker that branch of the family came to an end, and only the son, Samuel Hooker, minister at Farmington, Colony of Conn., remained to perpetuate the name.

6 Sarah Hooker (Thomas), a daughter of Rev. Thomas and Susannah Hooker of Hartford, Colony of Conn., born at Little Baddow (a suburb of Chelmsford, Essex, England), 1629 (or 1630); m. Rev. John Wilson, Jr., of Dorchester, Mass., son of Rev. John Wilson of the First Church of Boston, and Elizabeth (Mansfield) Wilson, his wife. They were not married when Rev. Thomas Hooker died in 1647, but preparations were then being made for it, and they were married soon afterward and settled in Dorchester, Mass., where Mr. Wilson was a colleague of Rev. Richard Mather.

Rev. John Wilson was born in London, England, Sept. 1621, and came with his father to New England in 1630. He gradremained in New England until he was called to Milford. He was installed at Milford, Conn., Aug. 22, 1660, and remained over the church until his death.

He died at Milford, Conn., June 7, 1682. She died at Milford Conn., Feb. 4, 1673.

4 John Hooker (Thomas²)—son of Rev. Thomas Hooker and Susannah Hooker of Hartford, Colony of Conn. He was the first son of Rev. The will incorrectly intimates that John was not at that time of age, and it also intimates that the question of marrying had been presented to his father, which would seem to suggest that he could not have been much under age. The will makes his receipt of a part of the estate contingent upon his pursuing his studies to completion and entering the ministry, which is strongly suggestive that a proposition that he should relinquish his studies and his proposed entry into the ministry had been presented to his father. The will while making no objection to his seeking a wife in England, expressly forbids him to "Marry and Tarry" there, which also suggests that this plan of life had been presented to his father, and from these suggestive items of the will, we can weave a very plausible and a very probable story, yet there is no positive evidence from this will to prove it.

It would seem most probable that Rev. Thomas Hooker should desire his son to pursue his studies at Emanuel College, Cambridge, the especial home of Puritanism, where he himself had been educated, but there is no evidence in the will, [illegible] else so far as known, to indicate this preference, and [illegible] the fact John Hooker became a student at Oxford, a strong [illegible] of Church practice, and emphatically opposed to the [illegible] of Cambridge.

John Hooker completed his studies and entered the ministry, taking orders in the Established Church of England, thus [illegible] the letter and not the spirit of his father's will, and in [illegible] he avoided the injunction of his father forbidding [illegible] and tarry in England, by not marrying though [illegible] there.

[illegible] Hooker became a curate at Marsworth, Bucks, and [illegible] that he became very dissipated, yet his genial [illegible] manners soon won him a place in the hearts of the people [illegible] probably shielded him from any disciplinary action on the [illegible] of those above him.

When at last the aged vicar died there seems to have been [illegible] on the part of the patron of the Church to promote Mr. Hooker to the Vicarship. After some delay the Bishop collated John Hooker to the Vicarship and here he remained until [illegible] death, apparently maintaining his reputation as a jovial, [illegible], sporting Parson. He died in 1684 and the record [illegible] his death, though very simple, seems to suggest a weird [illegible] of the end. He was found dead in his bed, and buried [illegible] his friends privately at midnight, and this private midnight [illegible] seems to suggest a suicidal ending, and a secret burial [illegible] the severe indignities which the penal laws of England [illegible] that time prescribed for the bodies of suicides.

With the death of Mr. Hooker that branch of the family [illegible] to an end, and only the son, Samuel Hooker, minister [illegible] Farmington Colony of Conn., remained to perpetuate the [illegible]

[illegible] Sarah Hooker (Thomas²) a daughter of Rev. Thomas and [illegible] Hooker of Hartford, Colony of Conn., born at Little [illegible] (a suburb of Chelmsford, Essex, England), 1629 (or [illegible] m. Rev. John Wilson, jr., of Dorchester, Mass., son of [illegible] Wilson of the First Church of Boston, and Eliza- [illegible] (Mansfield) Wilson, his wife. They were not married [illegible] Rev. Thomas Hooker died in 1647, but preparations were [illegible] made for it, and they were married soon afterward [illegible] in Dorchester, Mass., where Mr. Wilson was a col- [illegible] of Rev. Richard Mather.

[illegible] Wilson was born in London, England, Sept. 1621, [illegible] with his father to New England in 1630. He graduated from Harvard College in 1642, and was ordained and settled with Mr. Mather at Dorchester. In 1651 he removed to Medfield, Mass., where he became a famous preacher, and remained there until his death in 1691. We have no record of the death of his wife.

He died at Medfield, Mass., Aug. 23, 1691. She died at Braintree, Mass., Aug. 20, 1725.

7 Samuel Hooker (Thomas), son of Rev. Thomas and Susannah Hooker, of Hartford, Colony of Conn., born 1633; married Sept. 22, 1658, Mary Willet, eldest daughter of Capt. Thomas and Mary (Brown) Willet of Plymouth, Mass., born Nov. 10, 1637, at Plymouth.

Rev. Samuel Hooker was aged 64, at the time of his death in 1697, from which it appears that he was born in 1633, but whether before the family left England, or after their arrival in New England is not known, though it is generally supposed that he was born at Newtowne (Cambridge), Mass. He entered Harvard College in 1651, and graduated in 1653. He entered the ministry in 1657, and preached at Plymouth, Mass., though probably not regularly settled there. He was invited to settle at Springfield, Mass., but declined the invitation and remained at Plymouth until he removed to Farmington, Conn., in 1661, where he succeeded his brother-in-law Rev. Roger Newton and became the second minister of the place and remained there until his death in 1697.

He was famous as an eloquent preacher and Mather in his "Magnolia" says of him, "Thus we have to this day among us our dead Hooker, yet living in his worthy son Samuel Hooker, an able, faithful, useful minister at Farmington, in the Colony of Connecticut."

Capt. Thomas Willet, whose daughter became the wife of Rev. Samuel Hooker, was at that time an energetic and thriving merchant at Plymouth. He succeeded Capt. Miles Standish in command of the famous military company of Plymouth, and he afterward became the first mayor of the city of New York.

The marriage of Rev. Samuel Hooker and Mary Willet was undoubtedly celebrated in a proper manner, for an account of it is handed down in the Willet family, concluding the ceremony with, "And Samuel and Mary did then brew a great bowl of punch."

They had eleven children, nine sons and two daughters, and from these sons come all Hookers who claim descent from Rev. Thomas Hooker. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Mary (Willet) Hooker, when 67 years old, married, Aug. 10, 1703, Rev. Thomas Buckingham of Saybrook, Conn. He died April 1, 1709, when she went to the home of her son-in-law Rev. Stephen Buckingham, the son of her late husband, and the husband of her own daughter, at Norwalk, Conn., where she remained until her death in 1712. Her grave is near the center of the old burying ground, near the present East Norwalk railway station.

Rev. Samuel Hooker occupied at Farmington, the parsonage which had been occupied by is predecessor, Rev. Roger Newton, on the East side of South Main Street and nearly opposite to the road going to the meadows across the stone bridge which now spans the Pequabuc river. This house stood a few feet northward from the site of the house so long occupied by Mr. Solomon Cowles, who was one of Mr. Hooker's descendants, and here Mr. Hooker died. He was succeeded at Farmington by Rev. Samuel Whitman whose grandfather was Mr. Hooker's cousin.

No stone marks Mr. Hooker's grave, but well attested tradition points out the place, as at the south side of the grave of Rev. Mr. Whitman, which is appropriately marked.

Mr. Whitman like Mr. Hooker, died while the minister of the town, and tradition says he was buried by the side of Mr. Hooker.

Of the characteristics and personal appearance of Rev. Samuel Hooker's wife, we have no positive record. There exists however some old data and memoranda, which enable us to form a seemingly fair conclusion. Her mother is described as a woman of great beauty and stateliness, one describing her as "possessed of beauty and majesty almost divine."

Mrs. Hooker's sister, Martha, was the first wife of Judge Saffin. After her death he married twice again, and he has left a record written after the marriage to his 3rd wife, that upon the anniversary of the death of his first wife, it was his custom to seclude himself and give way to his "inconsolable grief for the irreparable loss he had sustained in the death of his beloved Martha."

Mrs. Hooker had two daughters, the eldest, Mary, married Rev. James Pierpont of New Haven, and the Pierpont family in my own experience, and by which I am brought into closer connection with you than on any other point by which we can touch one another on this Hooker business.

As we were preparing for our anniversary in this church, the two hundred and fiftieth, I was desirous of finding out all I could about this man who was the founder of this church and the leader of this colony, and, reading in Cotton Mather's account of him that he was born in the little hamlet of Marfield, in England, I determined to make a tour to that place on my summer vacation; but I was met by the chief and most learned antiquarian scholar of this place with the statement that it would probably all be in vain, the thing had been somewhat inquired into, and he did not believe that any evidence could be found there. However, I determined to find out, anyway. When I reached the place I had an experience which largely justified, in my apprehension, the feeling of your ancestor that if he had got to deal with representatives of the established church in England it was best for him to get out into another country. The custodian of the books of the Marfield parish I found to be an ecclesiastic of a quite churchly and authoritative type, who informed me that I had no right to look at the books, that he was the legal custodian of them, and that he could legally charge a sixpence for every year over which he looked for any record which was sought, and a shilling for every two or three lines copied from it, when I had determined what I wanted to copy. As I would probably have to look through one or two hundred years, I thought that this was rather a hard restriction. However, as we sat together on that cold, rainy evening, he gradually thawed out, and as a result of wheedling, coaxing and pleading, I at last got him to allow me to take the books in hand and run over them with my own unconsecrated eye. I went through the baptisms for a hundred years, and found no trace of any Hooker, and through the marriages, but still no trace, and I came to the conclusion partially in my own mind that he was not born there after all as Cotton Mather said. But then I turned to the burials, and, after awhile, I found first the record of the burial of the mother of Thomas Hooker, and then, about five or six years later in the record, I found the record of the burial of his father, Thomas Hooker; then, subsequently, quite a number of years after, about twenty, the burial of another Hooker, John Hooker. I did not quite know how to interpret those things at that time, but the fact was that that one brother left on the ground there never married, and the family name became extinct. The will of that brother, however, is extant, in which he left bequests to his nephew, Samuel, who was settled here in Farmington, and was then in college, and to Samuel's older brother, who went back to England, entered the established church, and died there. And so I had the satisfaction of knowing that I was the first man from Hartford who had ever been on the Marfield ground, and who had searched for and found indisputable evidence of the truthfulness of the statement that that was the place of your ancestor's birth.

Marfield is a little bit of a hamlet, — only five houses; there were six there at the time of Hooker's birth, and some of the timbers of the ruins of one of them were still lying there. I wanted to find some little record or memento of my visit to the spot, and I searched around a good while to find something. The trees were tall, and not adapted to my purpose, and the buckthorn hedges were tangled, gnarled and broken. After a good deal of search I found a buckthorn staff, which on the way over on the boat I whittled into shape, and I have carried it for the last eight years as my walking stick. It is my pleasure, on this occasion, to present it to the Hooker Association, to be held in succession by the Presidents of this association. I said to one of my parish boys, about six years old, on one occasion, "I brought that cane from England; I got it at the birth-place of Thomas Hooker." "Why," said he, "it looks a good deal-like a stick!" Well, it is open to that objection, but I think it is as good a stick as Hooker himself could have cut at the time of his birth in any hedgerow about that place! I shall be glad to have it handed down in succession from one to another of the Presidents of the Thomas Hooker Association in future years.

Mr. John Hooker, President of the Association: We gladly accept it. We will try to make it a thorn in the sides of evil men, and it shall be a staff to lean upon on our side.

The Chairman: I think we are all grateful for the labors of Dr. Walker, the benefit of which he has given us here to-day. But we are not alone interested in the fathers of New England. The mothers of New England, the women founders of these colonies, have an interest for us, and I call upon Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker, who is present, to say a word in relation to them."

Mrs. Isabella B. Hooker then spoke as follows:—

On the occasion of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of this church, my husband was expected to be there, and to speak of Thomas Hooker, as being the sixth in descent from him; but unfortunately he was taken ill away from home, and was not able to be there, and so he sent these lines, written upon his sick bed, which have made me prouder of him than ever I was before. I am sure every woman here, after I have read them to you, will join me in reverence and pride.

vol. 61

6. Dr. John^{6} Wilson (Rev. John,^{5} Rev. John,^{4} Rev. William,^{3} D.D., William,^{2} gent., William^{1}), born in Medfield, June 18, 1660, for some unknown reason left Harvard College soon after his admission, but received an excellent education from his father in divinity, medicine, and law. Soon after becoming of age, he was employed as a schoolmaster for several terms by his native town, and he was also engaged at times to assist his father in the ministry. In 1682 he went to New Haven, Conn., where he preached for over a year, and in a letter from Col. John Dixwell to Rev. Increase Mather he is spoken of as "a verie hopefull yonge man of good abillities." (4 Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. 8, p. 165); but he returned to Medfield in the autumn of 1684, and resumed school teaching there; and after his father's death, an attempt was made to settle him permanently as the latter's successor, but not being popular or successful there as a preacher, the project was voted down by the town. Thereupon he relinquished the ministry, and removed to Braintree in 1692, settling on the southern half of the farm which was granted to his grandfather and willed to him by his father. Here he resided, cultivating the farm, practicing medicine and performing legal services, until his death in 1728. By reason of his education, large estate, and distinguished ministerial family connections, he occupied a leading social position, and was popular and prominent in town affairs from 1695 to 1710, often serving on committees and as moderator at town meetings, and was Representative to the General Court in 1698. In 1696 he received a commission as captain of one of the local military companies, and on June 7, 1700, was appointed a Justice of the Peace, offices of distinction at that time.

Dr. Wilson died intestate, and on Dec. 26, 1728, his estate was divided equally among his grandchildren John^{8} and Margaret^{8} Wilson (children of his eldest son, Rev. John^{7} Wilson, Jr., deceased), and his children, Roger and Edmund Wilson, Sarah Marsh, Elizabeth Low, Alice Belcher, and Mary Baxter. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. xxvii, fol. 5.)

He married, July 4, 1683, his cousin Sarah,^{2} baptized in Milford, Conn., in 1662, died in Braintree, Aug. 20, 1725, daughter of Rev. Roger^{1} and Mary (Hooker) Newton. Mr. Newton came to New England when a youth, and was educated for the ministry by Rev. Thomas Hooker, whose daughter he later married; was minister at Farmington, Conn., 1652-1657; went back to England but returned in 1660; and was settled over the church at Milford, Conn., where he died June 7, 1683, and his wife Mary died Feb. 4, 1676.

Children:

i. Sarah,^{7} b. in New Haven, Apr. 1, 1684; m. Aug. 28, 1701, John,^{2} b. Feb. 17, 1678-9, son of Lieut. Alexander^{1} and Mary (Belcher) Marsh of Braintree. They had eleven children.

7. ii. John, b. in Medfield, May 31, 1686.

iii. Elizabeth, b. in Medfield, Oct. 31, 1689; m. about 1722, Samuel^{4} Low (Samuel,^{3} Anthony,^{2} John^{1}), b. Mar. 29, 1701, d. 1749, of Barrington and Warren, R. I. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. lii, fol. 177.) She died leaving a dau. Anne, who m. Dec. 10, 1743, Joseph Bosworth, Jr., of Rehoboth, and two sons, John Wilson and Hooker. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. cvii, fol. 35.) Samuel^{4} Low m. (2) (int. rec. Jan. 31, 1735-6), Isabel Greene, by whom he had a son Samuel.^{5} (This corrects the account of this family in Austin's "Gen. Dict. of R. I.," p. 339.)

Medfield is in Norfolk Co.

8. iv. ROGER, b. in Medfield, Aug. 20, 1691.

v. EDMUND, b. in Braintree, July 27, 1695; probably passed his life in Braintree, where but meagre mention is to be found of him: d. unmarried, in the military service, in 1747, his brother-in-law Moses Belcher being administrator of his estate. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. xli, fol. 34.)

vi. ALICE, b. in Braintree, June 9, 1698; m. Jan. 3, 1726–7, as his second wife, Moses,^{3} b. in 1674, son of Moses^{2} and Mary (Nash) Belcher of Braintree. (REGISTER, ante, vol. ix, p. 134.) She died, without issue, in May, 1754, leaving a will, dated May 8, 1754, in which are named: cousin (i. e. nephew) John Wilson of Sherborn; husband Moses Belcher; brother Roger Wilson; step-daughter Anne Crosby; sister Mary, wife of Gregory Baxter; Alice, dau. of John Marsh; brother Roger's three children, viz., John, Mary, and Hannah; children of cousin (i. e. niece) Ann "Bozard" (Bosworth) deceased; Jerusha, dau. of Alexander Marsh; Moses, son of Moses Marsh; Wilson, son of Wilson Marsh; and Jemima, dau. of Samuel Marsh. This will was offered for probate May 24, 1754, and is on file, but was disallowed June 11, 1754; and on Sept. 10, 1755, her estate was divided amongst her brothers and sisters or their representatives. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. l, fol. 518.) From this it is evident that her husband died soon after her.

vii. MARY, b. in Braintree, Aug. 16, 1702; d. Aug. 11, 1789; m. Oct. 17, 1728, Gregory, b. Feb. 14, 1706, son of Capt. John and Huldah (Hayward) Baxter of Braintree. He graduated at Harvard College in 1725, but pursued no profession, residing on a farm in Braintree, where he d. Jan. 9, 1763. They had several children, of whom three survived.

7. REV. JOHN^{7} WILSON (Dr. John,^{6} Rev. John,^{5} Rev. John,^{4} Rev. William,^{3} D.D., William,^{2} gent., William^{1}) was born at Medfield, May 31, 1686, and taken to Braintree in childhood by his parents. He graduated at Harvard College in 1705, and the high social position held by his family is shown by the fact that his name was placed at the head of the class. He then studied divinity, and about 1710 was settled over a small Congregational Church newly organized in a village situated in the southwestern part of Swansea, which in 1717 became the town of Barrington, R. I. After three years' service here, he was suddenly cut off by death, in 1713, at the early age of 27.

Of his attainments and character no account has been discovered. He married, at Mendon, May 25, 1711, Margaret Hall, perhaps a sister of Hon. Hugh Hall of Boston (who was son of Hon. Hugh Hall of Barbadoes, by Lydia, daughter of Capt. Benjamin and Lydia (Scottow) Gibbs of Boston). She married second, Oct. 25, 1719, Rev. Samuel, born in Enfield, Conn., Mar. 26, 1690, son of Samuel and Hannah (Morgan) Terry, a graduate of Harvard College in 1710, minister at Barrington, R. I., 1718–1726, who preached at Uxbridge, Mass., in 1728, and was schoolmaster at Mendon in 1733.

Children:

9. i. JOHN,^{8} b. Apr. 28, 1712.

ii. MARGARET, b. about 1714; m. in 1730, Obed Hussey of Nantucket. On Dec. 29, 1735, Obed Hussey of Nantucket and Margaret his wife acknowledged the receipt of £307.6.0 from Mr. John Wilson of Mendon, gent., for her interest in their father's share of their grandfather's estate in Braintree. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. xxxii, fol. 440.)

8. Roger[7] Wilson (Dr. John,[6] Rev. John,[5] Rev. John,[4] Rev. William,[3] D.D., William,[2] gent., William[1]), born in Medfield, Aug. 20, 1691, was taken to Braintree in infancy by his parents. He was the first member of the family in six generations who did not acquire a liberal education and take a profession, becoming an ordinary yeoman, and never attaining even local prominence or distinction. In fact, it may be inferred from what few mentions are found of him that he was much inferior to his ancesters in character, attainments, and position in the community. In Mar., 1717, he was sued by his father-in-law, Capt. John Mills, for £18.10.0 expended by the latter to support Roger's wife and children, who had been deserted and neglected for over a year. His wife complained, "if my father had not supplied me, I and my children must have suffered, if not perished." (Suffolk Co. Court Files, No. 11591.) He resided in a house belonging to his wife's family, and gradually sold off his interest in the paternal farm; and on July 29, 1754, he sold to his son John and son-in-law Ebenezer Field his share in the estate of his sister Alice Belcher, which is the last mention found of him, and no probate record of any estate appears. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. lxxxvii, fol. 112.)

He married, about 1714, Hannah,[4] born Feb. 2, 1688–9, daughter of Capt. John[3] and Hannah Mills of Braintree. Capt. Mills was an enterprising, wealthy, and influential man, and for many years took a leading part in the affairs of the town of Braintree, which he represented in the General Court in 1709, '10, '12, '16, '18, '21.

Children:

i. Susanna,[8] b. Apr. 27, 1715; bapt. and admitted to the church, Feb. 11, 1727–8; d. unmarried, Mar. 22, 1748–9, aged 34. (Braintree Church records.)

ii. Mary, b. Jan. 12, 1716–17; bapt. and admitted to the church, Aug. 25, 1734; living in May, 1751, according to the will of her aunt Alice (Wilson) Belcher (see supra); no further record.

iii. Hannah, b. in 1719; bapt. and admitted to the church, Mar. 21, 1741–2; m. June 25, 1744, Ebenezer, Jr., b. Nov. 12, 1722, d. about 1799, son of Ebenezer and Abigail (Neal) Field of Braintree. She d. before 1765, leaving six children, and her husband married again and had one daughter.

iv. Abigail, b. in 1722; bapt. and admitted to the church, Mar. 6, 1747–8; no further record.

10. v. John, b. Feb. 15, 1723–4.

vi. William, b. Dec. 12, 1726; bapt. and admitted to church, Mar. 6, 1747–8; his wife (name not given) joining at same time; elected hog-reive of Braintree, Mar. 5, 1759. On Apr. 11, 1759, William Wilson of Braintree, aged 32, enlisted in Col. Benj. Lincoln's regt. for the expedition against Canada, having served in the campaign of 1755. (Mass. Archives, Muster Rolls, vol. xcvii, p. 126.) William Wilson of Braintree served as corporal in Capt. John Martin's company from Feb. 26 to Dec. 5, 1760 in the Crown Point expedition, and 150 miles travel home allowed on pay account. (Mass. Archives, Muster Rolls, vol. xcviii, p. 294.) This is the last record found of him, and it is supposed that he removed from Braintree, and that his descendants are extinct. It is likely that he was the William Wilson whose marriage intention with Elizabeth "Speer" was recorded in Boston, Oct. 1, 1747. She was probably the Elizabeth Spear, b. in Braintree, Jan. 4, 1728, dau. of Nathaniel and Thankful (Woodward) Spear. Children: 1. Elizabeth,[9] bapt. Sept. 18, 1748. 2. Susanna, bapt. Apr. 10, 1757. No further trace of these children has been found.

8. Roger^{7} Wilson (Dr. John,^{6} Rev. John,^{5} Rev. John,^{4} Rev. William,^{3} D.D., William,^{2} gent., William^{1}), born in Medfield, Aug. 20, 1691, was taken to Braintree in infancy by his parents. He was the first member of the family in six generations who did not acquire a liberal education and take a profession, becoming an ordinary yeoman, and never attaining even local prominence or distinction. In fact, it may be inferred from what few mentions are found of him that he was much inferior to his ancesters in character, attainments, and position in the community. In Mar., 1717, he was sued by his father-in-law, Capt. John Mills, for £18.10.0 expended by the latter to support Roger's wife and children, who had been deserted and neglected for over a year. His wife complained, "if my father had not supplied me, I and my children must have suffered, if not perished." (Suffolk Co. Court Files, No. 11591.) He resided in a house belonging to his wife's family, and gradually sold off his interest in the paternal farm; and on July 29, 1754, he sold to his son John and son-in-law Ebenezer Field his share in the estate of his sister Alice Belcher, which is the last mention found of him, and no probate record of any estate appears. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. lxxxvii, fol. 112.)

He married, about 1714, Hannah,^{4} born Feb. 2, 1688-9, daughter of Capt. John^{3} and Hannah Mills of Braintree. Capt. Mills was an enterprising, wealthy, and influential man, and for many years took a leading part in the affairs of the town of Braintree, which he represented in the General Court in 1709, '10, '12, '16, '18, '21.

Children:

i. Susanna,^{8} b. Apr. 27, 1715; bapt. and admitted to the church, Feb. 11, 1727-8; d. unmarried, Mar. 22, 1748-9, aged 34. (Braintree Church records.)

ii. Mary, b. Jan. 12, 1716-17; bapt. and admitted to the church, Aug. 25, 1734; living in May, 1751, according to the will of her aunt Alice (Wilson) Belcher (see supra); no further record.

iii. Hannah, b. in 1719; bapt. and admitted to the church, Mar. 21, 1741-2; m. June 25, 1744, Ebenezer, Jr., b. Nov. 12, 1722, d. about 1799, son of Ebenezer and Abigail (Neal) Field of Braintree. She d. before 1765, leaving six children, and her husband married again and had one daughter.

iv. Abigail, b. in 1722; bapt. and admitted to the church, Mar. 6, 1747-8; no further record.

10. v. John, b. Feb. 15, 1723-4.

vi. William, b. Dec. 12, 1726; bapt. and admitted to church, Mar. 6, 1747-8; his wife (name not given) joining at same time; elected hog-reive of Braintree, Mar. 5, 1759. On Apr. 11, 1759, William Wilson of Braintree, aged 32, enlisted in Col. Benj. Lincoln's regt. for the expedition against Canada, having served in the campaign of 1755. (Mass. Archives, Muster Rolls, vol. xcvii, p. 126.) William Wilson of Braintree served as corporal in Capt. John Martin's company from Feb. 28 to Dec. 5, 1760 in the Crown Point expedition, and 150 miles travel home allowed on pay account. (Mass. Archives, Muster Rolls, vol. xcviii, p. 294.) This is the last record found of him, and it is supposed that he removed from Braintree, and that his descendants are extinct. It is likely that he was the William Wilson whose marriage intention with Elizabeth "Speer" was recorded in Boston, Oct. 1, 1747. She was probably the Elizabeth Spear, b. in Braintree, Jan. 4, 1728, dau. of Nathaniel and Thankful (Woodward) Spear. Children: 1. Elizabeth,^{9} bapt. Sept. 18, 1748. 2. Susanna, bapt. Apr. 10, 1757. No further trace of these children has been found.

A Greek Catholic church and parsonage were built in the upper end of the town in 1902. Its material is fire brick and the cost was about $5,000. Revs. Emil Leregally Biscaha and Alexander Dudinsky each represents a pastorate of two years. Basil A. Volasin is the present pastor, with a membership of 110.

In 1893, Rev. H. L. Grabau, rector of St. Paul's Church, Steubenville, started a mission in Toronto under the name of St. Jude's. Services were held in a hall and at a subsequent visitation of the bishop fourteen were confirmed. Rev. C. P. Cogswell had charge for a while, and after his departure lay reading was maintained for some months, when the mission was discontinued. A small legacy has since been left for the benefit of the mission should it be revived, of which there has been some talk.

The fraternal organizations are well represented in Toronto, including the Junior American Mechanics, organized August 26, 1888, 175 members; Ancient Order of Hibernians, March 10, 1904, 125 members; Eagles, December 19, 1906, 85 members; Red Men, March 27, 1908, 75 members. The Lodge No. 583, F. & A. M., was organized in 1900, and has 135 members. James McFarland was the first W. M. The I. O. O. F. also have a good organization, and at one time had a large building, with hall, which has since passed into private hands. G. W. Shuster Post, No. 239, represents the G. A. R. and there is a lodge of Jr. U. A. M. At one time there was a Protected Home Circle, No. 129.

The first bank organized in Toronto was the Toronto Banking Company, in 1889, Jefferson Saltsman, president; John Logan, vice president, and J. M. McClave, cashier; capital $25,000. They went out of business in 1893. Their home was in the I. O. O. F. building. The Citizen's Bank purchased this property in September, 1896, and continued in business until February, 1902, when it was purchased by the Bank of Toronto. The Bank of Toronto was started in 1894 by L. H. Hilsinger and others and was changed into the National Bank of Toronto in August, 1907, with L. H. Hilsinger, president; Guy Johnston, vice president, and J. C. Hilsinger, cashier, with a capital of $50,000. Its last published statement, September 1, 1909, showed resources of $321,321.02, and aggregate deposits of $218,735.59. The First National Bank of Toronto was organized in the spring of 1907, with a capital of $50,000, with W. B. Stratton, president; W. B. Goucher, vice president, and T. J. Collins, cashier. Its last statement showed resources of $215,885.80, and aggregate deposits $110,106.28. Both banks do a large business, and have the full confidence of the community. During the nineties there was a Home Building and Loan Company, with a permissible capital of $300,000, but its business was wound up and absorbed by a company in another city.

ISLAND CREEK TOWNSHIP.

Island Creek Township, which was separated from Steubenville on June 4, 1806, and joins the latter on the north, contains thirty-six sections of Township 7, Range 2, and four full and seven fractional sections of Township 3, Range 1, of the original seven ranges. Its name is taken from Island Creek, which cuts through the middle of the township from west to east, emptying into the Ohio at Costonia, opposite Brown's Island. Wills Creek drains the township on the south, and the river front is rugged and hilly, developing westward into an excellent farming country. Wheat, corn, oats and fruit of all kinds, and sheep and cattle are the principal products. White oak, sugar maple, walnut, locust, beech and other woods were once plentiful, but the portable sawmill has made sad havoc among the groves in the last twenty years. Among the early settlers were Isaac and James Shane, Andrew Ault, Daniel Viers, Nathan Palmer, Michael Castner, William Jackman, Jacob Cable, Richard Lee, James Ball, William Jackson, John House, Daniel Arnold, John Simpson, Richard Brisbane, James Patterson, Charles Armstrong, Adam Hout, John Moore, Charles Porter, Thomas Fleming, Andrew Huston, Joseph Howells, James Crawford, Abel Crawford (the latter owning the Red Mill, near Mt. Tabor, early in the century), John Rhinehart, Moses Arnold, John Frederick, George Watson, Samuel Hanna, James Ekey, Rutherford McClelland. The fathers of Judge William Day and Judge Phillips of Iowa, the father of the late Judge William Lawrence of Ohio, and father of Hon. Joseph Fowler, ex-United States senator of Tennessee, were early settlers of this township. Joseph Howells was the grandfather of William Dean Howells. Philip Cable, who was a judge of the Territorial Court as early as 1798, and afterwards a justice of the peace, was somewhat eccentric, but nevertheless a very popular man, so popular in fact that he officiated at most of the marriages. He had such an extensive practice along this line of his profession that he adopted a short service so that waiting couples would not be delayed by much ceremony. The service usually ended with the words: "Give me a dollar, kiss your bride, and go about your business." Having no one present on one occasion he called in his wife and colored servant, saying, "In the presence of my wife, Dolly, and Black Harry, I pronounce you man and wife—give me my dollar." Mr. Cable settled below the mouth of Island Creek in 1785, where Ephraim Cable was born the same year, and at one time was claimed to be the first white child born in the county, but we have seen that Absalom Ross, of Mingo, has the prior claim, in addition to another noted later. Cable, Sr., built a blockhouse, where he lived, and reared the elder children of a family of twelve. His name has been perpetuated by a bend and eddy in the Ohio River, at the foot of Brown's Island. Ephraim Cable was a soldier in the War of 1812. His wife was Sarah Clemens, who bore him fourteen children. Michael Castner, grandfather of Thomas P. Spencer, Esq., who built a mill at the head of Wills Creek at the beginning of the century, was on the site of Steubenville while it was a wilderness—before the place was considered as a town-site. He owned a store on the Monongahela River and one in Kentucky, riding on horseback from one to the other, and going through this region, he frequently stopped on the site of Steubenville. He bought a thousand acres of land in what is now Island Creek Township, and he was one of the pioneer merchants of Steubenville. He built the large brick dwelling near Two Ridge Church, now occupied by Dr. John Kilgore, and his remains are interred in the graveyard nearby.

The first election for township officers was held at the residence of Daniel Viers, but there is no record of the same. Flour and saw mills were numerous in early days, of which an account is already given.

Ephraim Cooper and William Campbell built the first cabin on the line now the state road between Wills Creek and Yellow Creek, in 1795. Andrew Ault came to this township in 1797 from Pennsylvania. He was the son of a privateer during the Revolution, who was captured while bringing prizes into the port of Philadelphia, he not knowing the British were in control, and was sent to England as a prisoner. He escaped and returned to America, building near Redstone the first linseed-oil mill in the West. Descendants still own the land in this township upon which Andrew settled. Andrew Huston, of the blood of Gen. Sam Houston, of Texas fame, came from the Cumberland Valley in 1809, locating at the mouth of Wills Creek, the house being on the site of the present Steubenville water works. He afterward removed to the central part of the township, where was born John Andrew Huston, father of Sam Huston, the late county engineer, the homestead still standing. Sam Huston had in following summer a new house of worship was erected, which about twenty years after was considerably enlarged and improved. After an interval of two years Rev. David R. Campbell became pastor, and Philip W. Coe and John Huston elected elders. On March 19, 1856 William Plummer and James G. Allen were elected. Mr. Campbell retired in October, 1861, and after a vacancy of a year and a half Rev. George Fraser was installed, in the summer of 1836. Thomas Hunt, John Rex, George D. Rex and T. P. Ross were installed as elders on April 24, 1864, and on November 19, 1865, Robert Stark, Richard Wright and Samuel Kirk were elected deacons. Rev. J. B. Dickey succeeded Mr. Fraser in 1867 and on December 19 Robert Stark and Richard Wright became elders. During this period twelve feet were added to the building. Mr. Dickey, after three years' service, was succeeded by Rev. J. M. Lawbaugh, who remained but eight months. On September 3, 1871, John Leech and Thomas Robertson became deacons, and in April, 1873, Rev. Israel Price became pastor for two-thirds of his time. On February 7, 1874, William Stark and John Leech became elders and Samuel Huston, Simon B. Warren and William Gilkinson deacons, later Darwin Rex. A women's foreign missionary society was organized in 1874. Mr. Price retired in the fall of 1877, and the church was without a pastor until January 9, 1879, when he was succeeded by J. C. McCracken. His successors were W. A. Williams and Rev. Mr. Clark. The place is now vacant.

Pleasant Hill congregation, in Section 9, was organized on March 27, 1866, with twenty-four members. John Morrison, John M. Robertson and Beatty McFarland were elected trustees; John C. Robertson, treasurer, and Thomas Sanders, secretary. A good brick church was erected in 1876, Hiram Cope, the contractor, and Thomas Frith, of Steubenville, doing the stone work. The pastors have been the following: R. H. Van Pelt, beginning in 1868; J. F. Boyd, in 1870; Robert Herron, in 1876; J. C. McCracken, in 1878; S. C. Faris, in 1885; J. P. Leyenberger, in 1893; T. W. Hine, 1904. Mr. Sanders is still clerk. The present ruling elders are C. R. Shane, D. S. Carr; deacons, Thomas Sanders, John M. Robertson; members, forty-three.

Rev. James B. Finley began preaching in the neighborhood of what is now Mount Tabor in 1814, and organized an M. E. class at the home of Adam Jackman, composed of Richard Coulter and wife, Adam Jackman, Mary Jackman, Margaret Jackman, Jane Patterson, Isabel Whittaker, George Alban, Garrett Albertson, —— Stuckland, William Nugent, Richard Jackman, Jane Jackman, Jane Armstrong, John Crawford, James Crawford, Martin Swickard, Margaret Swickard, Jacob Vail and others. Swickard was with the Crawford expedition and died at the age of ninety-six. Richard Coulter was leader and preaching was continued at Jackman's house for twelve years. A brick building was then erected and occupied for thirty years. In 1856 a neat frame structure was erected, which is still occupied. Except during a brief interval, this charge has been supplied from Richmond, the present pastor being W. A. Kinney.

The next M. E. congregation, known as the Island Creek, was organized by Rev. James M. Bray in 1837. The class included John Bray and wife, William Taylor and wife, —— Fleming and wife, John Fleming and wife, William Fleming and wife, John Dobbs and wife, Mrs. John Nixon and daughter, and two others, making sixteen in all, which number was increased to thirty-eight before the year was out. A church 30x40 feet was erected during the summer of 1838, and dedicated by Rev. P. K. McKue. It was made a part of Richmond circuit and John Bray was the first class leader.

Center M. E. Chapel and cemetery adjoin the Winters farm in Section 16. Rev. J. Williams and Dr. Hare were the first preachers here, and formed a class in 1847. It included Alexander Glenn and wife, Thomas Glenn, Charlotte Morrow, Richard near Richmond, in Salem Township.

Outside of Toronto extension, Alikanna and Pekin are the only hamlets in Island Creek Township, it being especially a farming community. At the former place is located the pumping station of the Steubenville water works, and adjoining is Stanton Park, a popular amusement resort. About a mile above is the Country Club, overlooking Brown's Island and the famous King farm. There is quite a settlement at Alikana extending up Wills Creek. A small hamlet named Millvale was platted by Joseph Beatty in 1873, but this has become a part of Stanton Park.

SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES.

The first intimation we have of schools in the township is the statement that the first religious services were held in schoolhouses as well as in the woods and private houses. Mt. Tabor school was held in a log house, first built for a dwelling in 1812, the first teacher being William Jackman. Marks of the foundation are still visible. In 1814 a log structure was erected in the Mt. Tabor district. Destroyed by incendiary fire four years later, a brick house his possession an iron tomahawk found in Wills Creek and an iron Indian axe found was erected, in which school was taught during the earlier days by Lancelot Hearn, John Hawhey, John Beebout, George Armstrong, James Mitchelltree. The late Judge William Lawrence, who was born in Smithfield Township, attended this school. There are now twelve schools in the township outside of Toronto, located on or adjacent to the following farms: Moreland, in Section 33; Johnson (Island Creek), Section 35; Grafton, Range 2, Section1; Ford, 9; Morrina, 16; Smith, 18; Porter, 19; Taylor, 20; Kilgore, 27; Mt. Tabor, 30; Welday, 32 and 33.

The first religious organization in the township seems to have been what is known as the Island Creek Presbyterian Church, organized by Rev. James Snodgrass, of Steubenville, who was installed pastor on November 24, 1800. Preaching was held at Pittenger's, near Bowling Green, Carr's Ridge and on the present site of the church, a large tent being used in summer. The first church edifice was built of round logs in 1802 on land donated by Ephraim Cooper. This was displaced by a hewn log house in 1810, which lasted until 1825, when it burned down. That year Mr. Snodgrass resigned and was succeeded by John C. Sidball, who served until 1835. During his administration a brick church was built, which was occupied until 1856, when it was partially destroyed by a storm. A larger and better building took its place in 1858, which still stands. Rev. Thomas F. Magill was pastor from 1835 to 1840; John K. Cunningham, 1841-53; Samuel Forbes, 1876-79; Rev. M. A. Parkinson, 1880.

The next organization formed by Mr. Snodgrass was the Two Ridge Presbyterian Church, on the Steubenville and Richmond Pike, about nine miles west of the former place. The congregation was formed about 1802 or 1803, the people meeting in various places until 1810, when the first place of worship was erected. Mr. Snodgrass was succeeded by Rev. William McMillan, who continued pastor of this and Yellow Creek Church, afterwards Bacon Ridge, for six years. The first session was composed of James Cellars and James Bailey, to whom Samuel Thompson, Andrew Anderson, George Day and Thomas Elliott were added. A new house of worship was erected in 1816, and afterwards on May 21, 1819, Rev. Thomas Hunt became pastor of this and Yellow Creek Churches, which arrangement continued until 1828, when he devoted his entire time to Two Ridges and remained until October 4, 1836. During this time James Torrance, Benjamin Coe, Henry Shane, William Winters, James Milligan and David Gladden became elders. Rev. Joseph Kerr succeeded Mr. Hunt, and he by Rev. William Eaton on October 21, 1844. John Leech, John McGregor and David Johnston were elected elders during this time. Mr. Eaton retired in April, 1853, and the

My wife is related to the Jane Jackman you mention, so here is some info about her and her husband from my wife's cousin:

"Jane Jackman,was the daughter of our Rev. War ancestor John amd Margaret (McGuire)Jackman, and Jane married a Richard Jackman who was born in Ireland in 1777 and emigrated with his parents to America in 1789 (after the American Revolution was over) and settled in Washington County, Penn., remaining there until moving Westward to Island Creek Twp., Jefferson Co., Ohio, in 1798, whence, shortly afterward he must have met Jane Jackman of the adjoining county, and married her. So the Irish-stemmed Jackmans are only related by marriage through Jane Jackman. How John Jackman of Ireland fits in with those of Richard Jackman of Ireland and his family that emigrated to the American colonies after the War was over, I do not know. "

"In addition, Richard Jackman of Ireland reputedly married a Margaret Morton, where our Jane Jackman married a Richard Jackman, also from Ireland.

I believe there is error when I said that John Jackman was a Revolutionary War soldier and served in Washington Co., Penn. I believe that must have been another John Jackman of the Pennsylvania line (A Pvt.) and no kin to my line (that I know of).

Argument: Why would John Jackman travel to Washington Co., Penn., to join/or serve in the Continental army? He was from Virginia, not Penn. Furthermore, our Jackman family stories have it that John Jackman was a Colonel (in the VA militia). I've also heard that he was on Gen. Geo. Washingtons staff.
Here is a quote from my Jackman source:
"I am aware that there was another branch of Jackmans (not ours) that came through Pennsylvania. I could well have gotten the wrong John J. serving in Washington Co., Penn. For example, Jane Jackman (born in Va.), a daughter of our Revolutionary soldier John Jackman, married a Richard Jackman (b. in Ireland in 1777 and emigrated to Washington County, Penn. in 1789, and moved to Jefferson Co., Ohio, in 1798, where he undoubtedly met our Jane Jackman and married her. Richard Jackman's family may well have moved to Washington County, Penn., because his parents had Jackman relatives already in that area of the Pennsylvania colony.) Hence, the John Jackman that "served as a private in the Continental army in Washington County, Penn., may be from that Irish branch and not our John Jackman from our English branch."

You are dealing with the line of Richard Jackman Sr. & Margaret Jackman who came to Washington Co. PA in 1789 from Ireland with 8 children--Thomas b. 1770 (wife Margaret Gregg), Susannah b. 1773 (husband Charles Armstrong), William (wife Margaret Jackman), Richard Jackman Jr. (wife Jane Jackman dau of John b. 1745 & Margaret Morton), Adam b. 1782 (wife Mary Hales), Margaret 1781 (husband James Patterson & William Elliott, George b. 1782 (wife Margaret Jackman dau of William Jackman & Elizabeth Conley, Robert b.1782 (wife Phebe Vail). This is the first time I have seen the letter K. for middle name of Adam. The line I am more interested in is that of John and Margaret Morton Jackman mentioned above, as a letter went to them in Steubenville from John and Mary Reynolds in 1804 fromn Kent Co. Ontario where our Jackmans lived. Do you have any history of a Jackman going into what is now Ontario and declaring himself a Loyalist?
The William and John Jackman whose daughters md. sons of Richard Jackman Sr. in your line are of the group of brothers who were in Washington Co. PA earlier than your family and some or all had been in VA and MD before PA. Do you have any history on the earlier Jackmans? Because of mistakes in County histories and people confusing these different Jackmans, it is getting harder and harder to keep the lines straight. Nina

Hi Lynn,
Have you deceided not to e-mail information On Richard Sr and GGGGrandfather Adam? If you don't want to send all. Would you please send what you have on Richard Sr. family only and note your source of information.
I would be happy to scann the deeds of the Jackmans that I have for you. Have a deed date Nov. 23, 1819 Jefferson Co. where Richard and wife Margaret sign. This at least says he was alive as of 1819. Seems most of the information isn't sure when he died.

Dear Ms. Gish-
I am a direct descendant of John Jackman, b. 1745 in Richmond area of Va.. I find in my family records that John's daughter, Jane Jackman, married a Richard Jackman in 1803. Said Richard Jackman was born in Ireland in 1777. He, with his parents, emigrated to America in 1789 and settled in Washington County, Pennsylvania, remaining there until 1798, whence they moved on to Jefferson County, Ohio.

Jane Jackman (above) was born in Virginia (probably in the area of Parkersburg, Va. where her parents had settled. Her parents (John and wife) moved to Carroll County, Ohio, later in life settling near Harlem Springs.
(They had an interim move to Wheeling, Va. about 1804). Harlem Springs is just a few miles from the Jefferson Co. line. Jane Jackman possibly met Richard Jackman in the local area.

Richard and Jane Jackman , according to my records, had five (5) children, as follows: Samuel, Joseph, Margaret, Susan, and Jane.
These names do not fully comport with the names of Richard's children that you have given.

I know nothing of thechildrens' marriages and their off-spring, except for the oldest son, Samuel. This Samuel appears to have married a first Cousin Jackman by the name of Margaret, daughter of Adam Jackman (b.1753 in Va.) and Mary Miller Jackman. Adam Jackman was a brother to Jane Jackman (above)

Many of these Ohio Jackmans (of my direct line moved on to northeatern Indiana (de Kalb Steuben Counties), and then on to Missouri, Oklahoma-Kansas border.

All this may cause more questions about Richard Jackman. I may have muddied the water for you, but hope not.

I'd be interested in knowing what part of the history I have related regarding Richard and Jane Jackman's marriage you find compatible with your information.

Please come back on email.

Hello,
I am looking for information on Richard Jackman Sr. Washington Co. Pa
Who came to Jefferson Co.Ohio (Island Creek)in 1801 and bought land with Charles Armstrong and James Patterson Heirs.
He along with Henry, Robert, George and Charles Armstrong applied for Naturailization in Sept. term 1802. Richard sons,Thomas, Richard Jr. Adam, Robert, George and William and two daughters Jane who married James Patterson. I would like to know the 2nd daughter. I believe it was Susannah who married my Charles Armstrong.
I have tried to e-mail a Nina Jackman but can not make connections to her at her e-mail address.
Any help on these Jefferson Co. Jackmans would be appreicated.

Haven't been on the board in awhile but I just saw your query. Your Richard who married Jane Jackman was a brother of my Adam who married Mary Hale. Our Adam born 1782 d 1854 m 1803 in Jeff Co. Oh. They had nine children. We haven't been able to get back further than Richard and Margaret in Washington Co. Pa, but have been able to go forward. Willing to share info.

Ms. Hollabaugh
Thanks for your email of 01/03/01.
I was aware of Saloman Jackman's emigration and arrival in 1623 to the Tidewater area of the Virginia Colony some decades ago.

I know nothing more of him and don't know where he fits into the early Jackmans of Virginia.

I believe I have a great deal more information on the Jackmans of early Virginia than you do. Richard Jackman that you wrote of was born in Ireland in 1777 and emigrated with his parents to Wasshington Co., Pennsylvania, in 1789, remaining there until 1798 whence they moved to Jefferson Co., Ohio. Richard married my GGG aunt, Jane Jackman (she was already a born Jackman).She was a sister of my GGGfather Edward. So, the Richard Jackman line from Ireland is no close or direct kin to the Virginia Jackmans, at least those before Richard married Jane Jackman in 1803. Jane Jackman was born in Virginia.

Good Hunting !

Dr.Robert Lee Jackman Aston

When she was six years of age the family moved to Otsego Township, Steuben county where she grew to womanhood. This union was blessed with four children, Ester

Ellen and Arilla Arco, and two sons, George Washington and Robert Lee. Ester Ellen and George Washington preceded her in their departure to the realms beyond. In December 1906 she confessed her faith in her Savior and was buried with Him in Christian baptism on the same day at the Church of Christ in Hamilton, where she remained a faithful member until she received her call to be with Him. She leaves to mourn her passing, her husband, one daughter, Arilla Carey, of Richland Township, one son, Robert, at home, 12 grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Ella Hanselman, of Pleasant Lake, Ind., one brother, Arthur Struble, of near Angola, and a host of other relatives and friends. They remained at the old home until June 4, 1935, at which time they moved to Alvarado. To say she was a good woman does not express the qualities of her character. She was a kind, generous, loyal and loving wife and mother, always displaying her Christian qualities in providing for her children and her friends and those in need, thinking for of the welfare of others than of her own. She was loved by all who knew her and was regarded as an ideal neighbor and friend. Funeral services were held at Alvarado, Ind., Nov. 27, 1935. Rev. "Sarah Leusina (misspelling) Struble, daughter of Richard and Regretta Struble, was born in Hillsdale County, Michigan June 23, 1875, and departed this life at her home at her home at Alvarado, Ind., November 25, 1935, at the age of 60 years, 5 months, and 2 days. She and her husband resided at the old home farm at the south end of Richland Township where she reared her family and cared for his father and mother until the time of their departure. They remained at the old home until June 4, 1935, at which time they moved to Alvarado. To say she was a good woman does not express the qualities of her character. She was a kind, generous, loyal and loving wife and mother, always displaying her Christian qualities in providing for her children and her friends and those in need, thinking for of the welfare of others than of her own. She was loved by all who knew her and was regarded as an ideal neighbor and friend. Funeral services were held at Alvarado, Ind., Nov. 27, 1935. Rev. Notes for George Washington Van Zile:
George spent his boyhood at the farm home of his parents in Richland Township, Steuben County, Indiana. He was united in marriage to Lena Irene Van Pelt on June 21, 1919. He was a farmer and at one time was employed by his wife's uncle Earl Hanselman in Pleasant Lake, Indiana, at a cream station, egg, and poultry, business. After farming at several locations in the Steuben County area and near Edon, Ohio, they moved to the farm of her father near Metz, Indiana, on March 1, 1934. This enabled the Van Pelts to move to Metz, Indiana and retire from farming with the agreement they would share in the profits from the farming by George. On March 6, 1935, George was severely injured in an automobile accident on Highway 20 several miles east of Angola. He suffered several broken ribs, a punctured lung, and died of pneumonia 16 days later on March 22, 1935. He is buried in the Powers Cemetery. His wife and children continued to farm with the help of her father. George was widely known as a reliable friend, an accommodating neighbor, a conscientious husband, and an affectionate father. He was a man of unaffected simplicity. He belonged to the Modern Woodmen Lodge of Pleasant Lake, Indiana, and was a member of the Church of Christ at Edon, Ohio.

He married Noradell Mae Rowlison November 9, 1940 in Angola, Steuben County, Indiana; born January 9, 1925 in Stroh, Lagrange County, Indiana; died July 6, 1985 in Kissimmee Memorial Hospital, Kissimmee, Florida.

Notes for Edsel Warren Van Zile:
Edsel farmed and also worked on a road crew paving State Road 20 (pictures show him working on the road). In the 1940's he started working in a foundry. He enjoyed traveling and visited most of the United States. He also traveled the Alcan Highway to Alaska to visit his daughter Katherine Baxter in 1965. In 1976 he and Noradell visited Katherine and family in Germany and toured Europe. Edsel was a very talented auto mechanic and carpenter. He added an addition onto their home on Latta Lake, Rome City, Indiana, completing the concrete block and major work by himself. He was also a very avid and accomplished mushroom hunter and traveled to Michigan each spring, usually with Noradell or his brothers, around Mothers Day. He rarely came back empty handed. He was later employed at the Newnam Foundry in Kendallville, Indiana, serving as a general line foreman from 1958 to 1964 when he was promoted to general foreman second shift. In January of 1968 he was promoted to general foreman first shift, the position he retained until his retirement. The following article appeared in the local Kendallville, Indiana on January 22, 1968 concerning his promotion "Four Newnam Foundry employees were promoted Monday, according to an announcement made by John Milnor, president of the company. Roland Shanline has assumed the duties of assistant plant superintendent, a newly created job, and will be directly responsible for all manufacturing operation, pattern shop and trucking division. Shanline, who lives with his wife, Marguerita, on the Drake Rd., started at the foundry as a molder in 1929; served as foreman of the molding department from 1951 until 1964; then as foundry superintendent from that time until now. Replacing Shanline as foundry superintendent is Don Christianson who will oversee operation expansion in the melting department. Christianson, his wife and son reside at 211 Center Ave. He came to Newnam's in September of 1967 as a metallurgist. The position of general foreman first shift, another newly created job, will he filled by Edsel Van Zile, Latta Lake resident, who has worked at the local foundry since 1954, having started as chief inspector. He served as general line foreman from 1958 to 1964 when he was promoted to general foreman second shift. Van Zile is the father of five children and the proud grandfather of seven. Assuming the duties of general line foreman second shift, vacated by Van Zile, will he Amos Sutton, South Milford. Married and the father of three children, Sutton began his employment with Newnam Foundry in 1950 as a laborer; then transferred to the molding department in 1952. In 1964 he was promoted to foreman of the molding department." Edsel was diagnosed with cancer of the lungs on September 22, 1979. He died at 6:00 PM on August 8, 1980. His daughter Toni was with him when he passed away.

Notes for Noradell Mae Rowlison: Noradell was named after Nora Dell Bowers, an aunt that lived in Michigan (Rowlison ancestor). Noradell attended school in Brushy Prairie, Lagrange County, Indiana. After marrying she worked as a meat cutter in the Kroger store in Kendallville, Indiana. She was an excellent cook and raised five daughters. She moved to Florida in 1982 after the death of her husband Edsel. She worked in several gifts shops on Highway 192 near Walt Disney World and Kissimmee. She died at 2:35 PM in Kissimmee Memorial Hospital, Kissimmee, Florida. Daughter Toni and grand daughters Sandy and Suzie Baxter were with her when she passed away. Pall bearers were Mike and Jerry Van Zile, Gregg Repp, Amos Sutton, Ray Barker, and Dale Caywood. The last three were men that worked with Edsel at the foundry. Per her wish she was buried in a red "nightie". The following history was written by Noradell in January of 1979 and sent to Sandy Baxter at Hahn Air Base, Germany for a school assignment. "All were born at home of our grandparents. Us and your mother (Katherine). The rest were born in hospital. Grandpa is Supt. of Production in a grey iron foundry. Grandma is a meat clerk. Has been for 22 years. Starting pay in 1956 was 98 cents per hour. Worked 13 hour days. Grandpa started in the foundry in 1941as a laborer at 44 cents per hour. Grandpa Rowlison's first car was a Model T in the early 30's. First car I can remember was a Model A Ford in about 1937 (rode in). Grandpa Van Zile's first car ford Model T touring car about a 1927 or 28. (The cars had to cranked by hand). When we went anywhere in summer as children it was on foot with Mom pushing the little ones in a baby carriage or on a steel rim (wheels) hay rack wagon. The first radio I can remember was in the late 30's. My grandparents had a victrola (record player) which you cranked by hand. Our first electric record player was purchased in about 1951 (we still have that). First TV we watched was the neighbors in 1949. We bought a good used set in 1952 for $75 this included the antenna which went on top of the house. We washed on a wash board rang the clothes by hand cranked wringer. (There is a drawing here showing two tubs on a stand with caption, 'Wash tub stand with wringer and tubs about 1942'). Before that we sat the tub on a stool on a stool, rang the clothes by hand. First washer we bought was in 1943 for $59 new. At this time Grandpa was making about $24 a week. Grandma Rowlison got her first washing machine in 1933 when her 11th baby was born. It had a gasoline engine to run it. Until then she had washed for all of us by hand. You also had to pump your water, carry it to the house in buckets or pails, heat it on the coal burning cook stove in a metal tub. When the water was hot you dipped it over into the tub you washed the clothes in. You had a second tub to rinse the clothes in. The men had to cut wood for the cook stove and the pot bellied heating stove which stood in the living room. The stove had a metal pipe that went to the chimney. In the summer of 1941 we had an oil stove to cook on in summer. That way the kitchen wasn't so hot. We were married in Nov. 1940 stayed with Grandma Van Zile till Feb. Then we went to work as hired hands on a farm. Grandpa got $1 per day 7 days a week. I helped in the house cleaning, cooking, canning, and laundry for my dinner and supper. Our first car was a 1930 Chev. bought in 1940 for $25 dollars. Our first home had 13 rooms. We had enough furniture to partially fill 3 rooms. The rooms we used were in the middle of the house where we get less draft and was easier to heat. We bought a table, 6 chairs and a buffet (a cupboard type thing) for $20 like $2 down and $2 per mo. There was nothing like paper plates. If company came you ate in shifts and washed dishes in between shifts. The little ones ate out of a metal pie and cake pans. Everything was home canned or home made. We churned our own butter. Noodles we made. Macaroni and rice you bought. Kerosene for the stove and lamp was about 9 cents a gallon 9 cents a lb. for weiners or bologna 9 cents a loaf for bread. You bought what few groceries you needed for a week or more at a time. Coal at this time was $7 a ton today it is $80. Grandpa went to work at the cement plant in 1941 firing a boiler on a dredge boat that set in the water to dig the murrel that they made cement out of for $55 every two weeks. We bought our first house in late 1942. It had 2 bedrooms upstairs (all bedrooms used to be unheated unless the stove pipe went through your room) living room, dining room, kitchen and back kitchen. Really nice for then as the pump was out there. You also could do the laundry out there instead of in the kitchen. You also had water all over the floor and had to mop when you got done with the laundry. The house cost $365 and it had a nice garden lot. No down payment. $10 a month and no interest. In 1944 we bought my fathers farm equipment went on a rented farm. You did the farming, gave the landlord half. Grandpa drove 80 miles a day to still work in the foundry. Grandpa took his physical but didn't do military duty. The landlord and foundry owner both got him a deferment. They had to go before the draft board along with grandpa and prove that he was doing a satisfactory job for both. In 1945 we had to sell our house to pay a farm loan payment. We left the farm in early 1946. When we sold out we went $68 in the hole as this was when the average farmer was going from horse drawn equipment to tractors. In the early 40's you had to get special permits to buy tires so you carried two spare rims instead of spare tires. If you had a flat tire you came home on the rim. Also at this time you had ration stamps to buy coffee, sugar and meat. These were in the form of ration books issued by the government 1 per person. They were also used for gasoline. We still have ours also some tokens the merchants gave you as change if you didn't use the amount the stamp was issued for. We moved to Kendallville where your Mom started school. This was in 1946, there we had our first running water and first bathroom. Then we moved to Pleasant Lake the same year and went back to carrying water and the outhouse or privey. Grandpa dug a ditch 4 feet deep and laid a water line from the farm house so we could have running water again. This was in 1948. He did the work for no pay and the landlord paid for the material. At this time Grandma took the oldest girls with me to the field and hoed and weeded tomato field for $1.50 a day. My first movie in a theater was Christmas 1939. The theater owner let you in for nothing for Christmas. Grandpa first movie in the theater was in 1938. Dark Victory with Spencer Tracy and Bette Davis. You wore hand me down or home made clothes. 2 outfits your Mom washed every night. Hung the clothes behind the stove to dry in winter. Everything had to be ironed. The irons were heated on the stove. You took the lid off the cook stove and laid your bread on a wire rack to make toast. Our first electric toaster was in 1942 (Item of note, this toaster is in the possession of Katherine Van Zile Baxter). The sides dropped down and your turned your bread so the other side would brown. First automatic toaster I got in 1948. My first gas stove was in 1946. We had an ice box to keep our food in. If you lived in town you had an iceman. If not you had to go to town to get it. Milk came in glass bottles until about 1959 they started of putting it in cardboard carton. We used to have a milkman and breadman that came to the house even in the country. Our first Polaroid camera was in 1960 for $88. Then we got our first colored one in 1970 used for $35. Our first color TV we bought in 1965. We played hide and seek, tag, drop the handkerchief when I was a child. In winter you played checkers, dominoes or bingo, also rode on our sleds. The whole family shared the sled. Also all boys in the family shared one bedroom. Girls all shared one bedroom regardless of age. You didn't have toilet paper you used newspapers or outdated catalogs. You took your bath in the wash tub once a week behind the stove. We washed in a wash basin (small pan) during the week. We did dishes in a dishpan drained in another dishpan. pour water out of a kettle to rinse them. In July 1949 we bought the Latta Lake house for $5,000, $500 down the rest on contract at 4% interest. It was built new in 1946 and we were the first to live in it. Times were hard, we borrowed the down payment from Grandma Van Pelt. Contract payment $35 a month. Grandma's payment $10 per month. It was four rooms and bath-full basement. In 1961 to 1963 we built 4 more rooms on at a cost of about $3,800. It had a fuel oil space heater (stove) in the living room. In about 1953 we installed a fuel oil furnace. This being the first time we had a complete bath, furnace, running water in a house all at the same time. Selling price now, $39,900. When we borrowed money for this house (she is referring to their house on Cree Lake) it was at 9% interest. When I first started working in 1956, hamburger was 29 cents per pound, on sale days 4 pounds for $1. Now it is $1.09 per pound. Sale days 99 cents per pound. None of your great grand parents ever had running water or bathrooms. Soap powder came into being about 1939. We used to use bar soap. You shaved it with a knife in your washer and let it melt. In 1940 postcards were 1 cent each and stamps were 3 cents. We had our first checking account in 1949. If you sent a payment you sent money orders." (Note of interest, most of the early farm records/check books/etc, of Edsel and Noradell are in the possession of Katherine Van Zile Baxter).

31 iii. Evelyn Mae Van Zile, born May 5, 1925 in Pleasant Lake, Steuben County, Indiana. She married Richard Henry Gearhart September 22, 1944 in Metz Christian Church, Metz, Indiana; born September 6, 1922 in Edon, Williams County, Ohio.

Notes for Evelyn Mae Van Zile:
Evelyn attended school in Metz, Indiana, graduating from high school in 1943, where she was the senior class treasurer. At the age of 15 she started working in homes assisting in cleaning, cooking, laundry, and ironing. After graduation she began working at Cameron Hospital in Angola as a nurses aide. She worked there for a period of 14 months under Doctors Cameron, Eberhardt, and Creel. She roomed and boarded at the hospital, going home only on her day off. After marriage she moved to the east coast with her husband Richard while he was in the US Navy. During this period she was employed at different times by Kresge's Dime Store, an aluminum tube factory (painting tooth paste tubes), and a file clerk and teletype operator for an insurance company. Also during part of this time she roomed with her sister Mary Lou in Rhode Island for a short period of time. The following was penned by Evelyn in 1999. "My childhood memories include living on my grandparents farm, James Henry and Luella Powers, 3/4 miles north of Metz, Indiana, in Steuben County. We had no electricity, inside plumbing, or water in our home or buildings. The house was heated by a wood burning stove in the living room, which was closed off in the winter to conserve wood, and a large heating stove in the dining room with the stove pipe going up through the ceiling, through my sisters and my bedroom to the roof. We were privileged to sleep a little warmer than our brothers, except when the fire would go out in the middle of the night. We had a wood burning cook stove that had a tank attached, and as long as we carried water in and kept it filled we would have warm water. Mother kept both stoves going 24 hours per day. After our father died in March of 1935 we had a rough time, but we all worked together doing the farm chores and caring for three horses, hogs, sheep, cows, and chickens. Almost every Sunday we went to the woods and used a cross cut saw and axes cutting wood to replenish our supply. We hauled the wood on a huge sled called a 'Mud Boat', pulled by one of our horses to the wood shed attached to the back of the house. We all (older three children) had to milk our cows and do the feeding of the livestock every morning before walking almost a mile to school, no matter what the weather was like. After school we had more chores to do, and of course our school home work by lamp light. When we finally got electricity it was such a thrill to throw a switch on the wall and see light. We finally got a radio and an electric motor on our well pump, but never got inside plumbing as long as I was at home".

Notes for Richard Henry Gearhart:
Richard attended a small one room school near his home, and then graduated from Edon High School, Williams County, Ohio in 1940. He worked on the family farm and was drafted into the US Navy in December of 1943. He took basic training at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Chicago, Illinois, Torpedoman's School at Newport, Rhode Island, and Submarine School at New London, Connecticut. Due to an eye problem he was not assigned to a submarine, but was transferred to the Brooklyn Navy Yards, Pier 92, for sea duty. He never shipped out and and was discharged in December of 1945. After the war he continued in farming, entering into a partnership, until 1967 when the owner sold all three farms. Four acres of one farm was sold to Cities Service Oil Company which built a fertilizer and chemical plant, which he was hired to manage. He managed this facility until retirement in 1987. After retirement he purchased a small mobile home in Arcadia, Florida where he and Evelyn wintered.
